INTERVIEWS: The UNC Media Relations Office will establish an interview day at least one week ahead of schedule throughout the year. Player interviews will generally only be available on that day. Media should direct requests for specific players to Steve Kirschner, Director of Media Relations for Revenue Sports and Kevin Best, Assistant Media Relations Director. The interview period will generally be just before the daily team meeting. Please make specific player requests at least 48 hours in advance.

Head Coach Bill Guthridge will hold a weekly press conference in the Smith Center press room beginning in January. Guthridge may also conduct press conferences as warranted prior to the start of ACC play. Those press conferences will run approximately 30 minutes and may be accessed by out-of-town media via teleconference. Contact the Media Relations & Sports Information Office for the phone number and schedule. Call Steve Kirschner to arrange individual interviews with Coach Guthridge.

POSTGAME: Following games the Tar Heel locker room is open to the media for 20 minutes. At the Smith Center, players will be brought out into the front part of the locker room and the players' lounge. Assistant Media Relations Directors Kevin Best and Matt Bowers will be on hand to assist the media and players. Coach Guthridge meets with the media in the press room.

ACC TELECONFERENCE: Coach Guthridge is available each Tuesday morning on the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball coaches' teleconference. Please call Brian Morrison in the Atlantic Coast Conference Office at (910) 851-6062 for information about accessing the teleconference.

CREDENTIALS: Working press and photo credentials and press parking (which is extremely limited) for Carolina's home games may be obtained by writing Associate Athletic Director for Communications & Sports Information Rick Brewer. Please make your request at least two weeks in advance on your company's letterhead stationery. Brewer's mailing address is: Media Relations & Sports Information Office, University of North Carolina, P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, NC 27515-2126. Requests may be faxed to Brewer's attention at (919) 962-0612. Requests are screened to ensure a working press row at the Smith Center. Credentials are usually mailed approximately 10 days prior to each game or, if time does not permit, are held at the press will call window located in the UNC Athletic Ticket Office on the north side of the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium. Koury Natatorium is immediately adjacent to the Smith Center.

FILING: An ample number of telephones are available in the press room of the Smith Center. Anyone desiring a private line should contact Southern Bell Telephone in Raleigh at 919-780-2800 or 800-767-2355 to make arrangements. Please use Brewer or Smith Center business manager Angie Bitting as the contact person for placement of your phone in the press room. No courtside phone hookups are allowed at the Smith Center. The Carolina Media Relations & Sports Information Office has two fax machines available on a first-come, first-served basis after each game.

PRESS ROW AND PRESS ROW SERVICES: Press seating at the Smith Center is at floor level, either at the scorer's table or behind the two baselines. Radio and video crews and overflow press seating is on the mezzanine level on the Smith Center's north concourse. The Smith Center press room is located on the ground level of the arena in the back hallway across from the visiting team's locker room. Please contact any usher in the Smith Center and he/she can give you directions to the press room's location.

Programs, media guides and game notes will be available in the press room before each game. A halftime box score will be provided in the press room as well as a full postgame book consisting of final and halftime box scores, a full play-by-play and coaches' quotes. The head coaches from both teams will be brought to the press room following the game for press conferences. The Carolina locker room will be open after the game in accordance with Atlantic Coast Conference regulations. Access to the visiting team locker room will be at the discretion of the visiting team's sports information director. A luncheon or dinner will be available to the media in the press room approximately two hours before tipoff of each game.

The North Carolina Athletic Media Relations Office is located on the main level of the Dean E. Smith Center. Parking is available with a visitor's pass in the lot behind Koury Natatorium and can be accessed from Skipper Bowles Drive. Enter the building via the sidewalk which runs between the Smith Center and the Natatorium. The office is on Level 2 directly across the hallway from the men's basketball office.

FAX-BACK SERVICE: The Atlantic Coast Conference and its member institutions provide statistics, schedules, notes and releases on a fax-on-demand service. Each school places full postgame boxscores and play-by-play on the service. This is a media information service. Phone numbers are not to be distributed to the general public. If you wish to use this service, please call the Media Relations & Sports Information Office or the ACC Media Relations Office for further information.

1997-98 CAROLINA OUTLOOK

Six of the top seven players who led Carolina to the 1997 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and a berth in the NCAA Final Four are among the eight letterwinners who return for the 1997-98 season. The Tar Heels will be in pursuit of their 24th consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. This time, however, Carolina is under the direction of first-year head coach Bill Guthridge, who is in his 31st year in Chapel Hill.

Last year, the Tar Heels rebounded from an unprecedented 0-3 start in ACC play to finish with 14 wins in 16 games against conference opponents, including an eight-game, second-half regular-season sweep and a three-game blitz through ACC Tournament play.

Shammond Williams, a 6-2 senior perimeter/point guard from Greenville, S.C., is the most experienced of the returning players, having played in 96 career games. In 1997, Williams became just the fourth Tar Heel in history to earn Most Valuable Player honors in the same year at the ACC Tournament and an NCAA Regional.

Williams and Makhtar Ndiaye are the only two scholarship seniors on the roster. Ndiaye came off the bench last year to rest third-team All-ACC center Serge Zwikker. This year, Ndiaye will be asked to provide more.

Juniors Vince Carter, Antawn Jamison, Ademola Okulaja and Brad Frederick, and sophomores Ed Cota and Terrence Newby also return. They will be joined by red-shirt freshman Michael Brooker and incoming freshmen Brian Bersticker, Brendan Haywood, Orlando Melendez and Max Owens.

Jamison, a 6-9 junior perimeter/post player from Charlotte, N.C., is one of the preseason candidates for National Player of the Year. He is on the Naismith Award's preseason top 10 list, is one of the top 25 players to watch for the John R. Wooden Award and should be a consensus preseason All-America selection.

Jamison earned first-team All-ACC honors in each of his first two seasons and was a member of the 10-man Wooden All-America Team last year. As a sophomore, he led the Tar Heels in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage. He scored 19.1 points, grabbed 9.4 rebounds and made 54.4 percent of his attempts from the floor. He is the 17th Tar Heel and the first since Brad Daugherty in 1985-86, to earn first-team all-conference honors more than once.

For the first time in four seasons, Carolina's lineup is not faced with a major overhaul. Carolina lost three starters following the 1993-94 season, but went to the Final Four in 1995 led by senior Donald Williams and sophomores Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace. Stackhouse and Wallace went on to the NBA after the 1995 season, just their second in Chapel Hill, and the Tar Heels were forced to play three freshmen in the top-six rotation in 1996. UNC still won 21 games and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Last year, the frontcourt returned intact, but Carolina was without its top guards from the previous season, Dante Calabria and Jeff McInnis. Shammond Williams, Carter and Cota formed a three-man backcourt rotation and Carolina returned to the Final Four for the fourth time in seven years.

Williams, Carter, Cota and frontcourt players Jamison, Okulaja and Ndiaye made up six of the top seven players from last year's squad that went 28-7 and claimed the NCAA Eastern Regional championship. The only man missing from that top group is Zwikker, who averaged more than 11 points and eight rebounds per game and was the first pick in the second round of the 1997 NBA Draft by the Houston Rockets.

"Of course, we will miss Serge's leadership and soft touch around the basket," says Guthridge. "We'll also miss the enthusiasm and dedication of seniors Webb Tyndall and Charlie McNairy.

"Dean Smith can not be replaced. It will be up to Phil Ford, Dave Hanners, Pat Sullivan and the rest of our staff and players to join me in making up for the loss of Coach Smith.

"As we have become accustomed to here, this year's team is made up of an outstanding group of young men that are very enjoyable to be around and always give their best. We will all work hard together to ensure that North Carolina basketball achieves the same level of success that it has been known for through the years.

"Certainly depth is a major question mark. Outside of the top six returnees, our most experienced player is a walk-on, Brad Frederick. I hope that some of the freshmen and sophomores will be able to step forward and help us improve our depth."

Indeed, Frederick, a 6-5 perimeter player from Lawrence, Kan., is the next most experienced player beyond the top six returnees. He was on the floor in crucial late-game situations last year against Maryland and Virginia, but still played in less than half the team's games.

"As Coach Smith said many times, last year we were able to achieve as much late in the year as we did because the players understood that the sum of the parts was greater than any individual part," says Guthridge. "We do expect to have great senior leadership from Shammond and Makhtar, and we know that Antawn, Vince and Ademola also have good leadership skills."

Williams averaged 14.1 points per game as a junior and set a school record for three-point baskets in a season with 95. That total included nine in the three games in the ACC Tournament and eight in the two games in Syracuse in the NCAA East Regional.

Williams shot 42 percent from both the field and from three-point range and led the team at the free throw line with a percentage of .815. He and Wake Forest's Tim Duncan were the only two players in the ACC last year to finish among the top 10 in both scoring and assists. Williams was second in the league in free throw percentage, second in three-point field goals per game, fifth in three-point percentage, tied for sixth in assists and 10th in scoring. He netted 20 or more points on seven occasions, including 22 against Louisville in the NCAA East Regional final and 20 against N.C. State in the ACC Tournament championship game.

❑ Since 1973-74, Caralina has nat gane mare than a single seasan withaut winning either the ACC regular seasan race ar the ACC Taurnament.

"Shammond made numerous big shots for us the past two seasons," says Guthridge. "He loves to work on his all-around game and not just his jump shot. He continues to work hard to become a better defensive player."

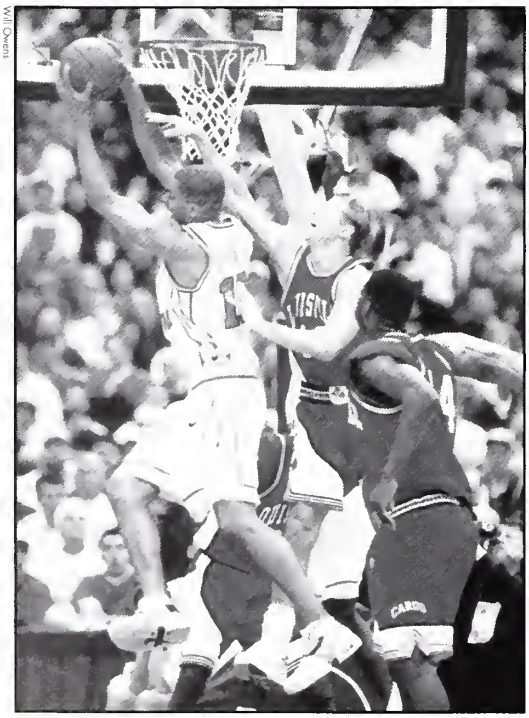
In addition to being named to the Wooden All-America Team and All-ACC first team, Jamison was named second-team All-America by the Associated Press, the National Association of Basketball Coaches, The Sporting News and Basketball Weekly. He also was named the MVP of the Harris Teeter Pepsi Challenge and was selected to the all-tournament teams at the ACC Tournament and NCAA East Regional. He earned ACC Player-of-the-Week honors four times last year.

Jim Hawkins

Over the last 13 games af the 1997 season, Vince Carter shot 55.9 percent fram the flaar and was instrumental in the Tar Heels' march ta the Final Faur.

Jamison was second in the ACC in field goal percentage and rebounding and third in scoring. Thus far in his two-year career, Jamison has scored 1,152 points and grabbed 638 rebounds. He and Billy Cunningham, named last year one of the NBA's alltime 50 greatest players, are the only two Tar Heels to score at least 1,000 points and grab at least 600 rebounds in their first two seasons.

Jamison netted a career-high 36 points against Pittsburgh last year, the most ever by a Tar Heel in the Smith Center, and had an ACC-career high 33 against Duke. He scored in double figures in all but one game last season and grabbed 10 or more rebounds 17 times. Over the second half of the ACC schedule he shot 58.1 percent from the floor. He had 17 points and 11 rebounds in the ACC Tournament final against N.C. State and was sensational in the NCAA East Regional. In the regional semifinal against California he scored 21 points, 15 of which came in the final 10 and a half minutes. In the regional final he helped seal the win with seven points in a 5-minute span late in the contest.



Will Owens

Ademola Okulaja ripped dawn 6.5 rebounds per game last seasan and was second on the squad with 40 three-paint baskets.

"Antawn has unique rebounding and scoring ability," says Guthridge. "He has an amazing sense of where he is around the basket. He is tenacious in the sense that he doesn't just make one effort for a rebound. He has not let his individual success take precedence over team goals and that is very important to our overall success."

Carter, a 6-6 junior perimeter player from Daytona Beach, Fla., is one of he most versatile players in college basketball. Widely heralded for his vertical jump, Carter worked hard last year to become a more complete player. He had a better understanding of the game on both ends of the court, has become a better player taking the ball to the basket and has improved his shot selection. He also became a formidable defensive player.

A key moment last season came when the Tar Heels beat then-second-ranked Clemson in January. Carter was assigned to defend Tiger point guard Terrell McIntyre, who is nine inches shorter than Carter, and held the Clemson standout to just one assist and 3 for 13 shooting from the floor in the 61-48 Tar Heel win. Carter also preserved Carolina's win at N.C. State, as he blocked a last-second three-point attempt.

Carter earned third-team All-ACC honors last season and was named to the NCAA Tournament All-Regional Team. He was third on the team in scoring (13.0 ppg) and shot better than 50 percent from the floor in 18 of the last 21 games. He made 52.5 percent from the floor for the year, 55.9 percent over the last 13 games.

He scored a career-high 26 points in a win over Wake Forest, had 18 points in the regional final against Louisville and had 21 against Arizona in the NCAA semifinal.

"Vince improves every day, especially on defense and in his understanding of the game," says Guthridge. "Athletically, he gives us versatility to play several different positions. Last year, he shot the ball better and was tougher on the defensive end. This season, we expect he will take the ball to the basket with more confidence. That is important because he is such a good free throw shooter."

Okulaja, a 6-9 junior perimeter player from Berlin, Germany, is a fundamentally sound and hard-nosed player. He does the things that don't appear in the box score, but are essential to winning games. He plays tenacious defense, boxes out, dives for loose balls and plays unselfish basketball. When he plays with those ideals in mind, he is a huge contributor toward Carolina's success. His natural leadership ability is important since his teammates respect him.

According to the coaches' grading system, Okulaja was Carolina's top defensive player in 18 games last year and was the 10th-leading rebounder in the ACC. Coach Smith called Okulaja one of the best defensive players in his 39 years at Carolina. He was second on the team in three-pointers and steals and was third in assists. He more often than not drew the key defensive assignment against the opposition's top perimeter scoring threat. He also has the ability, as he showed against Tim Duncan two years ago, to guard bigger and stronger post players.

He had 12 points and 11 rebounds against Colorado in the second round of the NCAA Tournament and 11 points, five boards and two steals in the regional final against Louisville.

"Ademola does all the things that don't show up in the stats, but he has been as valuable a member to this team the past two seasons as any player," says Guthridge. "His ball-handling and shooting improve with each practice. He is one of our better rebounders and accepts the challenge of usually being matched against the opponent's best offensive threat."

Cota ran the offense with flair and precision over the second half of last season. The Brooklyn, N.Y., native averaged 9.6 points, 8.0 assists and just 3.3 turnovers over the final eight games of the ACC regular season. In addition to being named Freshman All-America by Basketball Weekly, Cota became the fourth Tar Heel to earn ACC Rookie-of-the-Year honors.

Cota's better decision making, a more comfortable understanding of the offense and taking better care of the ball were keys to why Carolina shot at least 50 percent from the floor in 16 of the last 21 games. Cota handed out 234 assists, just one shy of the single-season school record set by Kenny Smith in 1984-85. His assist-per-game average of 6.9 was just below Phil Ford's record 7.0 in 1975-76. Cota led the ACC and was eighth in the country in assists for all players and was tops in the nation for freshmen.

He had a season-high 12 assists against Southern California and an ACC season-high 11 assists against Maryland and Duke. Cota scored the game-winning basket at N.C. State on a running jumper with 4.5 seconds to play. The next game, at Georgia Tech, he sank the winning free throws with 33 seconds remaining.

Cota, who led the team in steals with 57, played perhaps his finest all-around game against Colorado in the NCAA Tournament. He scored 16 points, had five assists and played solid defense in UNC's win, which came despite Carter missing all of the second half with an injury. That followed a 10-assist, zero-turnover performance against Fairfield in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

"Ed's improvement on offense was a major reason we shot the ball better and had fewer turnovers in our winning streak," says Guthridge. "He is the type of point guard coaches love to have because he thinks pass first and shot second. He gets the other players on the floor involved in the offense. We became a much better team when Ed became more confident and a better decision maker. He will work hard to put more pressure on the opponent's point guard this year."

Ndiaye, the only Division I player to transfer to UNC in Coach Smith's 37 years, grabbed 54 rebounds, scored 61 points and blocked 15 shots in limited action last year. He transferred to Carolina from the University of Michigan. Ndiaye is a team leader who showed last year in the Smith Center win over Wake Forest that he is capable of playing solid post defense. He had a season-high 10 points at VMI and pulled down a season-high nine rebounds against Bethune-Cookman.

"Makhtar put too much pressure on himself at the start of last season," says Guthridge. "But he improved as the year continued and is in the best physical condition of his career. He should help us on the boards and is a strong defensive presence. He has a great attitude and is looking forward to accepting a leadership role."

Frederick and Newby, a sophomore point guard, round out the returning players. Frederick played in 16 games last year and was called upon in several late game situations when Carter was out with an injured hip. Newby played in a dozen games.

"Frederick was on the floor late in some key situations last year," says Guthridge. "He works hard and has great enthusiasm for the game.

"Terrence Newby is a very athletic young man who could've played Division I football or baseball. He must continue to work hard and be prepared to play in certain situations."

Brooker received a medical red-shirt last season after he injured his knee in a May 1996 high school physical education class. He is an outstanding shooter who used the year off to bulk up in the weight room.

"Michael did not practice until late last season due to the knee injury," says Guthridge. "Like the four incoming freshmen, we will have to see in what areas he will be able to help us early in the season."

All four incoming freshmen played scholastically within three and a half hours of Chapel Hill, including Brendan Haywood (post/defensive center) of Greensboro, Brian Bersticker (perimeter/post/defensive center) of Virginia Beach, Va., perimeter/post player Orlando Melendez of McDowell County, N.C., and perimeter/point guard Max Owens of Durham, N.C. Melendez is originally from Puerto Rico and Owens is a native of Macon, Ga.

The Tar Heels open the season on Nov. 14 against Middle Tennessee State. That is the earliest opening game in UNC history. Carolina plays UCLA in the first round of the Carrs Great Alaska Shootout, makes its annual trip to Charlotte for a pair of games in the Harris Teeter Pepsi Challenge and faces Louisville in a rematch of the NCAA East Regional final in the Direct TV Great Eight in Chicago, Ill.

Last seasan, Shammand Williams set the schaal recard with 95 three-paint field gaals and finished secand an the team with 14.1 paints per game.

❑ Carolina has won at least one game in the NCAA Tournament for 17 consecutive years and advanced to the Sweet 16 in 15 of those 17 Tournaments.

• Carolina has won at least one game in the NCAA Tournament for 17 consecutive years and advanced to the Sweet 16 in 15 of those 17 Tournaments.

• Carolina has participated in 13 Final Fours, including 10 in which head coach Bill Guthridge was an assistant coach to Dean Smith.

• UNC won its 14th Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament title in 1997. The Tar Heels finished tied for second in the regular-season standings and were the No. 3 seed in Greensboro. Carolina defeated No. 6 Virginia, No. 2 Wake Forest and No. 8 N.C. State for the championship.

• Guard Shammond Williams was the MVP of the ACC Tournament as he averaged 20.0 points and 5.0 assists in the three games. He had 23 points in the final against N.C. State and 24 against Wake Forest in the semifinal.

• Shammond Williams also earned Most Outstanding Player honors at the NCAA East Regional. He is the fourth player in school history and the first in 15 years to win MVP honors at both the ACC Tournament and NCAA Regional.

• Carolina started 0-3 in the ACC last season for the first time in school history, but won 11 of its final 13 regular-season league games to finish tied for second place, one game out of the lead. The second-place finish marked the 28th time in the last 33 years the Tar Heels have placed first or second in the ACC standings.

• Carolina was 7-1 in the Smith Center against ACC opponents last year and 4-4 on the road. That marked the 33rd straight season the Tar Heels have finished .500 or better in ACC road games.

• Forward Antawn Jamison became the first UNC player to earn first-team All-ACC honors in consecutive years since Brad Daugherty in 1985 and 1986.

• Point guard Ed Cota became the fourth Tar Heel to be named ACC Rookie of the Year. Cota averaged 6.9 assists per game, just 0.1 off the UNC single-season record, which was set by Phil Ford in 1976. Other UNC players to win ACC Rookie of the Year include Sam Perkins, Michael Jordan and J.R. Reid.

• Shammond Williams set a UNC single-season record by making 95 three-point baskets last year.

• Antawn Jamison scored 36 points against Pittsburgh in November. That is the highest single-game scoring effort by a UNC player in the 150-game history of the Smith Center. In the final home game last year, Jamison netted 33 points against Duke.

• Carolina's defense allowed opponents to shoot 50 percent or better from the field just three times in 35 games. The last team to accomplish the feat against UNC was Florida State on January 22 in Tallahassee. None of the last 19 opponents managed to make half their field goal attempts.

• Carolina finished fourth in the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN polls last year. UNC has finished in the Top 10 in the national polls 24 times in the last 30 seasons.

• Carolina participated in the Great Alaska Shootout in 1980-81 and 1985-86. UNC won the event both times. The Tar Heels defeated Arkansas, 64-58, in the 1980 title game and edged UNLV, 65-60, in the 1985 championship.

• UNC plays UCLA in the opening round of the Carrs Great Alaska Shootout. This is the first meeting with the Bruins since Carolina beat UCLA twice in 1988-89, including the 1989 NCAA Tournament second round in Atlanta.

• The last time a Carolina team was not led by head coach Dean Smith was on Feb. 25, 1961, in Woollen Gymnasium. Head coach Frank McGuire, with assistant coach Dean Smith at his side, led UNC past Duke, 69-66, in overtime. The last time the UNC basketball program played a game without Smith as head coach or assistant coach was on March 8, 1958, an 86-74 loss to Maryland in Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh in the ACC Tournament championship game. Smith joined the program the next year.

• Bill Guthridge's first game as a member of the UNC coaching staff was on December 2, 1967, an 89-76 win over Virginia Tech in Carmichael Auditorium.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR DICK BADDOUR

❑ Baddour is a native of Goldsboro, N.C., who graduated from Carolina in 1966 with a B.A. in economics.

The new director of athletics at the University of North Carolina is Dick Baddour, who has served as number two man in the department for the past 11 years.

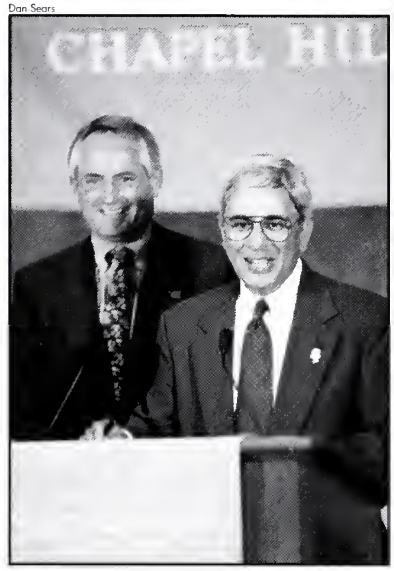
Baddour was appointed to the job June 25 by Chancellor Michael Hooker. He replaced John Swofford who became commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

"We were very fortunate to have an extremely strong pool of candidates for this position," said Hooker, in making the announcement. "In the end, Dick's familiarity with and inside knowledge of Carolina athletics made him the top choice.

"Dick knows firsthand the inner-workings of our athletic department. As John Swofford's right-hand man for more than a decade, he unquestionably knows more about the operation of Carolina athletics than anyone besides John. He also is well-known and has a long history of service to the ACC.

"Even more importantly, however, is his steadfast dedication to our student-athletes. I am confident he will be able to maintain the academic integrity and high standards that are hallmarks of the Carolina athletic program. Dick will be an exceptional role model for our student-athletes and a powerful leader of our department. I am delighted to recommend him for this important post."

Dan Sears



Baddour was among 40 candidates considered by a 14-member search committee chaired by Dr. Elson Floyd, executive vice-chancellor. The panel included faculty, staff, student, alumni, trustee and athletic department representatives.

"It is an honor to have the opportunity to serve the University as its director of athletics," said Baddour at the time of his appointment. "To be the successor to John Swofford and to build on the tradition of excellence that he, the staff, the coaches and the student-athletes have established over the years is the most exciting challenge I can imagine.

"Michael Hooker has a vision of what he wants the University to be and I pledge my support and that of this department to that end— for Carolina to be the number one public institution in this country."

Baddour is in his 31st year of continuous service to the University. He has worked at several different positions in that time and gotten involved in numerous aspects of campus life— working with faculty, staff and students. He may know as much about how the entire University operates as almost anyone at the school today.

Prior to replacing Swofford, he had been the Athletic Department's executive associate director of athletics. In that role he was Swofford's chief assistant and handled many of the day-to-day affairs of the department. That included handling personnel matters, serving as NCAA and ACC compliance coordinator, supervisor of the grant-in-aid program, administrator of the student-athlete development program and liaison with the academic support programs.

He has chaired or served on at least seven ACC committees and coordinated the UNC's NCAA certification process and review.

However, unlike most officials in college athletics, he did not begin his career planning for this line of work to be his profession.

Baddour spent one year as a cost accountant for Burlington Industries. He then returned to his alma mater in 1967 as assistant dean of men, an office he jokes does now not even exist. In that role he worked closely with students, directing orientation and serving as the administration's liaison with fraternities and Student Government committees.

In May 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. That brought him in close contact with all of Carolina's academic departments. Coordinating freshman admissions took him into every high school in the state.

While working in undergraduate admissions in 1975, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree in education with a major in student personnel administration and a minor in business administration.

Baddour was then named Assistant Dean at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. He served as the school's director of admissions and scholarship programs, head of personnel and supervisor of career planning and placement. He was also in charge of minority recruitment programs and the law school's fund-raising activities.

He was approached by Swofford about joining the athletic department and became associate athletic director in April 1986. He was promoted to senior associate director in July 1990 and to executive associate in June 1995.

"I need to express my gratitude to John who, 11 years ago, gave me an opportunity in college athletics just as Michael Hooker is giving me one now," said Baddour when chosen for the department's top spot. "Through the years John guided and prepared me to be an athletic director. This is a time to look forward, but I also think it's important to look back at what has been accomplished here under his leadership."

Baddour heads one of the largest and most successful athletic programs in the nation. Carolina has the largest program in the entire South, fielding 28 teams. The newest, women's rowing, begins varsity competition next spring. The Tar Heels won the Sears Directors' Cup for having the best overall athletic program in the nation in 1993-94 and have been a top contender for that trophy each of the past three years, as well.

A 1962 graduate of Goldsboro High School, Baddour is also active in community affairs in Chapel Hill despite his busy schedule. He is past president of the Public School Foundation, has been co-president of the Ephesus Elementary School PTA and has served on the Chapel Hill-Carrboro School System Effective Schools Committee.

He recently received the Chapel Hill/Carrboro Public School System award as "Volunteer of the Year" for his service and leadership as president of the Public School Foundation.

He has been a member of the Chapel Hill Library Foundation, The Chapel Hill Library Building Committee and the board of directors of The Village Bank and later Triangle Bank.

He is a past president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club and served as vice-president of the Chapel Hill Parks and Recreation Commission. Baddour is completing 31 years as a member of the N.C. National Guard and holds the rank of colonel.

Baddour's wife, Lynda, taught kindergarten and first grade for 17 years. They have two sons. Allen, 26, graduated from UNC and Carolina law school and practices law in Chapel Hill, and David, 24, is a UNC graduate and an accountant in Washington, D.C. They also have a daughter, Jennifer, 23, who is a graduate of UNC Greensboro and a current graduate student in the UNC School of Social Work.

HEAD COACH BILL GUTHRIDGE

When Dean Smith, the winningest coach in Division I basketball history, resigned after 36 years as Carolina's head coach, UNC officials wasted no time in appointing his successor. The search involved looking one seat down the bench and one office away from Smith.

Bill Guthridge, Smith's assistant for 30 years, became the Tar Heel head coach on Oct. 9, 1997, nine days before the start of preseason practice. Guthridge's appointment was recommended to Chancellor Michael Hooker and Athletic Director Dick Baddour by Coach Smith.

"Coach Guthridge has over 30 years of outstanding service to the University as a member of Coach Smith's staff," Baddour said at the announcement. "He has been instrumental in all phases of the program's success, including coaching, recruiting and player and family relations, as well as academic achievement. He has learned well from the master and he is ready and eager to do the job."

As Smith's chief assistant Guthridge was involved in every aspect of the North Carolina program and there is not a weakness in his coaching repertoire. He has a thorough knowledge of all aspects of his profession—teaching, organizational skills, motivation, on-bench decision making, practice plans and recruiting.

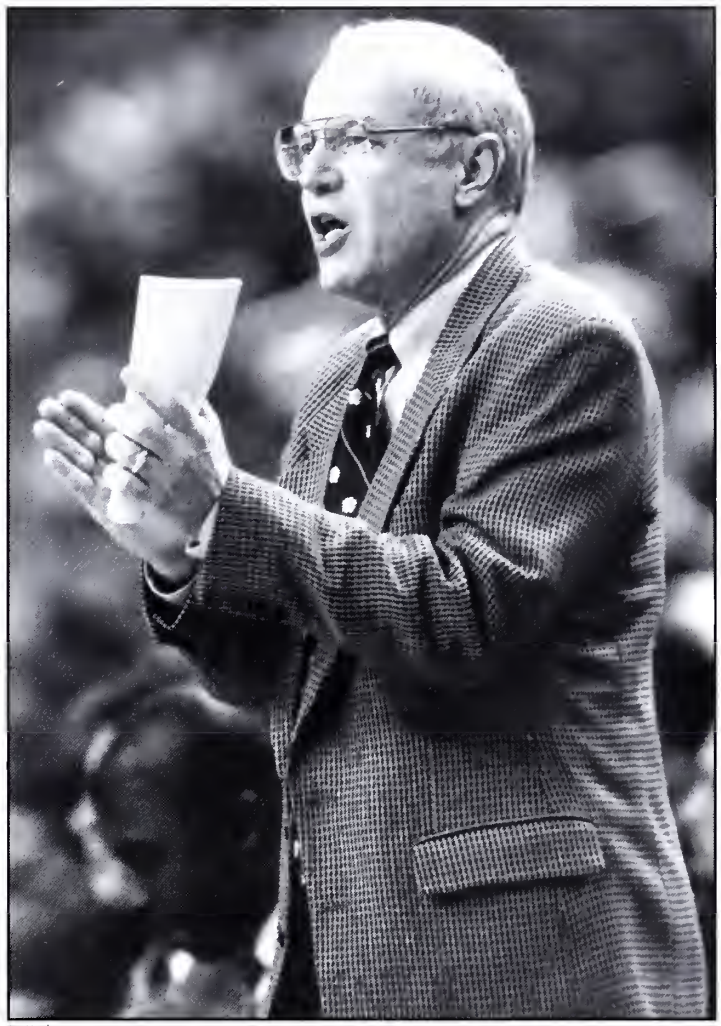
Even though Guthridge has publicly indicated that he had no desire to leave Carolina, his name was usually mentioned whenever there was a head basketball coaching vacancy at a major college. Guthridge has turned down several premier coaching offers and withdrawn his name from consideration for many others.

"I really have been fortunate to be surrounded with great assistants the entire time I have been head coach," Smith said a few years ago. "Of course, Bill replaced Larry Brown as an assistant coach when Larry left for a chance to play professional basketball in the ABA. Since that time, Coach Guthridge has been an immense help in all areas. He is extremely well organized and helps in so many ways, both in the office and on the court. I thought he surely was going to take the head coaching job at Penn State in 1978, but he canceled the press conference and has since turned down interviews. He would be a tremendous head coach. My former assistants here, Ken Rosemond, Larry Brown, John Lotz, Eddie Fogler, Roy Williams and Randy Wiel, have all been successful as Division I head coaches."

Guthridge's esteem is held equally high in Kansas as it is in North Carolina. In 1994 he was elected to membership in the state of Kansas' Basketball Hall of Fame by the Kansas coaches association.

Guthridge is a 1960 alumnus of Kansas State University, and he played as a guard on Wildcat teams which won Big Eight Conference championships in 1958, 1959 and 1960. In his sophomore year, KSU made the NCAA Final Four after winning the Midwest Regional championship.

Guthridge has been a part of some of the greatest teams in both Kansas State and North Carolina history as an assistant coach. In fact, Guthridge has been involved with 12 teams which have reached the Final Four—as a player at Kansas State in 1958, as an assistant coach with the Wildcats in 1964 and as a Tar Heel assistant coach in 1968, 1969, 1972, 1977, 1981, 1982, 1991, 1993, 1995 and 1997.



Jim Hawkins

Carolina has made 26 appearances in the NCAA Tournament and four in the National Invitation Tournament since Guthridge has served on the staff, meaning that the Tar Heels have played in a postseason tournament in each of his years in Chapel Hill. The Tar Heels have finished third or higher in the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season standings in each of his 30 seasons, including 16 first-place finishes and another nine second-place finishes. In 22 of his 30 years as an assistant, Carolina has either won the ACC Tournament, finished first in the regular-season standings or done both. He also was on a staff that led Carolina to NCAA championships in 1982 and 1993 and to the NIT title in 1971.

Guthridge also played a key role when the United States won back the Olympic gold medal in 1976 at the Summer Games in Montreal. Smith named Guthridge

- ❑ Guthridge is in his 31st seasan at North Carolina and first as head coach.
- ❑ Guthridge was a member of three Big Eight championship teams at Kansas State from 1958-60.
- ❑ Guthridge was an assistant caach an the 1976 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Team.
- ❑ In 22 af his 30 years at Caralina the Tar Heels have either wan the ACC Taurnament, finished first in the ACC standings ar dane bath.

"Coach Guthridge is a great coach. We won't have any problem with him leading us in a tight situation. He has been here 30 years. He has learned a lot from Coach Smith and Coach Smith has learned a lot from him. I definitely would have come to Carolina if Guthridge was the coach. He was the first person who recruited me, anyway. I never would have given it a second thought."
– Ed Cota, sophomore point guard, 1997 ACC Rookie of the Year and Georgetown head coach John Thompson to his staff for the Games. Besides practice and bench coaching duties at the Olympics, Guthridge also was responsible for scouting the Americans' opponents during the two-week competition. The trio of Smith, Guthridge and Thompson coached a talented American squad to the gold medal four years after the U.S. had been denied the gold for the first time in history in a heart-breaking one-point loss to the Soviet Union in Munich.

Guthridge has worked with both the team's offensive and defensive plans in his 30 years at UNC. He is currently the Tar Heels' shooting instructor. It is no coincidence that Carolina has shot at least 50 percent from the field in 23 of the last 27 seasons. Carolina shot 49.8 percent from the floor in 1989-90, 49.9 percent in 1993-94, 49.2 percent in 1995-96 and 47.9 percent last season. Still, in all four years the Tar Heels led the ACC in field goal percentage.

Guthridge also excels as a tutor for the Tar Heel big men. Over the past 30 years, he has worked individually with the Tar Heel frontcourt players prior to each practice session. Guthridge has worked with the likes of Rusty Clark, Bob McAdoo, Mitch Kupchak, Sam Perkins, Brad Daugherty, Joe Wolf, Scott Williams, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Eric Montross, Rasheed Wallace and Serge Zwikker.

Guthridge, a native of Parsons, Kan., played high school basketball for Harold Johnson, one of two brothers who innovated the zone press in the 1930s. In addition to his basketball accomplishments at Kansas State, Guthridge also was chosen as one of the University's 13 most outstanding all-around seniors in 1960 based on his leadership qualities, extracurricular activities and academic record.

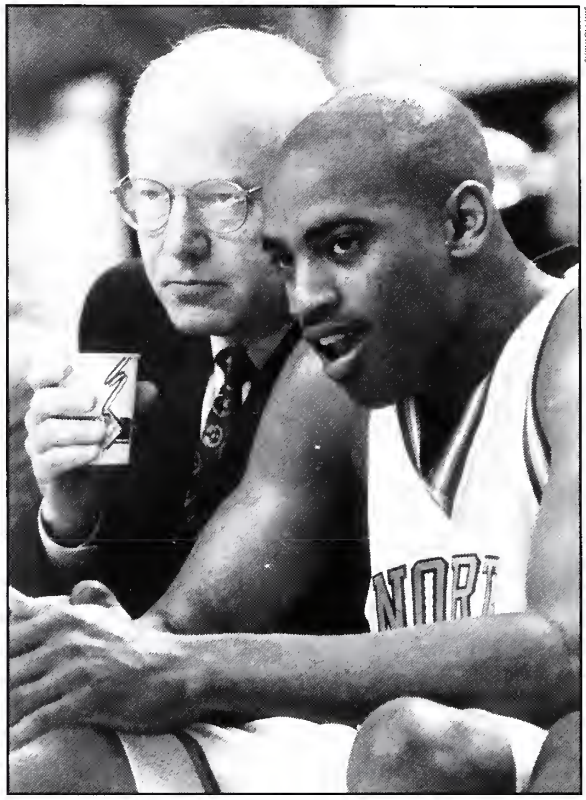
After graduating from Kansas State, he coached at Scott City High School in Kansas for two seasons before returning to his alma mater as an assistant coach for Tex Winter. In five years on Winter's staff, Guthridge helped lead the Wildcats to a 93-43 record, to a pair of Big Eight Conference crowns and to the 1964 NCAA Final Four.

Robert Crawford

Guthridge came to Carolina prior to the 1967-68 season after Brown left to play for the New Orleans Buccaneers in the newly-founded American Basketball Association. He came to Carolina as freshman coach and co-assistant varsity coach with Lotz. As the freshman team coach in his first six seasons at UNC, Guthridge directed the novice Tar Heels to a 72-25 record and a quartet of Big Four championships.

Besides working with Smith and Winter, two of the great names in coaching, Guthridge also coached in the Puerto Rican Amateur Athletic Union Summer Leagues twice, earning Coach-of-the-Year honors. His work was so superb that he was invited to coach the 1968 Puerto Rican Olympic Team.

Jim Hopkins



However, Guthridge's greatest fame has come from his work with the Tar Heels. Smith gives Guthridge much of the credit for helping develop the players who have kept Carolina at the top of the college ranks during the past three decades.

"Coach Guthridge is the best I have ever seen in selecting potential in high school players," says Smith. "He has a keen sense of which ones will be very good players and which ones may be overrated. He has saved many scholarships when he has suggested backing off certain players, and of course, has selected some great ones who matriculated at Chapel Hill."

Unlike many coaches, Guthridge says he actually enjoys the recruiting of new student-athletes for the Tar Heels.

"Some people say recruiting is undesirable, that it's the worst part of being a college coach," says Guthridge. "But my experiences have been very enjoyable. I think that has had a lot to do with the type of young man that our University attracts."

Guthridge, whose Bachelor of Science degree from Kansas State is in mathematics, received a master's degree in education from KSU in 1963.

His excellent sense of humor makes him one of the most popular after-dinner speakers in the Carolina athletic department. Tar Heel seniors annually credit Guthridge's sense of discipline and sense of humor among the things they will miss the most about the Carolina basketball family.

Bill and his wife, Leesie, have two sons, Jamie and Stuart, and a daughter, Megan.

Side By Side
Guthridge Has Been a Constant with Smith

CHAPEL HILL - Can you guess which coach has more victories than Dean Smith? Bill Guthridge.

Count 'em up. In Guthridge's 30 years as an assistant for Dean Smith at North Carolina, the Tar Heels are 785-200. In his five years as an assistant for Tex Winter at Kansas State, the Wildcats were 93-43.

All told, that's 878 wins in 35 years, one more victory than his boss in one less year.

It doesn't bother Guthridge that he has gotten little outside recognition during the past week, as Smith broke Adolph Rupp's record for career victories as a head coach. Not nearly as much, probably, as it bothered Smith to be in the national spotlight for a record he doesn't even want recognized.

Robert Crawford

Guthridge made the decision long ago that he would never be a head coach if it meant leaving Chapel Hill.

"I decided . . . I had the best job in college basketball," Guthridge said. "Why should I leave just to be a head coach?"

Those were not his sentiments when he arrived in Chapel Hill in the summer of 1967. He fully expected to one day take over a program and call it his own.

But at the time, he was an assistant coach at his alma mater, Kansas State, and he figured it was time to see another part of the coaching world. When Larry Brown left Smith's staff that spring to try his hand at playing in the American Basketball Association, it created an opening.

Guthridge and Smith had known each other for years. Smith had dated Guthridge's older sister, Joan. "I guess that is one way to get a coaching job - have your sister date the head coach," Smith said.

Later on, when Smith became an assistant at the Air Force Academy, he used to spend his summers in Manhattan, Kan., the home of Smith's first wife and the home of K-State. The two frequently played golf together.

Smith had just taken the Tar Heels to the Final Four for the first time in 1967 when the ABA was formed and Brown was lured to New Orleans to play for Doug Moe. Smith called his old golfing partner, who was eager to get more experience as a coach.

"When I went to North Carolina, my goal was to be a college head coach, and I thought it would be good to get another perspective, since I had played for Tex Winter and worked there," Guthridge said. "Because of the success of the program, I eventually had a few opportunities."

Several, in fact, but he didn't accept any offers until Joe Paterno and Penn State wooed him in 1978. He accepted the job and was set to take over after the Tar Heels finished play in the NCAA Tournament that year. He even went so far as lining up former Tar Heel players George Karl and Mickey Bell to be his assistants.

But when he left Phoenix following the Tar Heels' loss to San Francisco in the first round of the tournament to be introduced at a press conference as Penn State's new head coach, Guthridge began to have second thoughts.

He had been through and accomplished so much during his decade at UNC: Four Final Fours, five ACC Tournament titles, seven ACC regular season titles. He had even been the assistant to Smith during the 1976 Olympics in Montreal, when the United States regained the men's basketball gold medal.

Guthridge was overcome with emotion when he told the players of his decision to leave, as doubts had already begun to enter his mind. So when he left for the press conference where he was to be introduced as Penn State's next coach, he checked his bags only as far as Chicago, Guthridge decided that he did not want to leave Chapel Hill.

"I called my wife and told her I was coming home," Guthridge said. "When I made that decision I also made the decision that I was never going to talk to anybody about being a head coach again. I was not going to be a head coach."

Guthridge has on his resumé a long list of former big men he has coached to greatness: Rusty Clark, Bob McAdoo, Mitch Kupchak, Sam Perkins, Brad Daugherty, Scott Williams, J.R. Reid and Eric Montross.

But his most outstanding achievement ever may be on the floor right now for the Tar Heels. In five years, Guthridge transformed Serge Zwikker, a 7-3 center with limited skills and quickness, from Timo Makkonen into a deadly hookshot/jumpshot weapon on the baseline. Zwikker credits much of his improve during his career in Chapel Hill to his constant work with Guthridge.

Guthridge, like Smith, was a math major in college. But he and Smith are quite different. All you have to do is look at the desks in their offices. Guthridge's is clutter-free, while Smith's is one broken down recliner away from being classified as a landfill.

"We are opposites," Smith admits. "He likes to get up early and go to bed early, I like to go bed late and get up late. There are a lot of things like that, but we are a good match."

Guthridge, a native of Parsons, Kan., is the organizer on the staff. He's mapped out both offensive and defensive plans during his three decades on staff and handles all the plans on Tar Heel trips. As UNC's primary recruiter Guthridge always gets credit for helping land the top talent that Smith brings in every year. His sense of humor and loyalty have been obvious through the years, as has his competitive nature. His temper, when riled, is legendary and frequently captured on film during heated moments in critical games.

He's certainly gained the same measure of respect among the players as Smith has during his years in Chapel Hill.

During one of the pregame press conferences in Winston-Salem, junior guard Shammond Williams made a point to praise Guthridge's contribution to UNC's program.

"Coach Guthridge has been there with Coach Smith throughout all those years," Williams said. "He has been a very influential person in our lives also.

"Throughout the wins, many people have just talked about the things Coach Smith has done, but you also have to understand that there has been Coach Guthridge standing there by his side all those years also."

COACH GUTHRIDGE: QUOTES & ANECDOTES

Dean Smith considers Guthridge, 59, indispensable. Without Guthridge, Smith has said, he might not have had 877 victories. Guard Shammond Williams said that the players on this season's team regard Guthridge as highly as they do Smith.

"(Guthridge) is basically the man who keeps this program going." Williams said. "He does the little things, and he has done a lot of the great things over the years. Coach Guthridge stepped up and helped numerous times with things that Coach Smith can't help and as a team they are a great combination."

– Bill Cole, Winston-Salem Journal, March 20, 1997

"Most people don't know how competitive Coach Guthridge is. He may look like this mild-mannered guy sitting there whispering to Coach Smith, but he's more like a warrior at times, too. If he's talking to you about diving after a loose ball, he might dive after one himself."

– Vince Carter, in Chapel Hill News, October 17, 1997

"I think I have one of the best jobs in the country. I could be happy here the rest of my life. I enjoy coaching on the floor, I enjoy the administrative part of the job and I enjoy recruiting."

– Bill Guthridge in Raleigh News and Observer, July 6, 1976

"I think Coach Guthridge has influenced every player that's gone through the program. He's a perfect extension of Coach Smith. They both have the same basic values."

– Bobby Jones in Kansas City Star, February 24, 1988

"Bill has a lot of court savvy. He has good basketball knowledge and court sense, consequently we'll be playing him at times when the pressure is the greatest."

– Kansas State head coach Tex Winter in the Kansas State Collegian, January 15, 1958

This is a man who quit playing golf about a dozen years ago because he felt he was cheating his wife and three children with his time. And besides, he'd just parred "Amen Corner" (the famed 11th, 12th & 13th holes) at Augusta National and shot a 1-over-par 37 on the back nine. A 37 at Augusta – what else was there to accomplish?" Guthridge asks. Indeed – why waste any more time?

– Lee Pace, 1995-96 Carolina Court

Bill Guthridge has a container with a cork lid labeled "Excuses" that he keeps on his desk. "I'm a bottom line kind of guy. If someone has an excuse, they can put it right in there. If a player didn't go to class or was late, I'm sure they have a reason, but that's where the reasons go."

– Brock Page in Carolina Blue, February 4, 1995

"Smith and Guthridge are known for their understanding of, and ability to handle, a wide variety of people. Both claim the other is better at it. George Karl calls it a tossup. But he says, it was Guthridge's example more than Smith's who led him into coaching. "He put the idea into my head when he was recruiting me in high school," says Karl. "I had never even considered it until then. To me and those who played, Bill Guthridge is as much North Carolina basketball as Dean Smith is. People can't believe it, but it's like one big, close family. And that's initiated by Dean and Bill."

– Sam Donnellon in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, January 24, 1988

Guthridge is also more relaxed, a reflection perhaps of his job. His easy sense of humor has been cited by past and present players as a kind of calling card. An example: when Michael Jordan returned to Chapel Hill this summer, Guthridge asked straight-faced what he had been doing since leaving Chapel Hill.

"It's really just a knack of making the comments at the right time," says George Karl. "What I always liked was that it was never cynical, or insulting. It just served to ease things. So much of our humor has to be at someone's expense. His is always positive."

– Sam Donnellon in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, January 24, 1988

" I have always enjoyed recruiting because we deal with a lot of real good people, student-athletes and their parents. We don't get involved with kids who aren't interested in getting an education and are not interested in playing for a good program. We see tons of players, but we don't get involved with a lot. We weed it down academically and for attitude."

– Bill Guthridge in Carolina Blue, April 19, 1997

Coaching basketball is all he ever wanted to do. At 5, Bill was mascot of the Parsons (Kan.) High Vikings. He'd sit at the end of the bench, and throw balls to the players. His parents, Wallace and Betty, were educators in the little Southeastern Kansas town.

He saw his first college game as a sophomore at parsons High. His high school coach took the team up to Lawrence to see Kansas play. On the Jayhawk bench was a little-used guard who dated Guthridge's older sister, Joan. His name was Dean Smith. Joan introduced the two that night.

Maybe it's those Vesuvian outburst of emotion that come sporadically, but predictably each season. There was the time at Duke, for example, when his freshman team lost a big lead through intermittent freshman mistakes and refereeing blunders. Totally imperturbable throughout the Duke comeback, Guthridge finally stood up and ordered a timeout. In one sweeping motion, he ripped off his coat, slung it over his head like Gene Autry and let it fly over the Tar Heel bench. A second later, he was on one knee, calmly divying out instructions to his troops.

– Art Chansky in the Chapel Hill Weekly, February 13, 1972

"Bill Guthridge has been a head coach for the past 25 or so years. Anyone who has been the right hand man of a legend for that long in many ways has been a head coach. I remember from my playing days in Chapel Hill that Coach Guthridge's teams were extremely sound fundamentally and played with terrific effort. They reflected the fiery competitive nature of their coach. Coach Guthridge hates to lose."

– South Carolina Head Coach Eddie Fogler, October 17, 1997

"Coach Winter made a very big impact on my life. As did my father, my Little league coach, my junior varsity coach, my high school coach and Dean Smith. Anytime you spend enough time with somebody it's going to be an influence. I've been certainly lucky in the people I've been around."

– Bill Guthridge in Carolina Blue, January 24, 1981

It's been pleasant for me, obviously, having Bill to work with all these years. He knows how I think, what I would want. And he's a very good judge of talent. He says someone can play, they can play. I've always wanted what is best for Bill. I encouraged him to take a couple of job he was offered. But I certainly didn't fight him when he said he wanted to stay."

– Dean Smith in Carolina Court, 1995-96

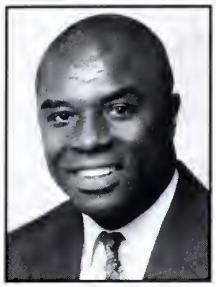
"He and Coach Smith have the amazing ability to juggle 40 balls in the air at one time and still carry on a conversation with you. And he does it all by rarely getting perturbed. It's hard to see stress in Coach Guthridge. It's almost like there is no such thing as stress."

– Dave Hanners in Carolina Court, 1995-96

ASSISTANT COACH PHIL FORD



❑ Fard is entering his 10th seasan as a Carolino ossistont coach.

❑ Fard wos 1978 college Natianal Ployer of the Yeor and the 1979 NBA Rookie of the Year.

❑ As one of the top collegiate players, Fard was o co-captain ond storter on the 1976 United States Olympic Teom thot wan the gald medol in Mantreal.

❑ After retiring from professionol basketball, Fard worked far North Caralina Notionol Bonk and Jeffersan-Pilot Teleproductions.

❑ In 1995-96, Ford taak the reins os the head juniar varsity cooch. He led the JV squod to consecutive 11-4 records.

Phil Ford may be best known for his accomplishments as a three-time first-team All-America point guard during his playing days at North Carolina, but his nine-year stint as a UNC assistant coach has been equally impressive.

Ford, the 1978 National Player of the Year under Dean Smith, has served as an invaluable educator, recruiter and motivator on the sidelines for the Carolina coaching staff.

Ford's name is synonymous with his enthusiastic attitude, and it is that quality which makes him stand out from many assistant coaches.

In addition to his talents as an emotional leader, Ford brings his legendary skills and knowledge of the game. As Smith explains, Ford's past basketball successes predicate his role as a superb educator.

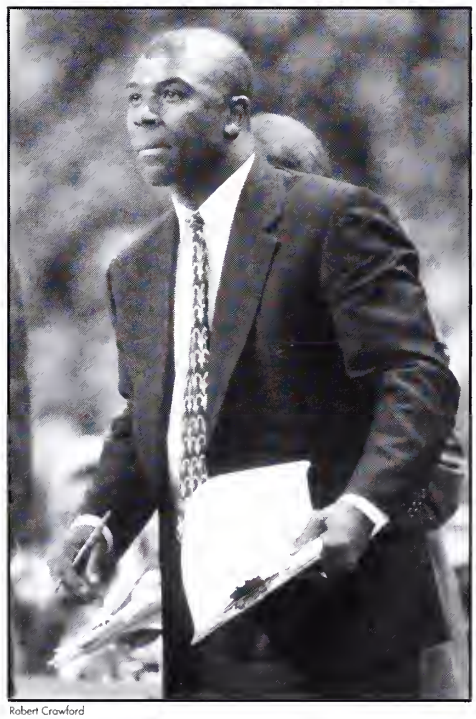
"Not often can a National Player of the Year such as Phil Ford really have a feel for coaching, since he was so good at what he did," said Smith. "Still, it is remarkable the coaching job he did with the JVs last year against some junior colleges and prep schools that give scholarships. He has been one of the unusual cases of being a great, great player who also is a great coach.

"There has never been anyone more loyal to this University and to this coaching staff than Phil. Certainly, we expect him to move on, but he continues to turn down head coaching opportunities for the moment. He loves living in Chapel Hill, and his family is from the area, but one of these days he is going to move forward and become a great head coach."

As one of the three designated representatives of the Tar Heel basketball program who visit prospective players on the road, Ford also is an integral figure in attracting potential student-athletes to Chapel Hill.

Ford, a native of Rocky Mount, N.C., and a 1974 graduate of Rocky Mount High School, was a backcourt star on Carolina teams that won 99 of 124 games in his four years. Those teams went to the NCAA Tournament four times and advanced to the championship game in Ford's junior year. As a senior, Ford won the coveted John Wooden Award, making him and Michael Jordan the only Tar Heels ever to win the prestigious award in the University's storied history. He was also named the National Player of the Year in 1978 by the United States Basketball Writers Association, the National Association of Basketball Coaches and The Sporting News.

Ford still ranks as the Tar Heels' leading alltime scorer with a total of 2,290 career points. He saved what was perhaps his greatest collegiate performance for his final home game in Carmichael Auditorium, scoring a career-high 34 points in leading the Tar Heels to an Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season championship-clinching 87-83 win over Duke. Ford also held Carolina's single game, season and career assist records until Kenny Smith and Jeff Lebo eclipsed Ford's numbers.



Robert Crawford

Ford was actually the first freshman during Smith's tenure to start in the first game of his Carolina career even though freshmen became eligible to play varsity sports under NCAA rules during the 1972-73 school year. He capped a brilliant freshman year by leading the Tar Heels to the 1975 ACC Tournament championship, becoming the first freshman in league history to win the Everett Case Award as the Most Valuable Player in the ACC Tournament.

Ford earned first-team All-ACC accolades in 1976, 1977 and 1978. He also was named first-team All-ACC Tournament in 1975, 1976 and 1977 and second-team in 1978. He was listed on multiple All-America teams in earning first-team status in 1976, 1977 and 1978. He was also a first-team freshman All-America in 1975.

In his senior season Ford was voted the ACC Player of the Year, and in both 1977 and 1978 he was given the Anthony J. McKevlin Award as the ACC Athlete of the Year. In May 1978, he graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of North Carolina in business administration.

After graduating from Carolina, Ford was taken as the second player in the 1978 NBA draft by the Kansas City Kings. After a magnificent first season with the Kings, Ford was accorded the 1979 NBA Rookie of the Year. That year, he also was named to the NBA All-Rookie Team and to the All-NBA second team. Ford's tenure with the Kings lasted four seasons, and he finished his NBA career by playing one year each with the New Jersey Nets and the Milwaukee Bucks and two seasons with the Houston Rockets.

Ford, who was inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in May 1991, said, "It's a dream come true to coach at my alma mater and a great thrill to work with Coach Smith. He has played a very important role in my life and there is no one better with whom I could begin my coaching career."

Although Ford has come a long way from his backyard basketball court in Rocky Mount where he learned to play the game in the late 1960s and early 1970s, it is evident that he has not forgotten his roots. Family is still an important aspect in Ford's life.

Ford now has a family of his own to which he can pass down both his love of basketball and his values. "I enjoy spending time with my wife and my two kids," said Ford. "You don't realize how lucky you are until you have a family of your own."

Ford was married in July 1988 to Traci Vample, a Salem College graduate and native of Durham, N.C. The Fords have a daughter, Tyler, seven, and a son, Mitchell, five. His parents, Phil Sr. and Mable, were both public school teachers. His brother, Wayne, is a dermatologist in Greensboro and his sister, Jackie, teaches in Durham.

ASSISTANT COACH DAVE HANNERS

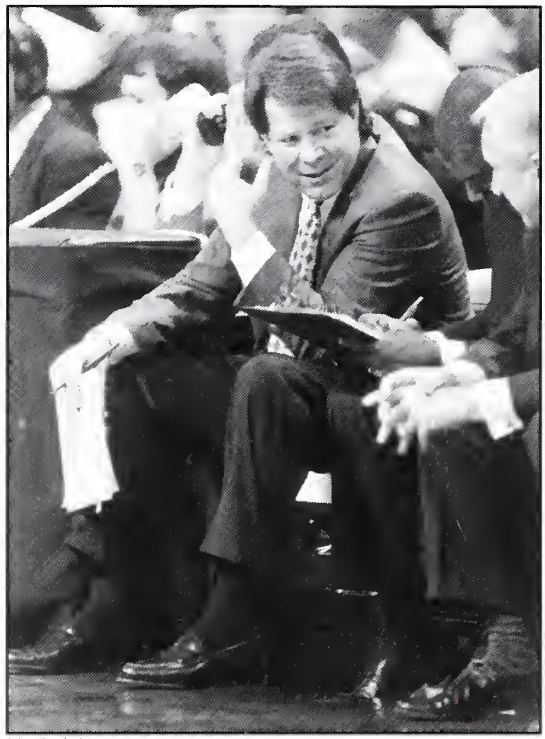
❑ Hanners is in his ninth seasan as a Tar Heel assistant.

❑ Hanners was a guard an Caralina's 1975 ACC champianship team.

Dave Hanners, who is entering his ninth season on the University of North Carolina basketball staff, is considered to have one of the most innovative young minds among college basketball coaches.

During his tenure at Carolina, Hanners has served in numerous capacities. He was an assistant coach at UNC from 1989-92 and again from 1993 to the present. During the 1992-93 season, Hanners served as Assistant to the Athletic Director at Carolina for one year, acting as the basketball office's liaison with other UNC athletic offices, while also handling a host of administrative duties related to the basketball program and the athletic department.

Hanners' responsibilities changed again after the NCAA's decision to limit basketball coaching staffs to four individuals beginning with the 1992-93 school year. After former Tar Heel assistant coach Randy Wiel took the head coaching job at UNC Asheville in the summer of 1993, Hanners resumed his original job, which allowed him to once again attend practices and directly contribute to the day-to-day growth of the team.



Robert Crowford

"It's interesting to me that I learn things every day that will make me a better head coach. Being around Coach Smith, Coach Guthridge and Coach Ford, something happens every day that I know down the road I will be able to use, whether it comes from a meeting with Coach Smith about a player, or about an opponent, or about how to handle certain situations that develop."

Hanners, a graduate assistant at UNC in 1977 and 1978, served as head coach of the junior varsity team for two years. Hanners says that assignment afforded him the opportunity to gain valuable experience running a team, scheduling games and creating practice drills. In 1994-95, Hanners guided the team to a record of 10-5 against many community colleges that give scholarships. He showed the same on-court coaching ability as did Roy Williams and Phil Ford, who also coached Carolina's JV squad.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Hanners graduated from Walnut Ridge High School, where he won a state championship while playing with Brad Hoffman and Ed Stahl, both of whom would eventually become Tar Heel teammates of Hanners.

A guard at Carolina in the mid-1970s, Hanners earned four letters and was a tri-captain of the 1976 team with Mitch Kupchak and Bill Chambers. As a senior, he helped lead the team to a 25-4 overall mark and a 13-1 record in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Although he was the backup point guard to Phil Ford his senior year, Hanners played a significant role in one of the most famous comebacks in Carolina history. In the opening round of the 1975 Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament, Carolina was trailing Wake Forest by eight points with only 50 seconds remaining.

Hanners contributed a key steal and a pair of assists in a rally that propelled the Tar Heels to a stunning one-point overtime victory. Spurred by that amazing comeback, North Carolina went on to capture the 1975 ACC Tournament crown. That year, Carolina had to win the ACC Tournament to earn a bid to the NCAA Tournament. That tournament victory also began Carolina's incredible run of 23 straight seasons in NCAA play, a streak that still exists.

In 1976 Hanners earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in English education from Carolina. After graduating, he worked on the Tar Heel staff for two years as a graduate assistant coach, helping Eddie Fogler with the junior varsity program. Hanners earned his Master of Arts degree in English education from UNC in 1978.

From 1978-80, Hanners worked as a high school head coach at the University School in Milwaukee, Wis., and in 1979-80 at Westover High School in Fayetteville, N.C.

After his high school coaching stint, Hanners entered the collegiate ranks, serving as an assistant coach at UNC Wilmington for three years, at Furman University for two years and at East Tennessee State University for four years.

Working under head coach Les Robinson, Hanners was in charge of the Buccaneers' recruiting efforts. In 1988-89, ETSU won the Southern Conference championship and was one point shy of eliminating NCAA Southeast Regional top seed Oklahoma in the first round of the tournament.

"Dave Hanners is an extremely excellent coach who has proven himself as a coach at the JV level, proven himself as a tremendous eye for talent when he was an assistant at East Tennessee, and an excellent recruiter at each of the places he has been," said former Tar Heel head coach Dean Smith. "As they say, he has the 'total package,' and it is just a matter of 'when' that he should move on as the head coach of a Division I school.

"He is extremely loyal and wants to do what is best for the University of North Carolina. Dave is the one coach in our office who is computer-oriented. He certainly is extremely important to any success that our squad can manage on and off the court."

ASSISTANT COACH PAT SULLIVAN

❑ Sullivan is beginning his first season as a Tar Heel assistant.

❑ Sullivan was a member of the 1993 NCAA Championship team.

❑ Sullivan is one of seven Carolina players to be a part of three Final Four teams. Sullivan played on the 1991, 1993 and 1995 Final Four teams.

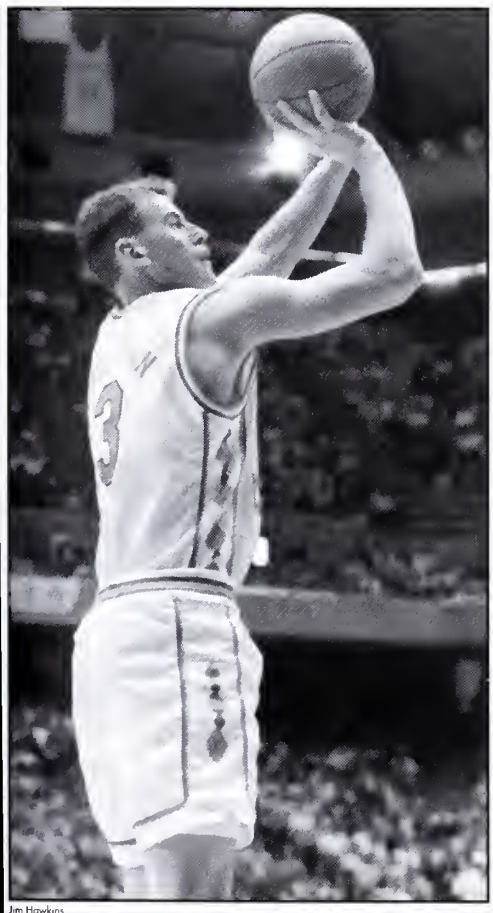
Pat Sullivan, one of only seven Carolina players to play on three Final Four teams, is in his first year as an assistant coach at his alma mater. Sullivan has spent the last two seasons on the Tar Heel basketball staff as an administrative assistant and assistant video coordinator.

Sullivan, a native of Bogota, N.J., played in 118 games for the Tar Heels from 1990-1995. He exemplified the unselfish nature for which Carolina teams have been known. After playing three seasons, he requested that he red-shirt the 1993-94 season. The following year, he missed the first 21 games due to ruptured discs in his back, but returned in time to play in the final 13 games, including the Final Four in Seattle.

He was a member of the regular playing rotation in 1992-93 when the Tar Heels went 34-4 and beat Michigan to win the NCAA Championship in New Orleans. Sullivan also played against Kansas in the 1991 Final Four in Indianapolis. He joins a list of Tar Heel players to play in three Final Fours that includes Joe Brown, Bill Bunting, Rusty Clark, Dick Grubar, Gerald Tuttle and Serge Zwikker.

Carolina played in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament championship game in all five of Sullivan's seasons. He is the only player in ACC history who has been a part of five consecutive ACC title games. UNC won ACC titles in 1991 and 1994. The Tar Heels posted an overall record of 142-33 in those five years.

He scored a total of 478 points, grabbed 223 rebounds and handed out 120 assists, but his value to the Tar Heels went far beyond those things found on the stat sheet. He was the recipient of the Rick Sharp Award, given to the player who contributed the most in practice and behind the scenes, in 1993-94. He was given the Butch Bennett Award as a freshman for determination, sportsmanship and sacrifice for the good of the team. As a senior in 1994-95, he was a team captain and recipient of the Foy Roberson Award, which is given to the Most Inspirational Player.



Jim Hawkins

A 77.4 percent free throw shooter for his career, Sullivan hit the front end of a key one-and-one with 20 seconds to play in the 1993 NCAA championship game. He had three points, a rebound and an assist in that championship game.

He also played a valuable role in the Tar Heels' NCAA Tournament second round win over Iowa State in 1995. He entered that contest late in the first half with UNC trailing by 14 points and scored six quick points to lead the Tar Heel comeback. He finished the game against Iowa State 4 for 4 from the floor with four rebounds, a block, a steal and an assist.

He averaged 4.1 points per game in his career, but had a season-high 6.4 point-per-game average in 1992-93 when he scored 245 points. He shot 51.8 percent from the floor and 78.9 percent from the line that year. As a 6-8, 220-pound small forward, Sullivan netted a career-high 18 points against Old Dominion on Dec. 1, 1992. He averaged 8.3 points and 3.3 rebounds over three games in the 1993 ACC Tournament and had nine points in the 1993 NCAA Tournament against Rhode Island.

Keith Worrell

As a sophomore he scored 14 points and added seven rebounds, two assists, three steals and a blocked shot in a win over Colorado. Later that year, he hit a pair of clutch free throws with just 38 seconds to play to tie Wake Forest in a game Carolina trailed by 20 points in the second half yet rallied to win by a basket.

Coach Smith substituted a first-year Sullivan into the 1991 NCAA East Regional final against Temple with just 8.6 seconds to play. A savvy player, Sullivan was sent into the game, despite being just a freshman, to inbound the ball under the Carolina basket and UNC holding a 73-72 advantage. Sullivan did get the ball in to King Rice, who was fouled and hit the game-clinching free throws.

Sullivan was the head coach at Hale High School in Raleigh in 1995-96. Single, he resides in Chapel Hill. His younger brother, Ryan, was a member of the UNC basketball team for the past three seasons.

A TRIBUTE TO DEAN SMITH

❑ Smith finished his career as the alltime winningest caach in basketball histary with 879 victaries.

❑ In 36 years, Smith caached Carolina ta 11 Final Faurs, twa natianal titles and 13 ACC Taurnament Champianships.

❑ Over 96 percent of Smith's lettermen graduated since his first year in 1961.

Consistency.

It is perhaps the trait that everyone in athletics most admires, the ability to accomplish something on a regular basis. Anyone can achieve a goal once or even twice, but to do it everyday or every year is the mark of true brilliance.

Sports fans, for example, like to say that "records are made to be broken."

They will also tell you there is one record that will always be safe— Joe DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak.

That may sound confusing, but it's an indication of the incredible awe with which the DiMaggio streak is viewed. To get a base-hit in each of 56 consecutive games is a stunning achievement.

It is a record of unbelievable consistency.

The incredible record of North Carolina Basketball Coach Dean Smith is a similar example of amazing consistency. The overall numbers alone are staggering.

But, the consistent manner with which they have been put together is even more remarkable.

In 36 seasons at Carolina Smith's teams had an alltime record of 879-254. His teams won more games than those of any other college coach in history.

However, that's only the beginning of what his UNC teams achieved.

• Under Smith, the Tar Heels won at least 20 games for 27 straight years and 30 of the past 31. No coach in history has ever produced that many consecutive 20-win seasons. In fact, no other coach has even won 20 games for 27 years.

• A 28-7 finish last season also gave Smith an NCAA-record 22nd season with at least 25 wins. Fresno State's Jerry Tarkanian ranks second in 25-win seasons with 14 and former UCLA Coach John Wooden is third with 11.

• From 1981 to 1989, Carolina was ranked in the final Top 10 of both the Associated Press and coaches' polls each year. That nine-year run is the second-longest streak of Top-10 finishes in history, exceeded only by UCLA's 13-year string from 1967 to 1979.

• In an era of tremendous competitiveness in the college game, the Tar Heels were ranked among the nation's final Top 15 teams 28 of the past 31 seasons, missing only in 1970, 1990 and 1996 and were among the Top 10 on 23 occasions during that period. Kentucky is second on the list with 23 appearances in the Final Top 15. Carolina teams coached by Smith finished the season ranked No. 1 in at least one of the two major polls four times (1982, 1984, 1993 and 1994).

• Smith's teams were also the dominant force in the Atlantic Coast Conference, arguably the nation's strongest overall basketball league. The Tar Heels under Smith had a record of 364-136 in ACC regular-season play, a winning percentage of .728.

• The Tar Heels finished at least third in the ACC regular-season standings for 33 successive seasons. In that span, Carolina finished first 17 times, second 11 times and third five times.

• Those 17 first-place finishes are the most ever by an ACC coach. Frank McGuire ranks second with six regular-season ACC titles.

• In 36 years of ACC competition, Smith's teams finished in the conference's upper division all but one time. That was in 1964 when UNC was fifth and had its only losing record in ACC regular-season play under Smith at 6-8.

Contrast that 36-year record of league success with the fact that since 1977 every other ACC school, with the exception of Florida State which has only been in the league five years, has finished last at least once in the regular-season standings.

• Carolina's sweep of the 1997 ACC Tournament was its 13th under Smith. Former coaches Vic Bubas of Duke and Everett Case of N.C. State rank second in ACC Tournament titles with four each.

• When Carolina advanced to the NCAA Final Four last season, it marked the 11th trip for one of Smith's teams to the national semi-finals. Only Wooden, with 12, has been there more often.

• Smith's teams made a record 23 consecutive appearances in the NCAA Tournament. Georgetown's John Thompson has the second-longest streak in history at Those numbers just begin to tell the story of what Dean Smith accomplished in his Carolina career. He has done more for his sport than perhaps any coach in history. Respected by fellow coaches, admired by his current and former players and acknowledged as one of the greatest minds in the game, Smith has accomplished nearly everything imaginable in his sport.

He's recognized throughout the sports world for his character, his innovations to the game and his ability to have established Carolina's program as one of the greatest in college basketball. Smith's players consistently produce on the floor, in the classroom and in life.

As in any vocation, it's one's peers who truly know the daily rigors of a job best and can most appreciate what it takes to excel in the competitive world of collegiate coaching. The accolades Smith has received over the years are an indication of the respect they have for him.

Those have been common throughout his career, but mushroomed last March as he surpassed Adolph Rupp as the coach whose teams have won the most game in college history.

Here are a few examples of what some coaches said when that milestone was reached:

Former Winston-Salem State Coach Bighouse Gaines: "I can't think of a more deserving coach to break that record than him. He's done so much for the game of basketball— I think it's terrific. He's a credit to the profession. He's not only a role model for the state of North Carolina, he's known throughout the world."

Former UCLA Coach John Wooden: "It's a tremendous accomplishment to break Coach Rupp's record. More than anything, it shows excellence over a long period of time. But what's more impressive to me about Dean than the record is how good he is as a teacher of basketball. I've always said he's a better teacher of basketball than anyone else. I couldn't begin to teach players the things Dean has taught them. I've admired him because there's more to him than just wins."

Indiana's Bob Knight: "Let me say some things that he won't say. He's going to say an awful lot about teams and that's the way it should be.

"But let me put it in perspective. His being able to do that and do it at a single institution, do it through all the years without ever having a problem with any kind of recruiting violation or probation, is a very singular accomplishment in college basketball. I think it's a great achievement, indicative of a guy who really knows how to coach and has decided from day one that things are going to be done the absolute right way.

"He's not going to tell you, but just take my word for it. That's a great, great accomplishment for a coach."

Missouri's Norm Stewart: "North Carolina had a great reputation when he took over, but he took that and built on it. In order to stay on top you've got to change, innovate and develop, and he's done that. He was ahead of his time. He was far ahead of everyone else in the use of personnel. We have to change rules because of Dean."

Princeton's Bill Carmody: "Every day in practice we mention his name because things are named after him. Fastbreak, they run this, transition offense, that's North Carolina this or that. When you start having things named after you, you've done something.

"It's an incredible thing. It's like Cy Young's record 511 wins. A 20-game winner for 25 years and you still can't beat the guy."

Mike Krzyzewski of Duke: "It's singularly such a tremendous accomplishment. People might say 'Yeah, you're at North Carolina and you've been there a number of years." You be there a number of years. You be competitive. And you be as consistent with excellence as he has been.

"So whatever is written about him in a positive sense he justly deserves. I know he'll give credit, as we all would, to the players who have played for us, but in this situation the praise for him should rise well above that for the players who played for him."

Kentucky Athletic Director C.M. Newton: "Coach Smith is a master innovator who is the best I've ever seen at dealing with a player individually."

Roy Williams of Kansas: "He has a basketball program, he doesn't have a team. And when you have a program, you're concerned about the kids' entire lives, their entire existence... and what they're going to do after they leave you and what kind of effect you can have on them as they mature.

"I think that's his greatest strength. I've always felt that he's the best there is on the court, but he's even better off the court in what he gives to those people who come in contact with him."

Dave Odom of Wake Forest: "What boggles the mind about him, at least to me, are the numbers of nights he's gone into the arena and been ready to compete on every single possession. I've not done it anywhere close to half as often and there are nights when it seems the season will never end. And yet, he's there, ready to go, always figuring out a way to beat you. Whenever I think about it, I shake my head in wonder."

DePaul's Pat Kennedy: "I think the more you mature in this business, the more you appreciate two things: longevity and excellence. To put both of them together in one package, as Dean has, is incredible. He has created the IBM of college basketball. It's mind-boggling what he has done."

Bobby Cremins of Georgia Tech: "Dean has always been the guy you shoot for. He's always been at the top. It just seemed like his team was the best one every year. His teams were special. He set the standard."

Former Virginia Coach and current Athletic Director Terry Holland: "He has been a target for all of us who coached in the ACC to shoot for. It is not always the most pleasant position to be in. The Carolina program was the measuring stick to everybody who came into the league. He has been willing to be the measuring stick. He helped create national exposure not only for North Carolina, but also for the other ACC teams as well and made us all improve our programs."

Virginia's Jeff Jones: "I think the sheer numbers of wins he has is remarkable. But when you look at the consistent way his teams have achieved this, it's amazing. This is probably the most competitive time in college basketball and he's still going strong.

"That says a lot about him as a recruiter, about him as an organizer and as a coach. We're talking about a team, a total team. When I look at the big picture, the consistency just smacks me in the face."

Consistency.

Coaches certainly recognize its importance and the work it takes to maintain a program at Carolina's level on a year-in, year-out basis. There are more good players than ever in college basketball. Competition is tougher than it has ever been in the past. That's what makes the accomplishments of Smith's teams more incredible.

And it is the teams that Smith says deserve any recognition which has come his way. The players, he points out, are the ones who make the plays, stop the opposition and face the pressure of winning and losing games.

Carolina has certainly had its share of sensational players. But, it was Smith who molded them into great teams by stressing unselfish play on offense and emphasizing hard-nosed defense on the other end of the court.

That's why he received praise for years and not just because of his all-time record.

In the December 1993 issue of College Sports magazine, Smith was hailed by his fellow NCAA Division I coaches as the coaching colleague they respected the most. In a survey of 46 Division I basketball coaches, Smith topped the most respected category and was second in the most feared category behind Indiana's Knight. The latter was based on the question, "Who would you least like to face in a big game?"

The results of a 1986 Dallas Morning News poll of college head coaches also revealed resounding admiration

❑ Only four times in cooch Smith's 36 yeors did the Tor Heels foil to hit 50 percent from the floor.

❑ Smith is the author of Bosketboll: Multiple Offenses and Defense, which hos been tronsloted into several foreign longuages ond is the best-selling technicol bosketboll book in history.

for Smith. In a survey of head coaches at that season's NCAA Final Four, Smith received 49 votes as the nation's top basketball coach.

At the 1995 NCAA Final Four, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer conducted a poll of all attending coaches. The paper asked, "If you could spend one hour talking with one living person about college basketball, who would it be?" The top three answers were UCLA's Wooden, Knight and Smith.

Perhaps his greatest form of praise on a worldwide level came when a group of his peers, including Hall of Fame coaches Henry Iba, Pete Newell and Red Auerbach, chose Smith to coach the U.S. Olympic basketball team in the 1976 Montreal Games. The Americans had finished a controversial second to the Soviet Union at Munich in 1972. Smith was given the challenge of trying to develop a team to regain the Gold Medal against a group of improving international teams.

He promptly named his long-time Carolina assistant, Bill Guthridge, and Georgetown's John Thompson, to be his assistants on the Olympic Team staff. Smith's teaching skills were put to a one of its toughest tests. In the international game, it's not about building character and preparing young men for life, it's about winning under extreme pressure.

Smith molded a group of college all-stars into a cohesive unit during a few short weeks in that summer of 1976 and led them to the gold medal, sweeping through the Games undefeated and beating Yugoslavia in the championship game. Emphasizing a tough pressure defense and a fast-breaking, attacking style on offense, the Americans returned to the top of the international game.

Four of Smith's Tar Heels — Walter Davis, Phil Ford, Mitch Kupchak and Tommy LaGarde — played on that 1976 U.S. Team. In fact, Smith has had at least one player on eight of the last nine U.S. Olympic teams, dating back to the 1964 games in Tokyo when Larry Brown was named to the squad. In addition to the quartet in 1976, this group has included Charlie Scott in 1968 in Mexico City, Bobby Jones in 1972 in Munich, Al Wood in 1980 (although the U.S. boycotted the Moscow Olympics), Michael Jordan and Sam Perkins in 1984 in Los Angeles, J.R. Reid in 1988 in Seoul and Jordan again in 1992 in Barcelona. In addition, former Tar Heel player Henrik Rodl was the starting point guard on the 1992 German Olympic Team.

Just as Smith used his talents to develop that 1976 all-star team into an Olympic champion, he has prepared a host of players for successful careers in the NBA.

"UNC is a plus-four school," according to Orlando Magic Vice President of Basketball Operations-Player Personnel John Gabriel, "meaning that if I rate a player as the 10th-best player in the NBA Draft, being a Tar Heel automatically jumps him to number six. The plus-four rating is based upon the success of former Tar Heels in the NBA."

Carolina had 15 former players active in the NBA at one time or another last season, more than any other school.

The Miami Heat's Pat Riley, who coached former Tar Heel standout James Worthy to three world titles with the Los Angeles Lakers, is another believer in Smith's program.

"We always look for players from North Carolina," said Riley a few years ago. "If we could draft players every year from North Carolina, we'd do it. You know they know how to play. The players are so full of character like James and Michael Jordan. I have a lot of respect for Coach Smith. I'm the beneficiary of a man who has taught all these guys how to play the game. When they come to the pros, they're refined. They're ready to step right in."

While statistics can sometimes be misleading, in Smith's case the figures are just too overwhelming to ignore.

During the past 31 seasons, since Smith's Tar Heels won their first ACC title in 1967, Carolina has been among the most dominant teams in the history of the game. The Tar Heels have a record of 813-207 in that span, winning 79.7 percent of their games. That's an average record of 26-7 per year.

In 23 of those 31 seasons, Carolina has won either the regular-season or tournament title or both. That level of consistency would be an amazing feat for any college basketball program, but it is particularly significant in a league as competitive as the ACC.

Most schools are happy just to win 20 games in a season. At Carolina, it's become a habit. No school in the country has won more total games in that 31-year period than Carolina. UCLA is second with 751 victories. The Tar Heels also have the most wins over the last 20 seasons with 539, and over the last 10 years with 268.

Smith's teams earned 27 or more wins in 14 of the past 17 seasons.

Carolina's record under Smith is even more amazing given the fact the Tar Heels not only play in the rugged ACC, but also regularly have faced one of the country's toughest non-conference schedules. Those assignments were even more difficult for, as Holland pointed out, a win over North Carolina is a top priority for every school the Tar Heels play.

Even opposing coaches had admitted there's something special about Smith's Tar Heel program.

When Joe Wolf, a Wisconsin native and recruiting target of Marquette, signed with Carolina a few years ago, Rick Majerus, then the Warrior head coach, said he couldn't argue with that decision.

"Joe made a good choice," said Majerus, now the head coach at Utah. "North Carolina may very well be the best program in the country, and Dean Smith may very well be the best coach of all time."

For Smith and his players, the word "class" applied to the team's exemplary sportsmanship on the court, to its excellent academic performance and to Smith's belief that basketball involves many complexities that must be learned over the course of time — that coaching and playing the game is a classroom situation in its own right. The Tar Heels' astounding consistency on the court was due in large part to Smith's efforts to teach his players the fundamentals and the intricacies of the sport.

That dedication, along with a graduation rate among his lettermen of 96.6 percent, have been instrumental in Carolina's success.

"I think he is the number one guy in America," said Bill Frieder, the former Michigan coach whose Wolverines were beaten in the 1987 NCAA Tournament second round by Smith's Tar Heels. "He's always there. It isn't like Louisville or Villanova, where they win it all one year and they're way down the next. Even Indiana finished way down in our league a couple of years ago. But with Dean and Carolina, year after year, they're there."

Without compromising a commitment to academic excellence, Smith's teams have won championships at every level. There were NCAA titles in 1982 and 1993 and a sweep of the National Invitation Tournament in 1971. His gold medal-winning team at the 1976 Summer Olympic Games makes Smith one of only three men in history to coach teams to that troika of an NCAA title, NIT championship and Olympic victory. The others are Pete Newell of California and Indiana's Knight.

Smith's coaching skills and dedication to playing with class are the reasons he was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1983. He was also inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1981.

Former Marquette Coach Al McGuire once said of him, "If anyone was born to be a coach, it's Dean Smith. He's the Jack Armstrong-type person."

A key to Smith's success has been his ability to change Carolina's style to fit his personnel. He favored an offense which used the fast break whenever possible and featured a quick passing attack. But, he was also comfortable in a more disciplined style of play.

He liked to play multiple defenses to confuse opponents. However, his preference was a pressure, man-to-man to speed up the action.

Smith had tremendous rapport with his players and that was an important aspect of what he has accomplished. He had an uncanny talent for getting the best out of all his players, from his many All-Americas to the last guys on the bench.

The fast-breaking attack, great teamwork in a set offense and steals produced by the defense resulted in a number of easy baskets. Along with good shot selection, those things have helped Carolina annually rank among the best shooting teams in the nation. Only four times since 1970 has Carolina failed to hit 50 percent from the field as a team. Even in those four seasons, Carolina topped the ACC in field goal shooting each year — 49.8 percent in 1990, 49.9 percent in 1994 (and fifth nationally) 49.2 percent in 1996 and 47.9 percent in 1997. Those figures all came after the three-point field goal was added to the rules.

Among Smith's many innovations are the run-and-jump defense, the scramble defense out of man-to-man pressure defense, the point zone, team huddles at the foul line, double-teamming the screen-and-roll, the free-lance passing game and multiple screens against zone defenses.

"Dean is one of the most organized and brilliant minds that I've ever met in basketball," says Georgetown's John Thompson. "He shared ideas and thoughts and philosophies with me that people just don't share with people, and I will always be grateful and respect him for that. He did me a tremendous favor. One of the greatest gifts you can share with somebody is the knowledge that you have."

Smith's amazing knack for being such a good instructor developed early. Born February 28, 1931, in Emporia, Kan., Dean Edwards Smith grew up as the son of public school teachers. He graduated from Topeka High School in 1949 and went to the University of Kansas on an academic scholarship. He played varsity basketball and baseball and freshman football for the Jayhawks. He was a member of Jayhawk basketball teams that won the NCAA championship in 1952 and finished second in 1953.

After graduating from Kansas, Smith served as an assistant coach at his alma mater to Phog Allen and Dick Harp and then served in the U.S. Air Force as a lieutenant. While in the service, he played and coached basketball in Germany. Smith served for three years as an assistant basketball coach under Bob Spear, recognized by his peers as one of the outstanding coaches in the history of the game, and one year each as head baseball and head golf coach at the United States Air Force Academy. In 1958, the late Frank McGuire asked him to join his staff at Carolina as an assistant coach. Smith served as an assistant under McGuire for three years before McGuire resigned to become head coach of the NBA's Philadelphia Warriors in the summer of 1961. At that time, Carolina Chancellor William Aycock tapped the 30-year-old Smith to become UNC's head coach.

Since Smith taught the fundamentals and complexities of basketball so well, former Tar Heel players, assistant coaches and managers have moved on to enjoy very successful careers in all fields of endeavor.

Smith shared his knowledge of the game with a talented group of assistants. Former Tar Heel player and assistant coach Larry Brown led Kansas to the 1988 NCAA championship, UCLA to the 1980 NCAA championship game and has rejuvenated the fortunes of many NBA teams, his most current assignment being the Philadelphia 76ers. When Brown left Kansas in 1988 to coach the San Antonio Spurs, the Jayhawks plucked its new coach from the ranks of Smith's staff, choosing Roy Williams, a 10-year assistant.

In only his third year Williams led the Kansas to the NCAA championship game. Williams' Jayhawks returned to the Final Four again in 1993, losing to Smith's Tar Heels in the semifinals.

Two of Smith's former assistants, John Lotz and Kenny Rosemond, left Carolina to take head coaching jobs at Florida and Georgia, respectively, and each was named the Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year. Lotz currently serves as an assistant athletic director at Carolina.

Eddie Fogler, like Brown both a player and an assistant coach under Smith at UNC, left Carolina in 1986 after 15 years as an assistant to take over the head coaching job at Wichita State. He quickly rebuilt the Shockers' program to national respectability, taking them to the NCAA Tournament his first two seasons and the NIT the third.

He moved to Vanderbilt for the 1989-90 season, succeeding C.M. Newton as head coach, and in his first season with the Commodores, led them to the NIT championship, after having been picked to finish eighth in the SEC in the preseason. In 1993, Fogler led Vanderbilt to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament and the SEC Championship over NCAA semifinalist Kentucky, and he was named National Coach of the Year by several organizations. He's now in his fourth year as the head coach at South Carolina where his team was one of the nation's biggest surprises last year, sweeping both its games with Kentucky.

Guthridge, Smith's assistant at Carolina for 30 seasons, received numerous head coaching offers during his stint at UNC. Guthridge, however, made a career decision to stay in Chapel Hill and not pursue head coaching positions. He was named Carolina's head coach on October 9, 1997.

That's not the case with Randy Wiel, who resigned in the spring of 1993 to become the head coach at the University of North Carolina at Asheville and is now in his second year at Middle Tennessee State. Former Tar Heel Buzz Peterson, who played on the 1982 national championship team is beginning his second season as Appalachian State's head coach.

Smith's talents do not lie solely in tutoring quality college coaches as is evidenced by the number of outstanding players who have gone on to professional careers after their days in Chapel Hill. In Smith's 36-year tenure, over 50 of his players have gone on to play pro basketball in the National Basketball Association or American Basketball Association and many more have played in other professional leagues both in the United States and overseas.

In the 1993 NBA playoffs, North Carolina had a former player on at least one team in all eight first round matchups, a rather astonishing feat. The list included Michael Jordan and Scott Williams of the three-time world champion Chicago Bulls, Brad Daugherty of the Cleveland Cavaliers, the New York Knicks' Hubert Davis, Boston Celtic Rick Fox, Kenny Smith of the Houston Rockets, Joe Wolf of the Portland Trailblazers, San Antonio Spur J.R. Reid, Sam Perkins of the Seattle Sonics and Los Angeles Laker James Worthy. In addition, former Tar Heel George Karl coached the Sonics to the Western Conference finals that year.

In 1994, former Carolina backcourt players Kenny Smith and Hubert Davis went head-to-head in the NBA finals with Smith's Houston Rockets prevailing over Davis' New York Knicks four games to three. As the Rockets repeated as world champions in 1995, Kenny Smith was joined by former Tar Heel Pete Chilcutt as keys to Houston's success.

In 1996, Jordan once again led the Bulls to the NBA Championship, capturing regular-season MVP honors along the way. In the NBA finals, Jordan and the Bulls defeated Karl's Sonics team which included Perkins.

After playing in Smith's program at Carolina, most Tar Heels have made a smooth transition to the rigors of the professional game. Five of Smith's players have won rookie-of-the-year awards in either the NBA or ABA, including Charlie Scott, Robert McAdoo, Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Jordan. Twelve Tar Heels have been named to the NBA All-Rookie first or second teams, including Philadelphia 76er Jerry Stackhouse in 1996.

In addition, Jordan, McAdoo and Billy Cunningham are Smith protégés who have won either NBA or ABA Most Valuable Player honors. And a check of NBA championship teams from the past 25 years or so will find many a player listing Carolina as his alma mater, including the Bulls' Jordan in 1991, 1992, 1993, 1996 and 1997; Williams of the Bulls in 1991, 1992 and 1993; the Rockets' Smith in 1994 and 1995; and Chilcutt, who was also with the Rockets in 1995.

"Coming out of high school I had all the ability in the world, but I didn't know the game," says Jordan, a five-time NBA MVP. "Coach taught me the game, when to apply speed, how to use your quickness, when to use that first step, or how to apply certain skills in certain situations. I gained all that knowledge so that when I got to the pros, it was just a matter of applying the information. Dean Smith gave me the knowledge to score 37 points a game and that's something people don't understand."

Former Chicago Bulls Coach Kevin Loughery, who coached the Bulls when Jordan came into the league in 1984-85, credited Smith for the manner in which Jordan handled his rather instant and incredible popularity as a pro player.

"Michael has had the most media hype I've ever seen in professional basketball, and I was around Dr. J for three years," said Loughery. "He has handled it all extremely well. It is a tremendous tribute to the way Dean Smith, who is one of the greatest coaches of all time, handled this guy. You can see his training. We are very fortunate that he has had that coaching background."

Bobby Jones, who was named to the NBA's All-Defensive Team nine times in his career, once gave Smith credit for the success of his professional career in an interview with the New York Times.

"If I had gone to any other school, I would probably not have been in pro basketball," said Jones. "I was a shy and gangly kid, not very well coordinated when I started playing basketball in junior high school. At North Carolina, they gave me the tools to play in the pros, and I don't want to forget it."

In his 36 years at Carolina, Smith coached players who went on to become doctors, lawyers and businessmen. Many of them attribute their success to the skills and lessons they carried over from their time as a player under Smith.

"He was always very supportive and has provided me with invaluable insight for most of the major decisions I've made since 1971," says Charles Waddell, Assistant Director of Business Operations for the NFL's Carolina Panthers. "He is one of the best teachers I've had. He taught us to work hard, to sacrifice for the good of the team, to maximize your strengths and minimize your weaknesses. Although he taught us these lessons through basketball, they have provided me with a strong foundation for life."

Here are more examples of what some of his former players have said about him in the past:

Indiana Pacers' President Donnie Walsh: "He was great. I could really relate to him. Basketballwise, he hit me with things defensively I had never heard before. I thought, 'No one has ever told me to do this, but it works.'

"When basketball was over, he cared about how you were fitting in socially and academically. And it wasn't just lip service. I just thought that he sincerely cared about me.

"I'm in a situation now where I can really appreciate what he does. I know how basketball is looked upon down there. I know it means a lot. I know how losing affects some of the people who live down there. He never lets winning become everything for his players. He insulated them from all that pressure."

Seattle Coach George Karl: "I don't think any of the lettermen can really express the family atmosphere that he's built, the tradition that he's built of loyalty and camaraderie. It's a fraternity that's very much admired by basketball people in the world. We get a lot of abuse because of our loyalty to one another, but we love being a part of it."

"The meaning of tradition doesn't exist in sports anymore. It's fading, from the Yankees to the Steelers to the Dodgers. The great tradition in pro basketball is fading because of free agency and college basketball because of guys leaving to go pro.

"North Carolina still remains very, very special. The loyalty is unprecedented. The man behind it all is Coach Smith."

Michael Jordan: "The camaraderie that he has with his players goes a long way. He's taught a lot of us similar traits and we've accepted that and we've moved on as players and people. That's something we treasure more so than maybe our basketball experience—the things that we learned away from the game.

"He's like a second father to me. When I first left school I was unsure, nervous, scared, going into a situation I wasn't really comfortable with and I didn't know if I was ready for it. He calmed me down with a fatherly attitude, taking me under his wing and teaching me a lot of things about being an adult.

Dean Smith receives a hug from Antawn Jamison following Smith's 877th victory over Colorado in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Phil Ford: "My first impression of Coach Smith was honesty."

"He didn't promise me playing time. In fact, he told me I might have to play on the junior varsity my first year.

"That kind of set me back. But my mom really liked that because she said 'Phil, if he's not out here promising you that you will start, that means you go there and work hard and do the best that you can do, then he won't be out promising your job to another high school player.' And if you think about it, that made a lot of sense."

Philadelphia 76er Coach Larry Brown: "Nobody's done it better over a longer period of time than he has.

"He has won in the '60's, '70's, '80's and '90's and if you look at his teams, they've always been innovative, he hasn't been lost or left behind. He's always stayed ahead. He's kept young, he's learned to deal with all kinds of athletes and the changes we've all faced."

❑ In 36 seasons at Carolina, Smith's teams had a record of 364-136 in ACC play, a winning percentage of .728.

Smith ranks as the winningest coach in the history of the NCAA Tournament. Last season, he increased his total career NCAA Tournament wins to 65. Wooden is second on the list with 47 career victories.

And in 36 ACC Tournaments, he had a coaching record of 58-23, a winning percentage of .716.

A few years ago at the NCAA Southeast Regional in Lexington, Ky., Eddie Sutton of Oklahoma State was in awe of Carolina's 12th straight appearance in the Final 16.

"It's an unbelievable record, because things aren't like they used to be. They're tougher," said Sutton. "Their program allows them to do well during the year, but you get into the tournament and everybody's good and you have to win or it's time to pack your bags—it's just amazing."

Smith, who played for the legendary Phog Allen at Kansas in the early 1950s, is also one of only two men to both play on and coach an NCAA championship team. Smith was a member of the Jayhawk squad that won college basketball's top prize in 1952. He then coached the Tar Heels to national titles in 1982 and 1993. Knight is the other person to accomplish the feat. Knight played on Ohio State's 1960 championship team and then coached Indiana to three titles.

Certainly, one of the highlights of Smith's coaching career came in the form of Carolina's NCAA championship in 1982. The Tar Heels began that year ranked No. 1 in both polls, ended the regular season the same way and won the NCAA Tournament by beating Georgetown, 63-62, in the title game. Carolina's wire-to-wire first-place finish is one of the few times in college basketball history that has been accomplished. The championship game with Georgetown still is considered one of the best-played and most exciting title contests in 58 years of the post-season classic.

The 1993 NCAA championship was also won in New Orleans, where ironically the Tar Heels had won the 1982 title. Again going down to the wire just as the 1982 game did, this championship was not decided until Carolina's Pat Sullivan and Donald Williams sank several crucial free throws in the closing moments to ensure a win over Michigan.

Carolina has now gone 31 successive years with a postseason tournament invitation. In 27 of those seasons, including the last 23 in succession, Carolina was invited to play in the NCAA Tournament. In 1970, 1971, 1973 and 1974, Carolina was invited to play in the NIT, winning the championship in 1971 and finishing third in 1973. But those appearances came before the NCAA opened its tournament in 1975 to admit more than one member from any conference.

Smith is a great goodwill ambassador for the University and the sport of basketball worldwide. He is called upon to give lectures at basketball clinics all over the globe. Smith is a past president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches and was the only basketball coach among a group of college presidents and administrators who served on the NCAA Select Committee, which is credited with many legislative improvements in college athletics, in the early 1980s. The committee was called upon by the NCAA membership to study many of the problems facing intercollegiate athletics in the modern era.

Smith is also the author of Basketball: Multiple Offenses and Defenses, which has been translated into several foreign languages and is the best-selling technical basketball book in history.

Smith's ability to teach the fundamentals of life and basketball to his players has earned him many honors. He won the prestigious Golden Plate Award from the American Academy of Achievement, which honors people from all fields. The list of other coaches to win the award include Wooden, the late Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, the late Bear Bryant of Alabama, Joe Paterno of Penn State and Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys.

After taking Carolina to the NCAA championship game in 1977, Smith was named National Coach of the Year by the NABC. He received similar honors from the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and Basketball Weekly in 1979 and from Medalist in 1982. He was named the Naismith National Coach of the Year in 1993 after leading the Tar Heels to the national crown.

In 1993, the Atlantic Coast Sportswriters Association named Smith the ACC Coach of the Year, an honor he has received on seven other occasions as well—1967, 1968, 1971, 1976, 1977, 1979 and 1988.

Smith has received honorary doctorates from Eastern College in St. Davids, Pa., and Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C. In 1984, he was cited by his alma mater, Kansas, with the Distinguished Service Citation. This honor is the highest KU bestows upon an individual to acknowledge outstanding achievements for the betterment of society and on behalf of mankind.

In addition to basketball, Smith especially enjoys golf, music and reading. He also has a special interest in theology.

Smith's wife, Linnea, is a physician. He has five children. Daughters Mrs. Sandy Combs and Mrs. Sharon Kepley and son Scott are all Carolina graduates, while daughters Kristen Caroline and Kelly Marie are both at Chapel Hill High School. Coach Smith also has five grandchildren. Tim and Sharon Kepley have a son, Drew, and a daughter, Megen; Scott and Kelli Haynor Smith have a daughter, Morgan Kay, and a son, Brian Dean; and Sandy and Steve Combs have a son, Luke.

"Two things never change: my pregame meal and my Carolina blue shorts. I wear my Carolina shorts every game, every day. Every single day of my life since I left college. I just feel comfortable with them on. That's where it all started for me. As long as I have these shorts on, and I have them on whether I'm playing a game or wearing a suit, I feel confident. That whole memory keeps me going. That differentiates me from other players, I think. That was the foundation of my game, of my career."

What is the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus and holds a status comparable to the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation and other fund-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation was established to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or purchase of equipment.

How much support does the Educational Foundation actually provide? Since its founding in 1938, the Educational Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, to over 7,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 will be awarded scholarships during the 1997-98 school year at a cost of close to $5.3 million.

Is the Educational Foundation similar to a booster club? Absolutely not. It is a foundation in every sense of the word. The Educational Foundation operates in compliance with all rules and regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference. It is a tax-exempt entity as recognized by the Internal Revenue Service.

What are the different levels of giving to the Educational Foundation?

Little Ram ($50) — Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $50 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, the location of which is subject to the point system; gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games; participate in football and basketball ticket exchanges; purchase group travel packages; receive the RamPage Newsletter, car window decals and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) — In addition to that above, a Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase mini-season basketball ticket packages when available and receive football and basketball media guides.

Rameses ($300) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of two season football tickets; additional tickets may be purchased, location subject to the point system.

Big Ram ($600) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of four season football tickets and receive an assigned parking space.

Super Ram ($1,200) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of up to eight season football tickets and receive an assigned parking space.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program? Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $15,000 and $30,000 life memberships as well as $50,000 and $100,000 endowed scholarships which may be set up through various giving vehicles.

In addition, the Foundation just concluded a $35 million campaign to renovate and expand Kenan Stadium.

Does the Foundation have chapters at the local level? There are currently 45 local Educational Foundation chapters which meet once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an early opportunity to hear about recruiting, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who provides the leadership for the Educational Foundation? The Foundation's outside officers include a Chairman, three Vice-Chairmen, a Secretary, Treasurer, Counsel and Past Chairman. These officers, together with the at-large members and an Investment Committee, comprise the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is the decision-making body of the Educational Foundation and reports its actions to the Board of Directors.

The leadership within the Foundation office is provided by Moyer G. Smith. He is in his 10th year as President. He was appointed to the position in December 1986. There are also five vice-presidents within the office: John D. Cherry, Executive Vice-President; Neal B. Harrell, V.P. for Donor Services; Sue Walsh Stankavage, V.P. for Endowment; and Dawn D. McPherson, Administrative V.P. Effective August 1992, Ernie Williamson retired as V.P. for Endowment but continues to serve as a V.P./consultant to the Foundation.

Where are the Educational Foundation offices located? The offices are located in the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium adjacent to the Dean E. Smith Center.

How can one become a contributor to the Educational Foundation? By contacting the Educational Foundation at (919) 962-2393 or by writing P.O. Box 2446, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

❒ As the nation's first state university, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was chartered in 1789. The cornerstone of its first building, Old East, was laid in 1793 and opened to students in 1795. Carolina was the only public university to award degrees to students in the 18th century.

❒ Carolina's 13 colleges and schools offer programs in more than 100 fields leading to 95 bachelor's, 169 master's and 109 doctoral degrees, as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy, law and library science. Five health-affairs schools, which help comprise one of the most complete academic medical centers in the country, are well-integrated with a prestigious liberal arts program.

❒ Among the most comprehensive universities in the United States, UNC belongs to the select group of 62 research campuses forming the Association of American Universities.

❒ The 729-acre central campus, once called "The Noble Grove," is among the nation's most beautiful. It includes the two oldest state university buildings, Old East and Person Hall. Old East, a residence hall, and Playmakers Theatre, an 1852 Greek-revival building, are National Historic Landmarks.

Recent National Rankings

❒ In U.S. News & World Report magazine's "American's Best Colleges" issue:

Carolina was third among public universities and tied for 25th among all public and private universities, up from 27th the previous year and the school's highest spot since 1991.

The university was first in best value among national universities based on "sticker price" and 24th for "discount price."

The Kenan-Flagler Business School's undergraduate program tied for 5th overall; its general management program ranked fourth.

❒ In Kaplan/Newsweek magazine's "How to Get into College" guide:

Carolina was one of just 12 U.S. campuses called "first-rate schools at bargain prices."

The Bell Tower

"The trees and flowers of Chapel Hill are unforgettable. The great, protective trees are everywhere – pine, hardwood, evergreen – and make the village seem still a part of the forest which once covered this whole section. And the flowers – careless, extravagant – which deck the town are something that a boy, kicking along the quiet street, may just accept and take for granted. ...But when he's been away a long, long time and then comes back, a boy no longer, he sees and recognizes them as loved old friends."

Students

❒ Some 24,141 students come from all 100 North Carolina counties, the other 49 states and more than 100 countries studied at UNC in 1996-97. About 64 percent are enrolled as undergraduates, 28 percent in graduate programs, and 8 percent in professional programs.

❒ Nearly 69 percent of incoming freshmen graduated in the top 10th of their high-school classes.

❒ More than 30 percent of incoming freshmen scored 1,300 or higher on their SATs. More than 57 percent scored 1,200 or above. The average SAT score among in-state incoming freshmen was 1,222; the average among out-of-state students was 1,289.

❒ Sixty-two percent of the 3,208 freshmen who enrolled in 1992 graduated after four years, a rate significantly higher than the 35-percent average among colleges in the Association of American Universities. For the class starting in 1991, Carolina's five-year graduation rate of nearly 82 percent was 20 points above the AAU average.

❒ The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education reported in 1996 that Carolina ranked third among all state-supported universities nationwide in its six-year graduation rate, 64 percent, for the blacks who entered the university between 1986 and 1989. In 1995, for the first time ever, Carolina's freshman retention rate of 94.4 percent was the same for white and black students, according to the Office of Institutional Research. The freshman retention rate refers to the percentage of freshmen who return to campus for their sophomore year.

The Old Well

❒ Ten Carolina students have been selected as Rhodes Scholars since 1980. Carolina has been represented by 33 Rhodes Scholars since the program began in 1902. UNC, the alma mater of the first black woman recipient, has been one of the nation's most successful public universities in the Rhodes competition.

❒ Ninety-three percent of Carolina's 1996 graduating seniors said they were satisfied with the quality of the education they received at Chapel Hill, with 43.5 percent saying they were very satisfied. When surveyed upon their admission to Carolina in 1992, 88 percent of the group said that the university's academic reputation was a "very positive" factor in their decision to apply to Carolina.

❒ Sixty-two percent of Carolina's graduate students remain in North Carolina five years after graduation.

❒ Thirty-five percent of its out-of-state graduate students still live in North Carolina five years after graduation and 25 percent after 10 years.

❒ More than 210,224 living alumni reside in all 50 states and 129 foreign countries.

Faculty

❒ Carolina's full-time faculty of 2,417 includes professors who hold or have held major positions in virtually every national scholarly or professional association. Overall, more than 90 percent of Carolina's faculty members have earned their field's highest degree.

❒ Many faculty members have been elected to some of the nation's most prestigious academic organizations, including 10 current members of the National Academy of Sciences, 18 of the academy's Institute of Medicine, six of the National Academy of Engineering and 25 of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

❒ Carolina's average student-teacher ratio is 14 to one. A fall 1992 study found that only 5.4 percent of 2,083 undergraduate class sections contained 100 or more students; 7.8 percent contained 50 to 99 students. Estimated average enrollment is 40 for freshman lecture classes, 30 for upper division lecture courses.

❒ Dr. Darryl Gless, professor of English, was appointed by President Bill Clinton to serve on the National Council on the Humanities, the official advisory board of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

❒ Dr. Joseph S. Pagano of the School of Medicine and John L. Sanders of the Institute of Government were among the 1996 winners of the North Carolina Awards, the highest civilian honor given by the governor. Pagano was cited as an internationally renowned researcher of viruses, human cancer, antiviral drug therapies and AIDS. Sanders was recognized for his pivotal role in public policy-making for the state and the UNC system for more than 30 years.

❒ Carolina boasts more endowed chairs held by black faculty members than any other university in the country, according to an ongoing study published in the Journal of Blacks in Higher Education and conducted by Chuck Stone, Spearman Professor of Journalism and Mass Communication.

❒ The Kenan-Flagler Business School was named the 1996 Outstanding Educational Institution of the Year by the National Black MBA Association's Raleigh chapter for its efforts to encourage blacks to enter the field of business.

Research

❒ In 1996, UNC attracted sponsored research, including grants and contracts from government and private agencies, totaling more than $248.9 million. That figure has risen sharply — up from $78.6 million in 1985 and about $70 million in 1980. Since 1981, outside research funding at UNC has increased more than 350 percent.

❒ In 1995-96, UNC received $139 million from the National Institutes of Health and ranked 12th in the nation among universities receiving NIH funding. Only four state-supported universities received more NIH funding.

❒ Carolina ranks among the nation's top 20 research universities in the amount of total federal support for research.

❒ Each dollar invested in Carolina creates an estimated $4 in net earnings. That's a four-to-one return, and it means that sponsored programs at UNC contribute about $1 billion and some 15,000 jobs to the state's economy.

❒ UNC contributes skilled employees to the North Carolina economy: 60 percent of the dentists, 40 percent of the attorneys, 43 percent of the physicians, 15 percent of the city managers and more than 10 percent of the college and university professors.

❒ In 1996-97, UNC was awarded 21 patents, all as a result of research conducted at the university. During fiscal 1996, UNC disclosed 91 inventions and licensed 35 of them. Since 1979, seven new high-tech companies have been created as a direct result of UNC inventions. New research initiatives that promise valuable new technologies are based in areas such as environmental science, gene therapy, biomaterials science and neuroscience.

❒ Carolina, Duke and N.C. State will share a $1.4 million grant from the National Science Foundation to connect to a new high-speed, research-oriented version of the Internet. Called Internet II, the network will link about 100 leading research universities. The grant was part of a 35-school, $12.3 million package announced by Vice President Al Gore in May 1997. The new network will allow universities to share research without having to compete for bandwidth along with businesses and Internet "surfers."

❒ Carolina chemists have developed a significantly improved method of synthesizing promising antiviral drugs for people with AIDS, hepatitis B and other deadly illnesses. The new method is faster and possibly cheaper than those now used to create the compounds.

❒ AIDS researchers at Carolina are studying a new combination of three drugs that promise to be the best treatment yet for people infected with the virus that causes AIDS.

❒ U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley named the Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center the National Center to Enhance Early Learning and Development, the only university-based facility aimed at boosting U.S. children's intellectual and social development. The recognition will bring grants expected to total nearly $14 million from the National Institute on Early Childhood Development and Education to support center activities over the next five years.

❒ Using genetic engineering techniques, UNC medical researchers have created "knock-out" mouse models to help better understand and treat several deadly diseases and health conditions. In 1992, researchers at the Cystic Fibrosis Center created the first animal model for the nation's leading fatal genetic illness.

❒ Computer scientists are pioneers in virtual worlds research, using sophisticated computer technology to create realistic but imaginary worlds. Applications may help doctors fight cancer and biochemists design new drugs.

❒ The Lineberger Comprehensive Cancer Center is one of 26 National Cancer Institute-designated comprehensive cancer centers in the United States. In 1994, NCI awarded it a five-year, $11.3 million grant for cancer research.

Public Service

❒ Carolina's public service activities and programs easily reach more than 400,000 people each year, according to conservative estimates in the most recent self-study completed for the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities. Carolina's service programs extend to every region of North Carolina, helping communities protect public health, deliver better medical services, stimulate business, plan for new growth, understand their heritage and enrich the quality of life.

❒ The William and Ida Friday Continuing Education Center, headquarters for the Division of Continuing Education, reached more than 68,000 participants through more than 1,000 events in 1996-97.

❒ Created in 1984 by the N.C. General Assembly, the Principals' Executive Program based at Carolina provides the state's public school superintendents, principals and other administrators with the latest management and leadership skills. More than 2,000 graduates from all 100 North Carolina counties have returned home with specific plans to improve their schools.

Old East Dorm

❒ Dozens of UNC faculty members share their expertise on state commissions, licensing and regulatory boards, task forces and committees to benefit North Carolinians. The experience helps faculty reinvigorate their teaching and research. That means students in classrooms, labs and other academic settings benefit, too.

Cultural Resources

❒ UNC's Academic Affairs Library, the nation's oldest public university library, houses about 4.4 million volumes and ranks 17th among 108 peer libraries in the Association of Research Libraries.

❒ It encompasses special libraries in art, astronomy, city and regional planning, computer science, North Carolina and Southern history, journalism, math, music, statistics and more. CHANCELLOR MICHAEL HOOKER

Dan Sears

Michael Hooker took over as the eighth chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill on July 1, 1995.

In 1969, Michael Hooker became the first person in his family to earn a college degree: no small accomplishment for someone coming from the coalfields of southwest Virginia near Richlands. Hooker credits his parents' strong work ethic — his father was a coalminer — and their unwavering belief in education with his academic success at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and beyond.

Twenty-six years after leaving the classrooms of Chapel Hill to pursue graduate degrees in philosophy, Hooker returned on July 1, 1995, as Carolina's eighth chancellor, continuing an extraordinary career for a man of his years. He was president of a prestigious Vermont private school, Bennington College, at age 36; president of the University of Maryland-Baltimore County at age 40; and president of the five-campus University of Massachusetts system at age 47. Hooker took UNC's helm at age 49.

A staunch believer in accountability, Hooker, 51, emphasizes the importance of the university working better, faster and cheaper to meet the challenges facing higher education in a knowledge-based economy. "We can't escape the information revolution," he says. "It's reshuffling all of the decks in society. In the 21st century, the only thing that will secure competitive advantage for our regional, state and national economies is the extent to which we have developed, nurtured, fostered, cultivated and deployed brain power. That is the only thing that will matter. Education must become a lifelong affair. We will all have to retool ourselves to keep up."

Hooker's vision for Carolina's leadership role in that era includes marshaling resources for students and faculty that will make UNC the top-ranked public institution in U.S. News and World Report magazine's annual list of the best colleges and universities. In fall 1996, UNC ranked third among the publics, behind the universities of Michigan at Ann Arbor and Virginia. "This is, by any standards, a great university that is very, very strong," Hooker says of UNC. "It has an exceptional faculty that is highly committed to good teaching. It's easy to find strong research faculty among the top 20 or so universities. It is not so easy to find a faculty that is as committed to teaching as ours."

The chancellor stresses the university's commitment to North Carolinians and the his administration's theme: "For the People." "There is only one reason to have a public university, and that is to serve the people of the state," he says. "That should be the touchstone of everything we do: whether it's in the interest of North Carolina and our citizens. Our litmus test is the question: Is this the best possible use of our resources? Is what we do in Chapel Hill helping the factory worker in Kannapolis?"

To show that conviction, Hooker drew from the tradition of UNC President Frank Porter Graham, who barnstormed the state more than a half century ago to earn support for education at all levels during the economic shift from farming to manufacturing. Hooker spent 1996-97 personally visiting all 100 North Carolina counties to reconnect the university with the people and learn first-hand about the state's economy and educational system.

The issue-oriented tour, which Hooker calls a "life-changing experience," included speeches to civic, business and education groups in dozens of Tar Heel towns and cities. He visited classrooms, teachers, principals and superintendents as well as community colleges, which he says are critical to North Carolina's future success. Among the stops were small businesses, manufacturing facilities, Seymour Johnson Air Force Base and the North Carolina Motor Speedway. He visited legislators, alumni and incoming and current Carolina students in their hometowns. And he participated in a weeklong, 1,200-mile bus tour hitting more than 40 counties last May to introduce 26 new faculty members from out of state to the "real" North Carolina — everything from tobacco farms in the east to the handmade craft industry in the west.

"The thing that I keep encountering time and time again is a tremendous reservoir of pride across all corners of the state in the high quality of Chapel Hill," Hooker says. "People recognize that this is one of the leading institutions in our country. They are proud of that fact. Our job is to make sure that they get their money's worth when they send part of their paychecks to Chapel Hill to support the hard work of our students, faculty and staff."

Citizens like Diana Dagenhart, a master sixth-grade teacher at Claremont Elementary School in Catawba County, applaud the 100-county tour and Hooker's special attention to public education. He visited her classroom last spring, spoke to students and asked for advice about training teachers. "It's great when someone comes out of the halls of ivy to a place where real teaching is going on," she says. "I told him, 'I welcome you to the trenches.' ... He really listened. It was important that he really wanted to know."

Findings from the 100-county tour will help Hooker as the sole North Carolinian on the 1998 Commission on the Future of the South, which is chaired by Martha Lane Collins, former governor of Kentucky. Governor Jim Hunt nominated the chancellor to serve on the panel, which will make recommendations to help guide the region into the 21st century. The commission is expected to focus on issues such as technology, globalization and training the workforce of the future.

Such themes mesh well with technology priorities at UNC. The university offered its first undergraduate online courses via the Internet in spring 1996 and will add similar offerings this fall. Carolina also will launch a statewide master's degree in public health using the Internet, e-mail and teleconferencing. The broad-based, interdisciplinary program seeks to train professionals to become leaders in the state's rapidly changing health-care system. Hooker has emphasized making Carolina accessible to working people who have mortgages to pay, children in school and can't pull up stakes and move to Chapel Hill. He also encourages faculty to use new technology in Carolina classrooms by awarding $2 million in academic enhancement funds appropriated by legislators to 55 projects that will help professors teach students better and make university resources more widely available.

Public education has been a major priority for Hooker, who has moved to re-engineer the UNC School of Education's curriculum to better prepare new teachers for practical problems they face in classrooms. Of particular concern is the attrition rate for new North Carolina teachers. Up to 20 percent of the state's teachers quit after a year, and more than a third drop out by the fifth year.

Two initiatives ardently supported by Hooker with more than $700,000 in state-appropriated academic enhancement funds are under way in the School of Education. The Lighthouse Project targets attrition by providing a place where new teachers can turn for help. Last year, laptop computers, modems, and Internet accounts were issued to a dozen first-year teachers who graduated from the UNC education school. They communicated by e-mail and listservs with each other, master teachers and UNC professors. This on-line discussion group gives teachers peer support and coaching tips. A quick fix is not the goal; teachers develop problem-solving skills while helping each other. The successful pilot program will more than double in size during 1997-98.

The Lighthouse Project draws from the electronic backbone of LEARN North Carolina (Learners' and Educators' Assistance and Resource Network of North Carolina), a unique effort to help teachers use technology in classrooms. Partners include public schools, sister UNC campuses, community colleges and private industry. The university is building a data base that eventually will provide lesson plans for every course taught in every grade level in every public school in North Carolina. Any teacher in the state, when he or she sits down at home or school after dinner and grading papers, can prepare for the next day's classes by downloading model lessons pegged to the state's Standard Course of Study, the teacher's "Bible." "These teachers' lives will be less harried, and their students will benefit from lesson plans more thoughtfully conceived," the chancellor says.

Other focal points of Hooker's first two years in office have included taking numerous steps to bolster relations with the North Carolina General Assembly and reorganizing senior administration to consolidate academic units under the provost and non-academic units under the executive vice chancellor. Work by chancellor's task forces on Greek affairs and substance abuse — which involved trustees, alumni, parents, students and administrators — has led to policies and programs addressing binge drinking, which begins in junior high and high schools nationwide. Last year Hooker sent a letter asking season football ticket-holders not to drink at home football games to set a good example for students.

The chancellor also has stressed adequate and equitable support for faculty, staff and graduate students. The learning environment has been improved through new interdisciplinary programs on the environment and international affairs. He has resolved long-standing personnel conflicts including those with the university's housekeepers and continued efforts to involve the local community in planning for the possible future development of the university's outlying properties. Under Hooker's leadership, the university also works to sustain the success of private fund-raising efforts during the $440 million Bicentennial Campaign for Carolina.

Hooker returned to Chapel Hill from the presidency at UMass, where he oversaw a $1.2 billion budget, 58,000 students, 3,400 faculty and 7,000 staff. After becoming president in 1992, he spearheaded improvements in areas such as teaching and economic development and later tackled restructuring two campuses.

Hooker went to UMass from the 10,300-student University of Maryland-Baltimore County, which he led from 1986 to 1992. Hooker governed Vermont's Bennington College, a 600-student liberal arts school, from 1982 to 1986. The chancellor was featured in Esquire magazine's 1984 story on the "Best of the New Generation" along with future U.S. President Bill Clinton.

From 1975 to 1982, Hooker held posts at Johns Hopkins University, including dean of undergraduate and graduate studies. He taught philosophy at Harvard University from 1973 to 1975 after earning master's and doctoral degrees in philosophy from the University of Massachusetts-Amherst in 1972 and 1973, respectively.

Hooker long has been a national leader in education. In 1996, he was among the first 20 college presidents named by Secretary of Education Richard Riley to serve on a steering panel for the "America Reads Challenge" initiative, which will boost the ranks of college students helping elementary students learn to read well by the end of the third grade. Hooker is a member of the Association of Governing Boards' Advisory Board of Presidents, served on the American Association of State Colleges and Universities' Committee on International Programs and chaired the American Council of Education's Commission on Leadership Development. He also serves on the boards of Centura Bank Inc., headquartered in Rocky Mount, N.C., and 360 Communications in Chicago.

An expert on medical ethics, Hooker has written scholarly articles on applied ethics in business and the ethics of biological warfare. He chaired a biotechnology advisory panel for the U.S. Congress' Office of Technology Assessment from 1982 to 1984. A former member of the editorial board of the Journal of Business Ethics, Hooker was editor of "Descartes: Critical and Interpretive Essays" and "Leibniz: Critical and Interpretive Essays." His awards include an honorary degree from Drexel University, a Danforth Associateship and a Woodrow Wilson Dissertation Fellowship.

Hooker is the father of a 15-year-old daughter, Alexandra. His wife, Carmen, a Philadelphia native, is group vice president for the Carolinas HealthCare System with responsibilities for coordinating government relations activities in the Carolinas and Washington, D.C. She served six terms in the Massachusetts House of Representatives and was House Chairman of the Joint Committee on Health Care. A graduate of Springfield College, she earned a master's degree in regional planning from UMass-Amherst in 1984. She has two daughters: Jennifer, 29, a public school teacher in Charlotte, and Cyndi, 26, an art student at the Museum School in Boston.

The Hookers are ardent supporters of Carolina athletics — attending dozens of contests involving virtually every team — and student activities, including concerts by campus a cappella groups such as the Loreleis and the Clef Hangers. They pride themselves on sitting in the student section during home Tar Heel basketball games. That led to the chancellor's involvement in a "crowd-surfing" episode with students during 1997's Duke game that he enthusiastically says is likely to set a precedent for future adventures during big conference games.

TAR HEEL TRADITIONS

Will Owens

WHY TAR HEELS?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'ns heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

RAM MASCOT

For nearly 70 years the mascot of North Carolina's football team has been a ram. Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

Tar Heels rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

SCHOOL COLORS

The adoption of light blue and white as UNC's colors dates back to the 19th Century. When the University reopened following the Civil War, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white. Since society membership was compulsory for all students, the opinions and activities of these organizations were by nature of circumstances all embracing. It was the custom for all men from localities west of Chapel Hill to affiliate with the Di and generally for students from the east to become members of the Phi.

On public occasions the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body.

Later, when intercollegiate athletics were established, the question of what to wear became a problem. Certainly, the students wanted to be associated with the University, but the school had no official colors. So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a University student body.

DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

❑ The $33.8 Smith Center was built entirely with private donations.

❑ In the first game ever at the Smith Center, No. 1 Carolina defeated No. 3 Duke, 95-92, on January 18, 1986.

❑ The first field goal at the Smith Center was scored by Warren Martin on an assist from Kenny Smith.

❑ Recently, four new video screens were installed in each corner of the building. The boards provide replays, stats and information and highlights of previous games.

❑ The Smith Center is a 300,000-square-foot building. It occupies seven and one-half acres on the University's south campus.

One of the nation's finest basketball facilities, the Dean E. Smith Center opened during the 1985-86 season. Over 2.7 million fans have seen Carolina compile a 133-17 record in 12 years of competiton in the building. Dan Sears

In May of 1980, the University of North Carolina Department of Athletics, in conjunction with the Educational Foundation, embarked on a mission of unparalleled proportion in college athletics. Five hundred volunteers, motivated by the slogan, "Pride Will Build It," set out to do the impossible - raise millions of dollars from private donations to erect an arena to showcase the nationally-prominent Tar Heel basketball team.

"Fund-raising experts told us there was no way to raise that kind of money unless one person made a significant gift of more than $5 million," says Ernie Williamson, a consultant for the Educational Foundation. "Well, we did have one $1 million contribution, but nothing exceeding that. We also had five dollar gifts from children who contributed their allowance. Nothing's impossible when there's that kind of love and loyalty for the University and its basketball program."

However, the real inspiration for the fund-raising effort came from the campaign chairman, the late Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles. Always the optimist, Bowles was determined to defy the odds. "Are we going to make our goal? On a scale of 1 to 10, with 10 the most optimistic, I'm a 12!," he once exclaimed.

Six years and 2,362 donors later, the premier basketball arena in America became a reality. Dedicated in September of 1986 as the Dean Edwards Smith Center, the 300,000-square-foot edifice stands on seven and one-half acres on the University's south campus. Over 20,000 cubic yards of rock were removed to make room for the 340-foot-wide, 380-foot-long and 140 foot high building.

Locoted on the Smith Center's second level, the memorobilio room is a populor touring spot for visitors.

The Smith Center has three levels. On the first floor is the varsity hallway, where Carolina basketball players spend numerous hours preparing for competition. This self-contained hallway features fully-equipped training and weight rooms. The basketball dressing area contains a players' lounge complete with computer terminals and study desks for academic support and a wide screen television and stereo system for relaxation. The first floor also features six recreational locker rooms in addition to two locker rooms reserved for the Carolina swimming program.

The highlight of the second floor is the Carolina memorabilia room. The memorabilia room houses artifacts showcasing Carolina's rich athletic tradition. Visitors can enjoy the memories of the Tar Heels' 1924, 1957, 1982 and 1993 national men's basketball championships as well as sports memorabilia from Carolina's other 26 varsity sports. In May of 1994, the memorabilia room underwent its first major renovation since its 1986 opening. The renovation's most noticeable addition was a state-of-the-art communications studio. The studio is the home to The Bill Guthridge Carolina Basketball TV Show, Inside Carolina with Head Coach Mack Brown and the many sports radio programs broadcast over the Tar Heel Sports Network. Additionally, the room's 50 displays were updated with new pictures, copy and memorabilia.

In addition to the memorabilia room, the second floor of the building houses the athletic department's administrative offices, the basketball suite and the sports information office.

The upper most level features a 1,200-foot-long, 22-foot-wide concourse with seven concession stands and a souvenir showcase. All are easily accessible from the 68 aisles which empty into the concourse.

MAIN ATTRACTION

The main attraction, and indeed the very reason for the Smith Center's existence, is Carolina basketball. When the lights blaze down on the spring maple floor and the 21,572 Carolina Blue seats are filled with Tar Heel fans, the stage is set for one of college basketball's most successful programs to display the teamwork and tenacious defense that have long been its trademark. In the east end zone, the jerseys belonging to such greats as Lennie Rosenbluth, Phil Ford and Michael Jordan keep a vigil over the hardwood which has been the home to Carolina basketball since January 18, 1986.

The Smith Center's computer-controlled lighting system concentrates more light on the actual playing floor rather than the arena, resembling the lighting effect once experienced by Carolina fans in Carmichael Auditorium. Other technologically-advanced features include two 29-foot-long message centers and four scoreboards. The most recent addition to the Smith

Center is four large video screens - one in each corner of the building - each 16 feet by 13 feet. Besides game action, the boards provide replays, stats and information, previews of upcoming games and highlights of past games.

From that Saturday afternoon on which Kenny Smith spotted an open Warren Martin in the lane for the first Carolina basket scored in the Smith Center as the top-ranked Tar Heels defeated third-ranked Duke 95-92 in a battle of college basketball unbeatens, the Smith Center has been the host to many spectacular Carolina contests.

Seven years later, on January 27, 1993, the Smith Center crowd, and a national ESPN viewing audience, witnessed one of the greatest comebacks in NCAA history. The 19th-ranked Seminoles of Florida State were shocking the second-ranked Tar Heels, holding a 45-28 halftime lead. The FSU lead would grow to 21 points with 11:48 remaining in the game. But senior George Lynch's three-pointer with 8:51 remaining sent Carolina on a memorable run. The Lynch goal was followed by successive three-pointers from Donald Williams and Henrik Rodl to cut the Seminole lead to 10. Frenetic pressure defense and a Derrick Phelps layup forced Florida State Coach Pat Kennedy to call a timeout. Coming out of the timeout, Williams scored four consecutive points to slash the lead to four with 6:52 remaining. A steal and dunk by Lynch completed the amazing comeback, putting the Tar Heels up 78-77 in the game's final two minutes. Clutch foul shooting in the waning seconds clinched one of the most remarkable wins in Smith Center history as Carolina prevailed, 82-77.

The Smith Center featured the second-ranked Tar Heels taking on top-ranked Duke on February 3, 1994. It was the first #1 versus #2 matchup in the 74-season, 191-game history of the rivalry. After a nip and tuck first half, which saw the Blue Devils holding a 40-38 lead at halftime, Carolina exploded. Playing some of their best ball of the year, the Heels surged past Duke to take an 11-point lead with 12:35 remaining in the second half. An Eric Montross layup would push the lead to a game-high 15 with almost nine minutes left in the contest. The Blue Devils could get no closer than seven points as quality free-throw shooting and a team high 18 points by Derrick Phelps led Carolina to an 89-78 victory. Following the final buzzer, hundreds of students rushed the Smith Center court to celebrate.

OTHER ATHLETIC AND ENTERTAINMENT EVENTS

The Smith Center has hosted a wide range of athletic events. In 1987, the arena served as the site for U.S. Olympic Festival basketball competition, which attracted a Smith Center record crowd of 22,713 for the gold medal game, and the gymnastics events, which recorded an attendance figure of 58,646, the largest total attendance ever for that sport at a multi-day event in the United States. In 1988, the venue served as the site of the first and second rounds of the NCAA East Regional. In March of 1994, the Smith Center hosted the NCAA Division I Wrestling Championships, attracting a three-day total of over 60,000 spectators.

The Smith Center's internal design allows it the flexibility to host numerous entertainment events. A large grid hangs over the east end zone from which more than 50,000 pounds of sound and lighting equipment can be easily attached. A curtain system allows for the conversion of the arena to various seating configurations to allow smaller events the opportunity to use the building. There are 14 speaker clusters located around the top of the facility which are capable of de-

Some of the most heralded stars in the entertainment business have performed in the Smith Center. Since Kenny Rogers staged the first concert in the arena on April 12, 1986, entertainers ranging in appeal from Bruce Springsteen to John Denver, Janet Jackson to James Taylor, Kiss to Garth Brooks and Eric Clapton to Guns N' Roses have performed to enthusiastic crowds. Performance Magazine named the Smith Center the 1987 "Venue-of-the-Year" and, by a poll of its peers, the Smith Center received the Pollstar Readers Poll Award for the "Best New Major Concert Venue," placing it at the forefront of outstanding facilities in the nation.

An 11-person maintenance team is responsible for ensuring that the physical transformation from one event to another is successful. Whether it's for concerts or basketball, theatre or exhibitions, the transformation is a laborious task requiring the use of a 150-foot loading tunnel near the east end zone. Through this tunnel passes the tons of equipment required for the close to 300 events to which the Smith Center has played host.

KOURY NATATORIUM

Adjacent to the Smith Center is the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium. One of the finest and fastest swimming facilities in the country, the natatorium features an eight-lane, 50-meter pool with a turbulence control system which minimizes water resistance. The natatorium was the site of aquatic events at U.S. Olympic Festival-'87, hosting swimming, water polo and modern pentathlon competitions. In 1989, U.S. Swimming conducted its Short Course National Championships at Koury, while in 1992 the U.S. Master's Swimming Short Course National Championships were held there. Home to Carolina's highly-successful swimming and diving program, Koury has played host to the Atlantic Coast Conference men's and women's swimming and diving championships in 1987, 1989, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1995 and 1996. The 1999 championships will again be held at Koury Natatorium.

Koury Natatorium recently underwent construction, renovating the Educational Foundation offices and adding the Athletic Ticket Office. The offices sit atop the marble-floored room named after the man who made the fund-raising efforts a reality - Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles, a Greensboro native who was the Democratic Party's nominee for governor of North Carolina in 1972. Utilized by various University groups, Bowles Hall serves as a reminder of the perseverance and determination of loyal alumni to see the dream of a new basketball facility come to life.

Over 5.1 million people have attended over 350 events at the Smith Center over the past 12 years, including over three million Carolina basketball fans alone. They have experienced first hand the nation's premier basketball facility. Most all of them would agree with the adage, "Pride Built It."

SMITH CENTER JERSEYS

Hanging from the rafters in the east end zone of the Dean E. Smith Center are 33 Tar Heel jerseys which together serve as a symbolic reminder of Carolina's overwhelming success in its 87 seasons of collegiate basketball competition.

Of the 13 jerseys which were hung in the first two years of the building's existence, the six jerseys in the front row belonged to players who had their numbers retired by the University as national Players of the Year. They are:

Jack Cobb (Class of '26)
George Glamack ('41)
Lennie Rosenbluth ('57)
Phil Ford ('78)
James Worthy ('83)
Michael Jordan ('85)

The original back row included seven jerseys honoring players whose accomplishments were remarkable, including a national Player of the Year and six two-time first-team All-Americas. They are:

Cartwright Carmichael ('24)
Billy Cunningham ('65)
Larry Miller ('68)
Charlie Scott ('70)
Mike O'Koren ('80)
Sam Perkins ('84)
Kenny Smith ('87)

On October 4, 1994, the University's Athletic Council adopted new objective criteria for the hanging of players' jerseys in the Smith Center. Under this criteria, 20 additional jerseys were hung in the rafters of the Smith Center at halftime of the game between North Carolina and Pittsburgh on November 29, 1994. The new criteria includes the most valuable player (as voted by his teammates) of a team that wins an NCAA championship, any member of a gold-medal winning Olympic team or one of the top 10 players in the country on a generally recognized All-America team. They are:

Pete Brennan ('58)
Larry Brown ('63)
Bill Chamberlain ('72)
Brad Daugherty ('86)
Walter Davis ('77)
John Dillon ('48)
Bobby Jones ('74)
Jim Jordan ('46)

HARRIS TEETER PEPSI CHALLENGE

The University of North Carolina enters the 1997 Harris Teeter Pepsi Challenge hoping to improve on its 13-1 record in seven previous appearances. The Tar Heels' only loss in tournament history came in the 1990 first round at the hands of South Carolina. This season the tournament will use a round robin format as the Tar Heels will face Chattanooga on Friday, Dec. 5 and Virginia Tech on Saturday, Dec. 6. South Carolina will also participate in the event, facing the same two teams on opposite days. The Tar Heels and the Gamecocks will not play each other.

In winning the inaugural Harris Teeter Diet Pepsi Tournament of Champions in 1988, Carolina topped the Arizona Wildcats, 79-72. UNC's Scott Williams scored eight of his team-high 17 points in the final 4:09 of regulation to put the Heels ahead for good and help UNC advance to the championship game versus Missouri. The title game would not be the same struggle, as Carolina led 48-25 at the half and cruised to a 76-60 win. Freshman Rick Fox earned tournament MVP honors after he came off the bench to score nine points in the first round and 24 in the championship game on 13-of-15 shooting from the field over the two games. Scott Williams was also named to the All-Tournament team.

In 1990, Carolina returned to the tournament and Charlotte to face South Carolina in the first round. In their first meeting since 1972, the Gamecocks erased a 12-point UNC lead at halftime to win 76-74. South Carolina's Michael Glover hit a layup with seven seconds remaining to break a 74-74 tie. In the consolation game versus Iowa State, Carolina rolled to a 118-93 victory behind George Lynch's 20 points and eight rebounds. Lynch's two-game total of 36 points and 13 rebounds earned him All-Tournament Team honors.

Using a balanced scoring attack, Carolina avenged its 1990 loss two years later with a 108-67 rout of USC. Donald Williams' five three-pointers and 23 points led the way as three other Tar Heels scored in double figures. The University of Texas would fare no better against UNC in the championship game, as the Longhorns were drubbed, 104-68. Williams came off the bench to drain three three-pointers and 19 points. George Lynch added 35 points and 18 rebounds over two games to earn the MVP award, while Eric Montross and Williams joined him on the All-Tournament Team.

Carolina again took home the championship in 1993, as the Heels dispensed of George Washington, 87-62, and Brigham Young, 97-65. Against GW, freshman Jerry Stackhouse had 19 points, 12 rebounds and four steals in 24 minutes of action to pace a balanced Tar Heel attack. Dante Calabria netted 17 points, Williams had 13, Derrick Phelps 12 and Montross had nine points and 15 rebounds. In the title game win over BYU, Montross was again a force inside, as he scored 17 points and grabbed nine boards to earn MVP honors. Williams was a perfect 3-for-3 from behind the arc to compliment his 13 points and All-Tournament Team recognition. Stackhouse was again solid with 13 points and five rebounds in 18 minutes of playing time.

Two years later, UNC faced South Carolina and a tough Cincinnati team en route to its fourth title. In one of its most impressive 20 minutes of the season, UNC jumped out to a 36-9 lead over the Gamecocks behind a barrage of three-pointers before taking a 64-27 lead into the half. Sophomores Rasheed Wallace and Stackhouse each had 17 points at the half and Williams had canned three first half three-pointers. The Tar Heel starters rested up for Cincinnati the majority of the second stanza as Carolina coasted to a 95-58 victory. In the championship game, the Bearcats fell behind 40-29 at the half and never got closer than nine in the second, as Carolina won its third tournament title in as many years. Sophomore Jeff McInnis led the way for the Heels, as the point guard was 10-of-10 from the field for 23 points. He also added six assists and was named to the All-Tournament Team along with classmates Wallace and Stackhouse. Stackhouse was named MVP for his two-game totals of 39 points, 15 rebounds, four blocks and three steals.

McInnis had another terrific showing in the 1995 event as he led the Tar Heels to the title with wins over Tulane and Stanford. He had 16 points and seven assists in an 89-71, first-round win over the Green Wave, and 20 points and four assists in the 87-63 championship game victory over the Cardinal. Freshman Antawn Jamison, like McInnis a resident of the Queen City, added 18 points and nine rebounds in the opener and 21 points and eight boards in the finals. McInnis and Jamison were joined on the all-tourney ballot by senior Dante Calabria. Calabria hit seven three-pointers in the two games.

In the 1996 event, Jamison earned MVP honors, leading Carolina to a 99-84 win over Southern California and an 86-75 victory over South Carolina. Against Southern California, Serge Zwikker became the first Tar Heel to score 20 points and grab 20 rebounds in the same game since Mitch Kupchak in 1976. Zwikker had a career-high 11 offensive rebounds and also blocked four shots. In the championship game, Jamison poured in 28 points and Shammond Williams had 20 to lead Carolina to its fifth-straight Pepsi Challenge title.

1996-97 SEASON IN REVIEW

Ed Cata hit this baseline jumper with 4.6 seconds remaining ta give Caralina a 45-44 victary at N.C. State. The Tar Heels had trailed by as many as 11 paints in the first half and never led until Cota's dramatic field gaal. Karl DeBlaker

1997 SEASON IN REVIEW

❑ THE BASICS: North Carolina finished the 1996-97 season with a 28-7 overall record and a 11-5 mark (tied second) in the ACC. After dropping five of its first eight conference games, Carolina reeled off 16 straight victories, including a 64-54 win over N.C. State in the ACC Tournament championship game. Carolina advanced to its 13th overall Final Four appearance before falling to eventual national champion Arizona.

❑ A QUICK LOOK: The Tar Heels started the season with a loss for the first time since 1983, dropping an 83-72 decision to Arizona in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic • UNC rebounded to post a 9-1 record, including wins over USC, South Carolina, Princeton and UMass, prior to embarking on a three-game exhibition tour (3-0) in Europe • UNC returned from Europe and opened the ACC season with three straight losses for the first time in school history, including a 24-point loss at Wake Forest • Carolina came back from seven points down in the last two minutes to defeat N.C. State at home for its first ACC victory • The Tar Heels closed the first half of the conference season with a 3-5 mark for the first time in school history • Carolina lost a close, 80-73, decision to Duke in Durham on Jan. 29, but then won 16 straight games, including a perfect, 8-0, second-half of the ACC season • Carolina finished tied for second in the league after beating Duke, 91-85, in Chapel Hill • UNC then won the ACC Tournament title and advanced to its 13th Final Four and 11th under Head Coach Dean Smith with a 97-74 win over Louisville in the East Regional finals • Carolina closed the season like it began with a loss to Arizona, 66-58, in the Final Four.

❑ NO. 4 RANKING: Carolina finished ranked No. 4 by the Associated Press and USA Today. It was Carolina's highest AP ranking since the Tar Heels finished fourth in the 1995 poll.

❑ ACC TOP THREE: Carolina finished in the top three of the ACC for the 33rd straight season. In 28 of Dean Smith's 36 seasons as head coach, Carolina finished second or better.

❑ 16-STRAIGHT VICTORIES: Nearly out of the rankings early in the season and in last place in the ACC with an 0-3 record, Carolina won 16 straight games until meeting the Wildcats.

The Tar Heels finished the season winning 19 of their final 22 games and made at least 50 percent from the field in 10 of the last 13 contests. UNC posted a perfect 8-0 February and went 8-1 in March. Carolina's 16-game winning streak was the longest since the Tar Heels also won 16 straight games in 1986-87 and won 21 consecutive games in 1985-86.

❑ ODD YEAR FINAL FOURS: Carolina has advanced to the Final Four in every odd numbered year in the 1990s. In 1991, the Tar Heels lost to Kansas in the national semifinals in Indianapolis. In 1993, Carolina won the national championship with a 77-71 victory over Michigan. In 1995, UNC advanced to the national semifinals in Seattle before falling to Arkansas, 75-68. And last year, Carolina kept the streak alive with a 97-74 win over Louisville.

❑ FINAL FOUR LINEUPS: As incredible as Carolina's four trips to the Final Four in the last seven years have been, what may be even more noteworthy is that the Tar Heels accomplished the feat with virtually four totally different starting lineups each season. Primary starters from each year:

1991: Rick Fox, George Lynch, Pete Chilcutt, King Rice, Hubert Davis; 1993: Brian Reese, George Lynch, Eric Montross, Derrick Phelps, Donald Williams; 1995: Jerry Stackhouse, Dante Calabria, Rasheed Wallace, Jeff McInnis, Donald Williams; 1997: Ademola Okulaja, Antawn Jamison, Serge Zwikker, Shammond Williams, Vince Carter

❑ 23 CONSECUTIVE NCAA APPEARANCES: In 1997 Carolina made its 23rd consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance and 31st overall. Only Kentucky (38) and UCLA (32) have been to the NCAA Tournament more often. The current streak of 23 consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament began in 1975. Of course, it must be noted that the four NIT appearances in the early 1970s came in an era when only one team per conference was allowed into the NCAA field.

❑ SWEET 16: The Tar Heels are 72-31 in the Tournament, including a 65-27 record under Dean Smith. Only Kentucky (74) and UCLA (72) have as many or more Tournament victories. Carolina has advanced to the Sweet 16 in 15 of the last 17 seasons, missing only in 1994 and 1996. Kansas has the second-highest total of Final 16 appearances in that same time span with 11.

❑ 13 FINAL FOURS: Carolina made its 13th Final Four appearance and fourth in the last seven years. The Tar Heels have a record of 10-12 in Final Four games, including consolation contests.

Carolina has earned at least two Final Four trips in each of the last four decades. UNC went to three Final Fours in the 1960s, two in the 1970s, two in the 1980s and four in the 1990s. Since the NCAA began holding basketball championships in 1939, Carolina has appeared in the championship game at least once in every decade. UNC was in the national title game in 1946, 1957, 1968, 1977, 1981, 1982 and 1993.

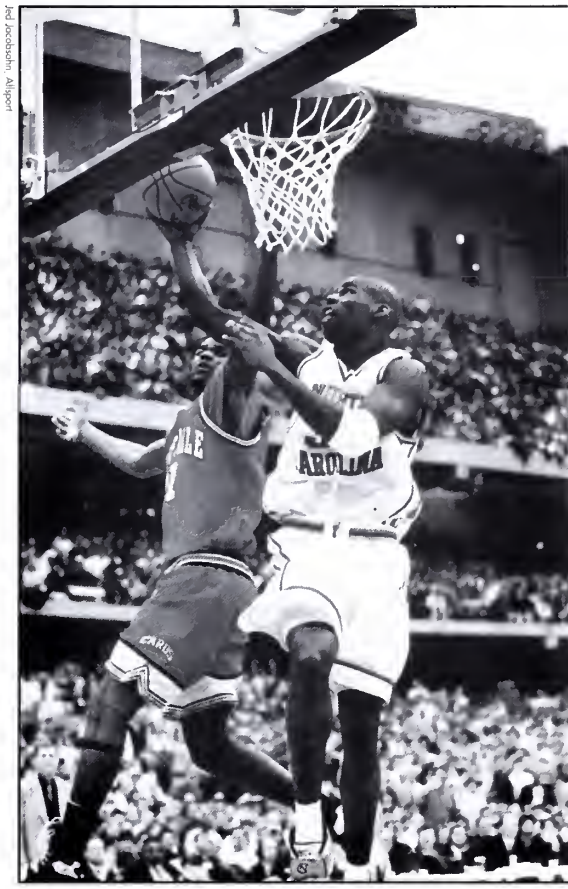
❑ DECADES OF FINAL FOURS: Carolina is just the sixth institution to make four Final Four appearances in one decade. UCLA did it twice with five trips in the 1960s and seven in the 1970s. Others to make four national semifinals in one decade are Ohio State in the 1960s, Cincinnati in the 1960s, Louisville in the 1980s and Duke in the 1990s.

❑ BEAST OF THE EAST: Carolina improved to 43-10 in East Regional play with 11 titles after defeating Louisville. All three of the Tar Heels' NCAA Tournament title teams have advanced through the East Regional. Carolina has been in the East Regional in three of the last four NCAA Tournaments.

❑ SMITH AND THE NCAA TOURNAMENT: Dean Smith owns a career record of 65-27 in the NCAA Tournament. Smith's 65 victories are the most of any coach in Tournament history. UCLA's John Wooden is second with 47. Louisville's Denny Crum is second among active coaches with 42 NCAA Tournament wins. Twenty-seven of the Tar Heels' 31 NCAA appearances came in the last 31 years under Coach Smith.

Smith's Tar Heels won 11 regional championships. The only coach to take more teams to the Final Four is Wooden, who led the Bruins to 12 Final Four appearances. Smith led the Tar Heels to the Final Four in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1972, 1977, 1981, 1982, 1991, 1993, 1995 and 1997.

Smith and Indiana's Bob Knight are the only coaches to ever play on an NCAA Championship team and then go on to coach an NCAA title winning squad. Smith played on the 1952 Kansas team which won the NCAA title and coached the Tar Heels to championships in 1982 and 1993.



Jed Jacobsohn Allsport

Antawn Jamison earned first-team All-ACC honors for the second consecutive year and was a member of the 10-player John Wooden All-America team.

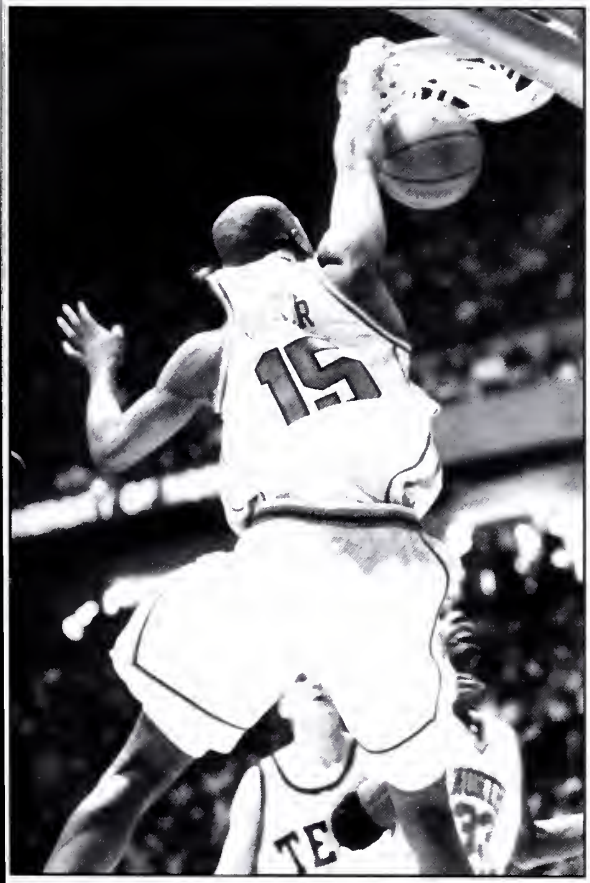
❑ TOP 10 RANKING AGAIN: Ranked No. 4 in the final AP and USA Today polls, Carolina has now finished among the top 10 in either the media or coaches poll 24 times in the last 31 years (1967-97). That is four more than Kentucky, who has accomplished the feat 20 times. Dean Smith leads all other coaches in NCAA history with 24 top 10 poll finishes. Kentucky's Adolph Rupp is second with 19 and UCLA's John Wooden is third with 13.

Carolina has been ranked in the final coaches' poll a record 35 times and in the final writers' poll 34 times, the second-most in history. The Tar Heels have been ranked in the Top 25 of the AP poll for 125 consecutive weeks, the longest active streak in the country. Kentucky is second at 123 weeks and Kansas is third at 116 straight weeks.

❑ 25 WINS: UNC (28-7) has won at least 25 games 24 times in school history and 22 times under Dean Smith. Carolina has won at least 25 games in four of the last five years. Smith's first 25-win season came in 1967 and was followed by subsequent 25-win campaigns in 1968, 1969, 1971, 1972, 1973, 1976, 1977, 1981, 1982, 1983, 1984, 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1989, 1991, 1993, 1994, 1995 and 1997.

❑ 21 WINS 27 TIMES: For the 27th consecutive time, Dean Smith led the Tar Heels to at least 21 wins in a season. The Tar Heels' streak of 27 straight 21-win seasons is the longest in college basketball history. It began with a 26-6 record in 1970-71. Carolina won at least 20 games in 30 of Coach Smith's 36 years as a head coach. Last season was the 42nd time in history Carolina had won at least 20 games. Kentucky also posted its 42nd season of 20 or more wins last year.

❑ 14 ACC TITLES: The Tar Heels won their league-leading 14th title with three straight wins over Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State in Greensboro, N.C., March



Vince Carter and the Tar Heels won 16 consecutive games, including 11 straight ACC games before falling to Arizona in the national semifinals.

Antown Jamison and Serge Zwikker celebrote the Tor Heels ACC Tournament title in Greensboro. Carolina beat Virginio, Woke Forest ond N.C. Stote en route to its 14th ACC title.

7-9. N.C. State has 10 titles, Duke has nine, Wake Forest four, Georgia Tech three, Maryland two, Virginia one and South Carolina one.

Dean Smith led Carolina to 13 ACC Tournament championships, nine more than the second-winningest coach. Vic Bubas of Duke and Everett Case of N.C. State each won four ACC Tournament titles. Smith won at least three ACC titles in four different decades. His Tar Heels won the conference tournament in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1972, 1975, 1977, 1979, 1981, 1982, 1989, 1991, 1994 and 1997.

❑ JAMISON A SECOND-TEAM ALL-AMERICA: Antawn Jamison earned second-team All-America honors from the Associated Press, Basketball Weekly, Basketball Times, The Sporting News and the NABC. Jamison, who led the Tar Heels in scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage, is the first Tar Heel to be named to one of the AP's top two teams since 1995 when Jerry Stackhouse earned first-team honors and Rasheed Wallace was a second-team selection. Jamison was also a member of the 10-man John Wooden All-America team.

❑ ALL-ACC AGAIN FOR JAMISON: For the second straight year, Antawn Jamison earned first-team All-ACC honors. He became the first two-time first-team All-ACC selection at Carolina since Brad Daughtery in 1985 and 1986. Jamison's selection marked the 31st time in the last 35 years the Tar Heels have had at least one first-team honoree. Jamison was Carolina's 57th first-team selection, which is the most of any school. Duke is second with 39. Jamison was the 17th Tar Heel to be named first-team All-ACC in at least two seasons.

❑ FOUR HONORED BY ACC: In addition to first-team All-ACC pick Antawn Jamison, three other Tar Heels – Vince Carter, Serge Zwikker and Shammond Williams – were named to the third-team. Since the ACC began naming three teams in 1990, Carolina has never had more than three all-conference selections until this season. UNC had three all-conference picks in 1957, 1959, 1969, 1986, 1995 and 1996.

❑ COTA NAMED ROOKIE OF THE YEAR: Point guard Ed Cota became the first Tar Heel since J.R. Reid in 1987 and the fourth UNC player overall to be named ACC Rookie of the Year. Sam Perkins and Michael Jordan won the award in 1981 and 1982, respectively. Cota became the first freshman to lead the league in assists since Kenny Anderson in 1990. He averaged 6.9 assists, 1.7 steals and 8.0 points this season. Cota was the leading vote getter on the ACC All-Freshman Team released prior to the conference tournament. Cota was joined on the team by N.C. State's Damon Thornton, Wake Forest's Loren Woods, Clemson's Vincent Whitt and Duke's Chris Carrawell.

❑ NATION'S TOP FRESHMAN: Ed Cota was the nation's top-ranked freshman in assists per game, dishing out an average of 6.9 per game which ranked eighth in the country.

❑ NO SOPHOMORE JINX: In just two seasons, Antawn Jamison amassed 1,152 points and 638 rebounds. He is just the 12th Tar Heel to reach 1,000 points in just two years and is also the 45th player overall to score 1,000 points at UNC. Jamison is just the third player in school history to reach 600 rebounds in two years. Jamison and Billy Cunningham are the only two UNC players to score 1,000 points and grab 600 rebounds in their first two years.

❑ UNC LEADS THE LEAGUE: Carolina led the ACC with a 47.9 shooting percentage and a 9.4 rebounding margin. It was only the fourth time since 1970 that Carolina failed to hit 50 percent from the field as a team. Even in the other three seasons, in 1990 (.498), 1994 (.499) and 1996 (.492), Carolina led the ACC in field goal accuracy. The Tar Heels led the league in field goal percentage 20 times under Dean Smith and 21 times overall. Since the conference began keeping rebounding statistics in terms of margin in 1986, Carolina has led the league on six occasions.

❑ IN THE NCAA STATS: In the final NCAA statistics, sophomore forward Antawn Jamison ranked 54th in scoring (19.1 ppg). Point guard Ed Cota ranked eighth in assists with 6.9 per game. Cota is the only freshman listed among the top 10. The next freshman in the rankings was Chico Fletcher of Arkansas State (6.3) who ranked 17th.

As a team, Carolina finished fourth in rebounding margin (9.4) behind Utah State (10.9), Kansas (10.4) and Iowa (9.8). UNC was 14th in scoring margin (+10.7), 15th in field goal percentage (.479) and tied for eighth in won-lost percentage (.800). Carolina outrebounded all but five opponents this season.

❑ WILLIAMS' ALL-AROUND PLAY: ACC Tournament MVP Shammond Williams was one of the league's top all-around players in 1997. In the ACC statistical rankings, Williams was second in free throw percentage (81.5), second in three-point field goals per game (2.7), fifth in three-point field goal percentage (41.9), sixth in assists per game (4.4) and 10th in scoring (14.3 ppg). Williams and Wake Forest's Tim Duncan were the only two players ranked among the top 10 in scoring and assists per game.

❑ THREE-POINT RECORD FALLS: East Regional MVP Shammond Williams established the UNC single-season three-point field goal record with 95 treys last year. The previous record of 87 was held by Donald Williams and Kenny Smith.

❑ DEFENSIVE NOTES: Only two ACC opponents and just one non-conference foe shot at least 50 percent from the field against the Tar Heels last year. Carolina did not allow a team to make half its shots after Florida State accomplished the feat on January 22 in Tallahassee. UNC held its opponents under 50 percent in each of the last 19 games. Carolina held 16 teams to under 40 percent from the floor.

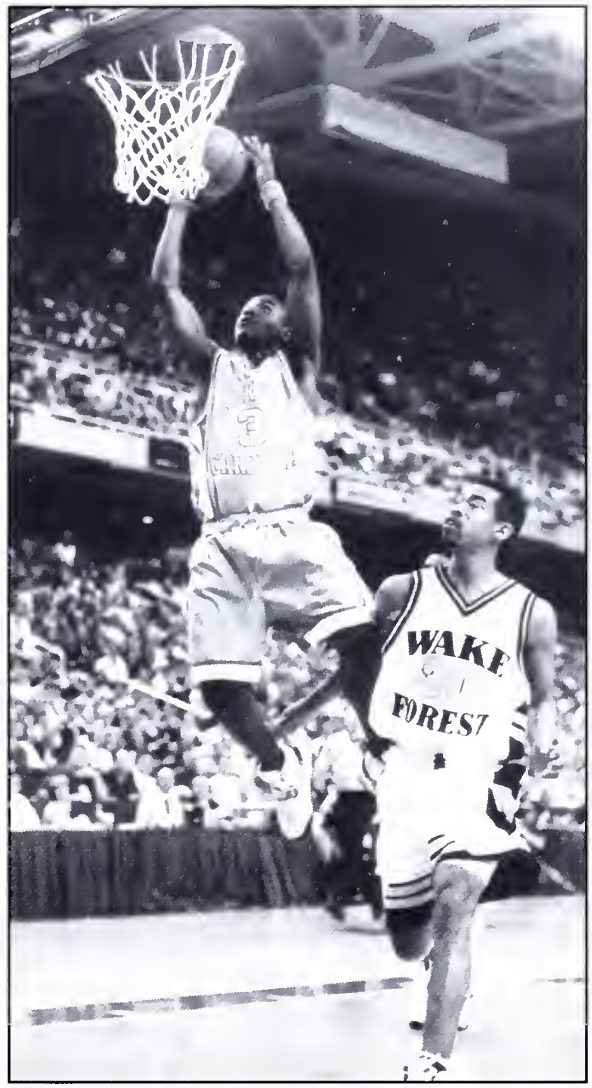
The Tar Heels held 12 of their last 17 opponents to 70 points or less and allowed only seven teams to break 80. Seven teams – LSU (48), Clemson (48), Middle Tennessee State (49), Virginia (57), N.C. State (44), Colorado (56) and California (57) – failed to score at least 60 points against UNC. The last time that happened was 1984 when seven teams failed to reach 60.

❑ PERFECT IN FEBRUARY: Carolina completed its first perfect February since 1977 with a 76-69 victory over Clemson on Feb. 26. Carolina went 8-0 in the month of February after a 3-5 January record. In 1977 Carolina advanced to the national championship game against Marquette. UNC was perfect in February three times under Dean Smith - 1965, 1976, 1977 and 1997.

❑ REBOUNDING MARGIN: The Tar Heels finished the season ranked fourth in the nation in rebounding margin at 9.4 per game. Carolina had a +21 rebound advantage against Colorado, tying the school record for biggest rebound margin in the NCAA Tournament. UNC also outrebounded Boston College in 1975 by 21. California outrebounded UNC in the regional semifinals, but UNC owned the boards against Louisville, 39-37. Carolina outrebounded Duke, 49-18, in the regular-season finale on March 2, the Tar Heels' largest advantage on the boards in an ACC game in more than 20 years.

❑ DOUBLE-DIGIT ACC WINS: Carolina won at least 10 conference games for the fifth-straight season – the longest streak in school history under Dean Smith. The Tar Heels also won 10 league games in four straight seasons from 1981-84 and had a school-best streak of six 10-win seasons from 1956-1961. Carolina won double-digit ACC games 20 times under Dean Smith and 26 times overall. Carolina has won at least 11 conference games 19 times.

❑ .500 AGAIN: For the 33rd consecutive season, Carolina posted a better than .500 record in the ACC. The Tar Heels assured themselves of a .500 record with a victory over Wake Forest on Feb. 19. The Demon Deacons have the second-longest current streak of .500 finishes at five and Duke has the second-longest consecutive streak all-time at 19.



ACC Taurnament MVP Shammand Williams and Wake Farest's Tim Duncan were the anly twa canference players in the tap 10 in assists and scaring. Will Owens ❑ .500 ON THE ACC ROAD: Carolina evened its ACC road record at .500 with its win at Clemson. Over the past 31 seasons, Carolina has compiled a record of 139-76 (.647) in regular-season conference road games. Carolina won at least half its road games in ACC play 29 times in Dean Smith's 36 years as head coach, including 20 seasons with a conference road record better than .500.

❑ TWO TOP-FIVE WINS: Carolina's 74-60 win over No. 4 Wake Forest on Feb. 19 was its second victory over a team ranked in the Associated Press top five last season. The Tar Heels also defeated then-No. 2 Clemson earlier in the year in Chapel Hill on Jan. 26. It marked the first year Carolina had defeated two teams in the AP top five since 1994 when the Tar Heels beat Duke twice. The Devils were ranked No. 1 in the first meeting and No. 2 in the second game that season.

❑ AGAINST RANKED TEAMS: Carolina was 8-5 last season against teams ranked in either the AP or USA Today poll, but against teams ranked in the top 10, Carolina was 4-1.

❑ COMEBACK VICTORIES: At Carolina, comeback victories are as much a part of Tar Heel tradition as 20-win seasons, ACC Championships and Final Fours. In games this season at N.C. State, Georgia Tech and Clemson, Carolina came back from deficits of 11, 16 and 13 points, respectively, to earn ACC road victories.

❑ COTA LEADS THE LEAGUE: Freshman point guard Ed Cota led the ACC with 6.9 assists per game. He became the first freshman to lead the ACC in assists since Kenny Anderson in 1990 and the first Tar Heel since Jimmy Black in 1982. He is only the third freshman in ACC history to lead the conference in assists. The others were Anderson and Virginia's Jeff Jones in 1979. Phil Ford, a current UNC assistant coach, led the league in assists per game three times from 1976-78 and owns the school's highest assist per game average of 7.0 in 1975-76. Cota now owns the second-highest assist per game average in school history.

❑ DOUBLE DIP: Sophomore Antawn Jamison has already posted 30 double-doubles in just 67 career games. In 1997, Jamison registered 17 double-doubles. By comparison Billy Cunningham holds the Carolina record with 60 double-doubles in just three seasons, while Sam Perkins had 47 in four seasons, Mitch Kupchak had 44 and George Lynch had 35. Serge Zwikker ended his career with nine double-doubles, including five in 1997, Ademola Okulaja has three and Ed Cota recorded his third with 11 points and 10 assists against Virginia in the quarterfinals of the ACC Tournament.

❑ JAM-IS-ON: Sophomore Antawn Jamison scored 20 or more points 14 times in 35 games in 1997 and had at least 25 points eight times. As a freshman in 1996, Jamison scored at least 20 points on six occasions, but in 1997 it took the 6-9 Charlotte, N.C., native just eight games to equal that total. He scored 28 points against Richmond, 36 against Pittsburgh, 26 against Southern California, 26 versus South Carolina, 26 against LSU, 28 against Georgia Tech, 29 at Maryland and 33 against Duke. The last Carolina player to score 20 points at least 14 times in a season was Jerry Stackhouse who did it 16 times in 1995.

❑ PLAYER OF THE WEEK: Antawn Jamison earned the final ACC Player of the Week honor after scoring 33 points and grabbing 11 rebounds in Carolina's 91-85 win over Duke. Jamison also had 10 points and eight rebounds in the win over Clemson. Jamison won a total of four ACC Player of the Week honors last season. Jamison, Wake's Tim Duncan (4) and Maryland's Keith Booth (2) were the only players to earn more than one player-of-the-week honor last season.

❑ ZWIKKER'S THREE FINAL FOUR TRIPS: Senior Serge Zwikker played in his second Final Four in 1997, but it was actually Zwikker's third trip to the Final Four as a Tar Heel. Zwikker redshirted during Carolina's 1993 national championship season, but traveled with the team. In 1995, Zwikker helped the Tar Heels advance to the Final Four, backing up Rasheed Wallace at center. Zwikker had 19 points and six rebounds in Carolina's 1995 first round win over Murray State as Wallace was limited because of an ankle sprain. Zwikker is one of just seven players to play or attend three Final Fours as a Tar Heel. The last to do so was Pat Sullivan who played in the 1991, 1993 and 1995 Final Fours. Sullivan, an administrative assistant in the UNC basketball office last season, attended the Final Four again in 1997.

❑ SERGE SURGES: Serge Zwikker entered the 1997 season with career averages of 5.1 points and 3.7 rebounds. As a senior, the 7-3 center put together the finest season of his four-year career averaging 11.5 points and 8.1 rebounds. He pulled down double figure rebound totals in nine games and scored in double figures 21 times. At Maryland, he had a career-high 24 points. Zwikker became one of the Tar Heels most consistent performers, flashing a variety of offensive moves, including turnaround baseline jumpers, hook shots and post up fade aways.

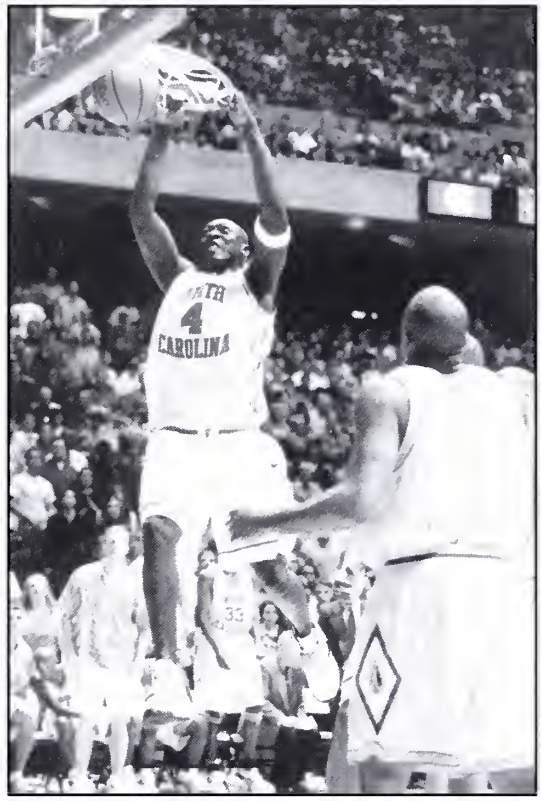
❑ ZWIKKER MAKES HIS MARK: Serge Zwikker accomplished something no Tar Heel had done in 20 years when he scored 22 points and pulled down 20 rebounds in the Tar Heels' 99-84 win over Southern California. Both figures were career highs at the time. The last time a Carolina player had at least 20 points and 20 rebounds in a game was Mitch Kupchak. Kupchak had 35 points and 21 rebounds against Tulane in the Superdome in New Orleans, La., on Feb. 14, 1976. Zwikker was next to unstoppable in the first half against the Trojans, making 8 of 10 field goals, scoring 16 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. For the game, he had a career-high 11 offensive rebounds and also had four blocked shots.

❑ DEAN, ROY AND EDDIE IN THE TOP SIX: In the final AP poll, two of Dean Smith's former Carolina assistants had teams ranked in the top six. Roy Williams, who was an assistant on Smith's staff for 10 years (1977-88), was the head coach of No. 1 Kansas and Eddie Fogler, a former UNC player and assistant coach (1971-86), had his South Carolina squad ranked No. 6 in the nation. Smith's Tar Heels were ranked No. 4.

❑ TRENDS: Carolina averaged 78.2 points in its last 11 games • Carolina connected on at least 70 percent of its free throw attempts in nine of its last 11 games • UNC shot 50 percent or better from the field in 15 of the last 19 games • Tar Heels were 15-0 when scoring at least 80 points and 20-1 (one loss to Arizona) when holding its opponents below 70 points • Carolina averaged 77.4 points in all games and 72.1 points in ACC games • 32 of UNC's 35 opponents were held to less than 50 percent from the field and 16 to less than 40 percent • South Carolina (50.0), Wake Forest (53.4) and Florida State (50.0) were the only three teams to shoot above 50 percent against UNC.



Makhtar Ndiaye blocked 15 shots and grabbed 54 rebounds in 33 games last season. Robert Crawford

❑ MISCELLANEOUS: In 1997 Carolina continued a streak of not going more than one year without winning either the ACC regular-season championship or ACC Tournament championship since 1973 and 1974 • Carolina's 93 points against Maryland were most by Carolina in an ACC game since UNC scored 96 against N.C. State in 1995-96 • Carolina swept N.C. State and Georgia Tech for the first time since the 1993 national championship year • UNC had 68 rebounds, just five off a school record, against VMI and pulled down 55 against LSU • Four times last season, UNC had at least 50 rebounds in a game.

❑ UNC IN THE SMITH CENTER: Carolina completed an 11-1 record at the Smith Center last season, winning the final nine in a row. The Tar Heels have played 150 regular-season games in the Smith Center since it opened on Jan. 18, 1986 and are 133-17 (.887) overall. Carolina is 58-2 (.967) in the Smith Center against non-ACC teams. The two losses came at the hands of Temple in 1987-88 and Iowa in 1988-89. Carolina has won its last 43 non-conference home games. Since the building opened, Carolina has recorded a perfect home record twice (1987, 1993) and a one-loss record four times (1986, 1994, 1995, 1997). In 12 home games last season, Carolina won each by an average of 18.9 points.

❑ TAR HEELS ON TV: All but one of Carolina's 35 contests were televised last year. The only game not televised was the December 2nd home game against Bethune-Cookman. Carolina appeared on ABC four times, on ESPN or espn2 17 times and on regional broadcasts eight times. All five of UNC's NCAA Tournament broadcasts were shown on CBS.

❑ A POPULAR DRAW: Once again, Carolina basketball proved to be a popular draw among college basketball fans. The Tar Heels averaged 20,577 fans per game at home, and in 13 neutral-site games UNC averaged 21,075 spectators.

❑ JAMISON REACHES 300 FAST: Sophomore Antawn Jamison became the first Tar Heel to reach 300 points in a season in just 14 games since Charlie Scott in 1969-70. Jamison reached the 300-point plateau with his 13-point effort against N.C. State. Scott, who averaged 27.1 points in 1970, needed only 13 games to score 300 points. He finished third in the ACC in scoring, averaging 19.1 points per game and was second in rebounding (9.4).

❑ RECORD-SETTING PERFORMANCE: In Carolina's 82-61 victory over Pittsburgh, forward Antawn Jamison was 14 of 20 from the floor, 8 of 11 from the free throw line, scored a career-high 36 points and pulled down 15 rebounds. The 36 points were the most ever scored by a Tar Heel in the Smith Center and one point shy of the overall record for points in the building. Lionel Simmons of La Salle scored 37 points on Jan. 9, 1988. The previous best by a Tar Heel was 31 done three times – by Scott Williams against Virginia in 1990, Kevin Madden versus UT Chattanooga in 1988 and J.R. Reid versus N.C. State in 1987. Jamison's 14 field goals matched the third-highest total in the Smith Center's 12-year history, tying Rasheed Wallace, who also had 14 field goals against Pittsburgh in 1994. Eleven of Jamison's 15 rebounds were of the offensive variety, a new career-high.

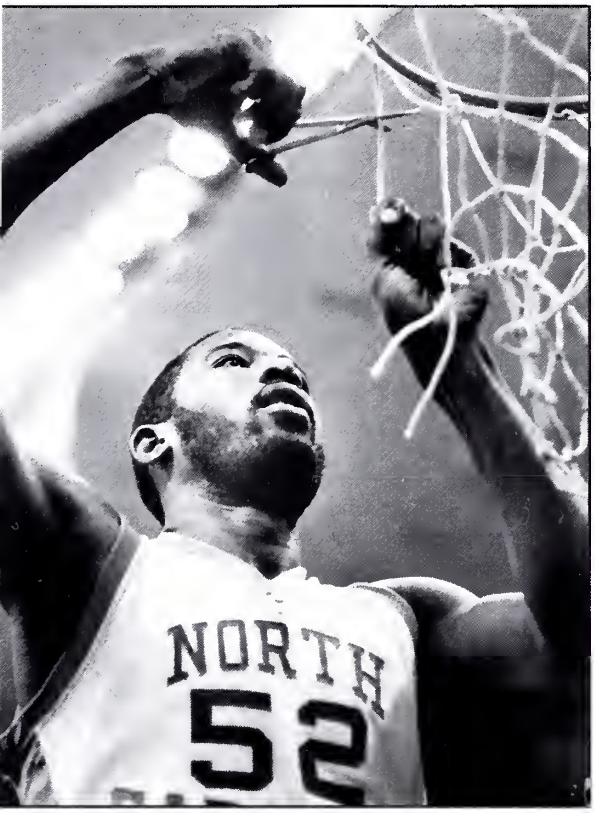
FACTS & FIGURES OF CAROLINA BASKETBALL

With all of the hype that surrounds college basketball in the 1990s, it has become increasingly difficult to know whom to believe when an observer or member of the media praises the North Carolina basketball program.



James Worthy is one of three Tor Heels on the NBA's 50 Greatest Ployers list os selected in 1996. Billy Cunningham and Michael Jordon ore the other two UNC ployers on the list.

❑ Over the last 31 years Carolina has a campasite ACC regular-seasan recard af 323-107, a winning percentage af .751.

❑ Caralina has finished at least third in the ACC regular-seasan standings 33 consecutive years.

❑ Caralina has finished in the tap faur in at least ane af the twa major palls 15 times in the last 31 years.

If one thing has been consistent about the basketball program at UNC, it is the quality of the educational experience. The coaching staff is not merely involved with the business of winning basketball games. Its greatest strength is in helping mold complete people. Their vehicle of achieving this goal is intercollegiate athletics.

Carolina's program is simply the best in the nation. There is no question about it. It is a program which not only wins basketball games at one of the best rates in the country over the past three decades, but also looks out for the best academic interests of its student-athletes, operates in an atmosphere of class and integrity and is a good-will ambassador for the University of North Carolina like no other.

Adhering to these same basic philosophies since Carolina first fielded a basketball team in the 1910-11 season, the University of North Carolina has consistently upheld a tradition of greatness unparalleled in the sport.

Here are some of the numbers to prove it:

•3 - The number of the NBA's 50 Greatest Players who played at North Carolina, making Carolina one of only three schools to have three players listed. The Tar Heels who made the list are Billy Cunningham, Michael Jordan and James Worthy. The list was selected in 1996 on behalf of the NBA by a panel of 50 former players and members of the media.

•4 - The number of national championships North Carolina's basketball team has won. The Tar Heels have been crowned college basketball's best in 1924, 1957, 1982 and 1993.

•5 - Number of times the Tar Heels have finished the season ranked No. 1 in the nation in one of the major polls. That includes the 1957, 1982, 1984, 1993 and 1994 seasons.

•6 - The number of Tar Heel players who went on to have their jersey numbers retired by NBA franchises, the most of any school. They include Billy Cunningham (Philadelphia 76ers), Brad Daugherty (Cleveland Cavaliers), Walter Davis (Phoenix Suns), Bobby Jones (Philadelpha 76ers), Michael Jordan (Chicago Bulls) and James Worthy (Los Angeles Lakers).

•8 - Number of National Players of the Year who have worn Carolina uniforms, the latest being Jerry Stackhouse, as named by Sports Illustrated in 1995.

•8 (Again) - The number of Atlantic Coast Conference opponents against which the Tar Heels have winning series records. That translates to every team in the league. UNC also holds a 56-21 series edge over former conference member South Carolina. The ACC was founded in 1953 and has been college basketball's best conference for more than four decades. Carolina has dominated play in the conference since the beginning. In fact, the closest series Carolina has with any league foe is against Duke. Beginning with the ACC's founding prior to the 1953-54 season, the Tar Heels are 74-44 against the Blue Devils, a winning percentage of .627.

•8 (Again) - Carolina's average finish in the final Associated Press poll over the past 25 seasons. The Tar Heels are the only team in the nation that have averaged a Top 10 finish over this span.

•11 - Number of NCAA regional championships won by Carolina under former head coach Dean Smith. That figure is exceeded only by former UCLA coach John Wooden's 12 NCAA Final Four appearances.

•13 - Number of times Carolina has reached the NCAA Final Four in its history. Only UCLA, with 14 appearances, has been to the Final Four more often.

•13 (Again) - UNC has won 13 ACC Tournament championships under Smith, most recently in 1997. That's the most in league history for any coach. Everett Case of N.C. State and Vic Bubas of Duke rank second with four each.

•14 - Number of ACC Tournament championships the Tar Heels have captured. N.C. State owns the second-best total in the league with 10.

•15 - Number of times Carolina has advanced to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament in the last 17 years. Carolina reached the Final 16 in 13 consecutive years, from 1981 to 1993, equalling the longest streak in NCAA history (UCLA also went 13 straight years from 1967-79). To give you an idea of how amazing Carolina's streak was, Kansas has the longest current streak of successive Final 16 appearances with five heading into the 1997-98 campaign.

•15 (Again) - Times Carolina has reached the Final Eight of the NCAA Tournament over the past 31 years. UNC is tied with UCLA and Kentucky for the most Final Eight appearances during that period of time.

•15 (Again) - Times in the last 31 years the Tar Heels have been ranked among the top four teams in the country by at least one of the two major polls.

•15 (Again) - Active Tar Heels who are now playing in the NBA.

•17 - Number of times Carolina won the ACC regular-season championship under coach Dean Smith. The late Frank McGuire's six regular-season titles in coaching stints at North Carolina and South Carolina ranks as the second-highest total.

•22 - In 36 years as head coach at Carolina, Dean Smith led his team to 25 or more wins in a season 22 times. That is an NCAA record for 25-win seasons by a coach. Fresno State coach Jerry Tarkanian ranks second with 14 25-win seasons and former UCLA coach John Wooden is third with 11.

•22 (Again) - In the 44-year history of the ACC, Carolina has nabbed the regular-season championship 22 times. That's 50 percent of the time in a nine-member league. Duke is second with 12 regular-season titles.

•23 - Number of consecutive trips to the NCAA Tournament made by North Carolina, a streak still going strong. That's the longest streak in NCAA Tournament history. The Georgetown Hoyas own the second-longest streak in history, 14 years from 1979-92. Arizona has the second-longest current streak with 13.

•23 (Again) - The number of times in the last 27 years Carolina has shot 50 percent or better from the field.

•24 - Number of times Carolina has finished in the Top 10 of a major wire service poll (media or coaches) in the last 31 seasons. Kentucky is second with 20 appearances. Carolina has been in at least one Top 10 in 20 of the last 24 seasons and in both Top 10 rankings in 14 of the last 17 campaigns. Smith had more teams post Top 10 finishes than any other coach in history. Adolph Rupp of Kentucky is second with 18.

•27 - Number of consecutive years in which Carolina has won at least 21 basketball games. That is an NCAA record for most successive 20-win seasons.

•27 - Number of times Dean Smith led the Tar Heels to the NCAA Tournament. That's the most in tournament history. Louisville's Denny Crum and Indiana's Bob Knight have taken their teams to the tournament 21 times each.

•30 – The number of 20-win seasons Dean Smith posted as head coach at North Carolina. That's the most in college basketball history. Current Fresno State coach Jerry Tarkanian is second with 25.

•31 – Number of postseason tournament bids Carolina has garnered in the last 31 seasons. Twenty-seven of those trips have been to the NCAA Tournament and four were to the NIT. The four NIT trips and four of the NCAA appearances came in an era when only the winner of the ACC Tournament was eligible to receive an NCAA bid.

CAROLINA BASKETBALL HISTORY

The University of North Carolina has always possessed one of college basketball's most storied histories and the tradition becomes richer with each passing season. Through the decades, with the seemingly endless flow of talented players to go along with the best coach in college basketball history, the Carolina basketball program continues to roll onward.

Carolina's 87 seasons in the intercollegiate ranks have produced an overall record of 1,675 victories and 595 losses, making the Tar Heel program the second-winningest of alltime in terms of total victories. The University of Kentucky has 1,685 victories in 94 seasons. Only four schools have won more than 1,500 games in college hoops history and Carolina became the first university to hit the 1,600-win plateau with its 90-67 victory over Pittsburgh on Nov. 29, 1994, in the Smith Center.

Carolina also ranks second alltime in winning percentage amongst schools which have played at least 25 seasons at the NCAA Division I level. Kentucky leads with an alltime winning percentage of .762 in 94 seasons. Carolina is second at .738 and Nevada-Las Vegas is third at .734. No other college basketball program which has played at least 25 years has won more than 70 percent of its games.

Only nine of the 87 Tar Heel teams have suffered through losing seasons, and no Carolina coach has ever left the position with a cumulative losing mark. The closest to the .500 mark was Nat Cartmell, Carolina's first coach, who went 25-24 in four seasons. From 1911 through 1952, the UNC program had 13 different head coaches, with none staying for more than six seasons. Carolina has only had two head coaches in the last 45 years – Frank McGuire for nine years and Smith for the past 36 campaigns. Each has a career winning percentage of over 70 percent and each has led North Carolina to NCAA championships – McGuire in 1957 and Smith in both 1982 and 1993.

THE ROOTS OF A SUCCESSFUL PROGRAM

The first varsity team played at North Carolina during the 1910-11 season. Basketball clubs had originally been a part of physical education classes at the University, but student Marvin Ritch led the drive with school officials to start an organized varsity team. Nat Cartmell, UNC's track and field coach, who was internationally known in his own right as a sprinter, coached that first team in 1911.

By the time the team was organized, Carolina did not schedule its first game until January 27, 1911, when it defeated Virginia Christian, 42-21, in Chapel Hill. The team played its games in Bynum Gymnasium, now the site of the University cashier's office. Carolina went 7-4 that first season, playing the likes of Tennessee, Virginia, Wake Forest, Davidson, the YMCA teams from Durham and Charlotte and the Woodberry Forest School of Virginia. At the time, a crowd of 50 spectators for a game was considered enormous.

Cartmell ended up coaching the Tar Heels for four seasons. His 1912 squad finished only 4-5, but several thousand fans came to see the Tar Heels play Virginia Tech at the Raleigh Auditorium, a sign that interest in and fan support of the game was growing quickly in the Carolinas.

Charles Doak became the program's head coach in 1915. His 1916 team recorded a 12-6 ledger, the best record for any team during the first decade of the sport on campus. Doak had served as the Tar Heels' baseball coach before being assigned to take over the basketball coaching duties as well.

In 1917, Carolina recorded its first victory over then arch-rival Virginia after eight previous losses. That Tar Heel team was led by George Tennent, who captained both the 1917 and 1918 teams. Luther Hodges, who later served as governor of North Carolina from 1957-61 and was the Secretary of Commerce under President John Kennedy, was a substitute player on the 1917 team. Beginning with that 1917 season, Howell Peacock coached the team for three years, compiling a 23-14 mark.

In 1920, Fred Boye took over as the head coach at Carolina, staying two years and compiling a 19-17 ledger. The 1922 squad played without an official head coach, but nevertheless compiled a 15-6 record. Carolina went to Atlanta that season and swept the first-ever Southern Conference Tournament championship, winning five games in five days. The Heels captured the title with a 40-26 win over Mercer in the finals. The Southern Conference had been founded the previous summer with an initial membership of 22 schools. The 1922 squad was led by Cartwright Carmichael, who was then a sophomore. He went on to become one of Carolina's alltime great players. He became UNC's first All-America in any sport in both 1923 and 1924 and he was an All-Southern Conference pick from 1922 through 1924.

CELEBRATING CAROLINA'S FIRST NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The five-year period beginning in 1922 was actually a glorious one for Carolina despite the fact the Tar Heels played with no coach during the 1922 and 1923 seasons and with a different head coach in each of the following three years. But with incredibly talented players on hand, Carolina went 96-17 in that five-year span and won four of five Southern Conference championships as well as the national championship in 1924.

The 1923 team set the stage for that magnificent '24 squad by going 15-1, losing only a 34-32 thriller to Ole Miss in the Southern Conference tournament final.

The '24 team proved to be something very special indeed. Led by Jack Cobb, Carmichael and Bill Dodderer, it rolled to a 26-0 record and was named the national champion by the Helms Foundation. Carolina beat Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Mississippi State and Alabama to capture the Southern Conference championship.

Carolina's nine-man 1924 squad played for the first time in the Indoor Athletic Center, better known around campus as the Tin Can, a structure which existed until the late 1970s. It was razed to clear land for what is now the Robert Allison Fetzer Gymnasium on the UNC campus. Norman Shephard coached the Tar Heels in 1924 in what would be his only season as head coach. He left the following year to pursue business ventures abroad.

After being an All-Southern Conference selection in 1924, Monk McDonald took over as the team's head coach the following season. Led again by the magnificent Cobb, the Tar Heels finished 20-5 and won another Southern Conference crown by whipping Tulane 36-28 in the finals. A year later, Carolina had yet another new head coach in Harlan Sanborn as the '26 team compiled a solid 20-5 mark. That team was led by Cobb, who was named the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation, and by Dodderer, who was named All-Southern Conference for the third year in a row.

Cobb, who averaged 15 points per game, a total practically unheard of in that day, was named an All-America for the third successive year. One of the highlights of the year was the crowd of thousands which gathered at Memorial Hall to hear a telegraphic play-by-play of the Southern Conference championship game from Atlanta as UNC downed Mississippi State, 38-23.

James Ashmore began an impressive five-year coaching stint with the Tar Heels in 1927. His teams were led by players like Billy Morris, Puny Harper, Bunn Hackney and Rufus Hackney. Ashmore's teams combined for an 80-37 mark during his tenure, but they never won the Southern Conference championship – in fact they never reached the finals.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE REALIGNS

Norman Shepard's brother, George "Bo" Shepard, took over as head coach in 1932. He quickly catapulted Carolina back into national prominence. The "Charlotte Connection" provided many of the best players for UNC at the time because of the strong high school and YMCA programs in that part of the state.

Guard Tom Alexander and forward Virgil Weathers, both All-Southern Conference choices, led the '32 team to a 16-5 mark as Carolina lost, 26-24, in the Southern Conference final to Georgia at Raleigh, the new site of the conference tournament. After the '32 season, the Southern Conference lost 13 schools which went on to form what is now the Southeastern Conference. That turn of events left 10 schools in the Southern Conference.

In 1933, Shepard needed a big man for rebounding purposes and to control the jump ball after each score. He found his man in Jack Glace, who hadn't even made his high school squad. The Heels went 12-5 that season and lost a double overtime thriller to South Carolina, 34-32, in the semifinals of the Southern Conference Tournament.

The 1934 Carolina team finished 18-4, being upset by Duke in the Southern Conference tournament after beating the Blue Devils twice in the regular season. Dave McCachren was the captain of that Carolina squad and was the first of four McCachren brothers to play at UNC from 1931-43. Each brother captained the Tar Heel team his senior year, and each was elected president of the UNC athletic association. Besides Dave, Jim, a three-time All-Southern Conference selection, captained the '36 team, Bill captained the '39 squad and George, better known as "Toad," captained the '43 unit.

The 1935 team won the conference championship and compiled a marvelous 23-2 mark in Shepard's last year as head coach. After that season, Shepard stepped down because of health reasons and Walter Skidmore became head coach. Skidmore continued the winning ways in Chapel Hill, leading the 1936 team to a 21-4 record and a Southern Conference title. That 1936 unit was led by Pete Mullis and Andy Bershak, who was also a Carolina football All-America.

Carolina had successful years in 1937 and '38, but failed to win the Southern Conference title either time. However, in 1938, Carolina inaugurated a new home base for its basketball operations as the 5,000-seat Woollen Gymnasium opened and Carolina left the Tin Can to be used for track meets and campus social functions. Then, in 1939, Carolina suffered its first losing campaign in 19 years and Skidmore stepped down as coach. He was replaced for the 1940 season by Bill Lange, then an assistant football coach under Ray Wolf.

CAROLINA EARNS ITS FIRST NCAA BID

The 1940 Carolina team proved to be an outstanding one. Led by George Glamack, nicknamed the "Blind Bomber," UNC went 23-3. The 6-6 junior from Johnstown, Pa., could barely see the basket because of impaired vision, but his foul line hook shot was lethal. Glamack became only the third player ever designated as the National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation on two occasions, winning the honor in both 1940 and '41.

Other stars on the teams of the early 1940s were Paul Severin, who was also a two-time All-America in football, and Bob Rose, an All-Southern Conference player in both 1941 and '42. Glamack averaged 20.6 points per game for the Tar Heels, an amazing statistic given the fact teams only scored in the 40s and 50s during that era.

As in other sports, the World War II years in college basketball were unsettled in nature. The Carolina team lost many players to service obligations during this time – in fact, only one letterman was available for the 1943 team. In 1944, the Tar Heels played 11 contests against service teams. Lange stepped down as coach after the 1944 season with an impressive five-year record of 85-41. Lange's 1941 team was also the first at UNC to make the NCAA Tournament field.

Ben Carnevale took over as head coach in 1945 and the Tar Heels motored to an outstanding 22-6 ledger and the Southern Conference championship. The star of that team was Jim Jordan, who was named a second-team All-America that season.

A NEAR NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1946 team was a truly outstanding one. Led by first-team All-Americas Jordan and John "Hook" Dillon and 6-6 Horace "Bones" McKinney, Carolina made it all the way to the NCAA championship game before losing to Coach Henry Iba's Oklahoma (A&M) State team, 43-40, at Madison Square Garden. McKinney had attended N.C. State before going into the military in World War II, and he resumed his education at Chapel Hill, helping lead the Heels to their 30-5 mark in 1946. Carnevale left after the season was over to take the coaching job at the U.S. Naval Academy. He was replaced by Tom Scott.

At this time, basketball in the South was enjoying unprecedented popularity. N.C. State was becoming a formidable rival for the Tar Heels, and the Southern Conference Tournament was moved to Duke's Indoor Stadium so more fans could attend the postseason classic.

Scott's first team, in 1947, was led by Jim Hamilton and Bob Paxton. It posted a 19-8 record and lost in the conference finals to N.C. State, then coached by the legendary Everett Case. Unfortunately, that would be the second of 15 consecutive losses Carolina suffered at the hands of the Wolfpack over a six-year period.

Scott produced 20-win seasons in both 1948 and '49, but lost thrice to N.C. State each of those campaigns, including heartbreakers in the league tournament.

TAR HEELS TURN TO NEW YORK NATIVE TO IMPROVE BASKETBALL FORTUNES

The next three seasons produced a trio of mediocre records and Scott resigned after the 1952 season. He was replaced by Frank McGuire, a 38-year-old native of Greenwich Village in New York City. Formerly the coach at St. John's University in Jamaica, N.Y., McGuire was successful at luring many outstanding New York basketball stars, the first of whom was Jerry Vayda, to Chapel Hill through his connections to the area.

McGuire's first team, in 1953, proved to be a scrappy unit. It didn't have great talent, but ended up 17-10 and beat N.C. State in Raleigh, breaking the aforementioned six-year losing streak to the Pack. During the offseason, Carolina and seven other schools left the Southern Conference to join what has become America's finest intercollegiate athletic league, the Atlantic Coast Conference. The next two years produced average records – 11-10 in 1954 and 10-11 a year later – but McGuire was building a foundation for future greatness.

Lennie Rosenbluth, from New York City, debuted for the Tar Heels in 1955 as a sophomore and averaged 25.5 points per game. In 1956, a great new class joined holdovers Rosenbluth, Vayda, Tony Radovich and Bob Young. The new sophomore class included Pete Brennan, Tommy Kearns, Joe Quigg, Bob Cunningham and Roy Searcy. That '56 team went 18-5, setting the stage for what happened a year later.

HEELS WORK OVERTIME TO CLAIM SECOND NATIONAL TITLE

In 1957, McGuire had a lineup that consisted of the 6-6 Brennan, 6-5 Rosenbluth and 6-9 Quigg on the front line with Cunningham and Kearns in the backcourt. En route to its 32-0 record, Carolina had to avoid a couple of close calls in the regular season – against Duke at home and a double overtime contest with Maryland in College Park. The closest call of all may have come in the ACC Tournament semifinals when the Heels edged Wake Forest, 61-59. Because only the ACC Tournament champion earned an NCAA bid in those days, had the Tar Heels lost to the Deacons, they would not even have been allowed to compete in the national tournament. Once in the NCAAs, however, Carolina swept past three opponents in the East Regional to set up a meeting with Michigan State in the semifinals.

It took three overtimes, but Carolina finally vanquished the Spartans, 74-70. That set up a showdown with Dick Harp's Kansas Jayhawks, led by the great Wilt Chamberlain. At Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium, UNC needed another three overtimes to subdue Kansas, 54-53, on Quigg's two free throws with six seconds to play in the third extra session. Thousands turned out at the Raleigh-Durham Airport to welcome their conquering heroes home the next day. Rosenbluth concluded his brilliant career by being named an All-America, first-team All-ACC for the third straight year and the Helms National Player of the Year.

In 1958, a Carolina team led by All-America and ACC Player of the Year Brennan finished 19-7. Lee Shaffer and Dick Kepley, soon to be Carolina stars in their own right, joined the squad as sophomores. With the exception of the 1957 national championship team, McGuire's 1959 squad may have been the best amongst the nine he coached during his time at UNC. Doug Moe, York Larese and Lou Brown joined the team and Carolina finished 20-5 and qualified for the school's fourth NCAA Tournament appearance.

A year later, Carolina had another outstanding season under McGuire. The Heels finished 18-6 overall and Shaffer was named a first-team All-America.

The 1961 season yielded an outstanding team and a 19-4 record. It was the senior year for Moe, Larese and Kepley. Moe was an All-America that season and together with Larese, they were called the L&M twins. McGuire chose to accept a head coaching offer from the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association after the season concluded. His nine-season record at Carolina was a brilliant 164-58. Under McGuire, Carolina went to the NCAA Tournament twice, won five ACC regular-season titles, one ACC Tournament title and the aforementioned national championship.

CHANCELLOR AYCOCK MAKES THE PERSONNEL DECISION OF A LIFETIME

The man who stepped into the coaching void was a native Kansan by the name of Dean Edwards Smith. He had been lured to Carolina in 1958 from the U.S. Air Force Academy to be McGuire's top assistant. Carolina Chancellor William Aycock was charged with the duty of finding the successor for the popular McGuire. He entrusted the post to the 30-year-old Smith, who built a program that still is a model for integrity and success in college athletics.

Coach Smith's first team in 1962 compiled an 8-9 record, his only losing season as a head coach. But his players did give him a victory in his first coaching outing, 80-46 over Virginia on December 2, 1961. It would prove to be a harbinger of things to come. After that victory, Smith said, "I've never been as scared in my life."

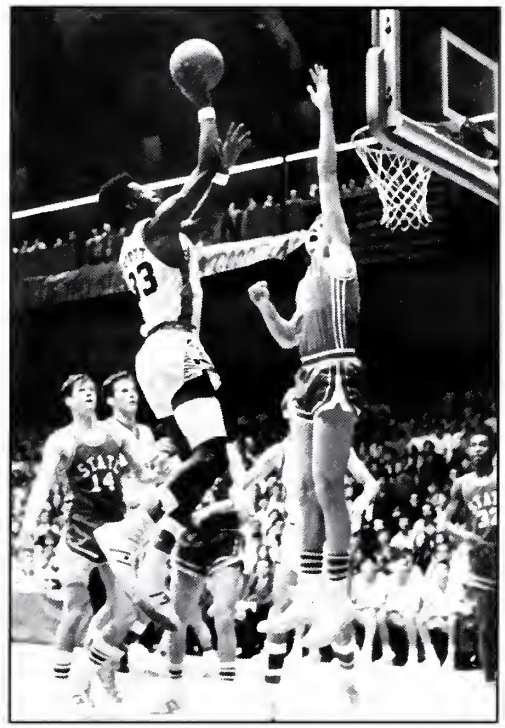
Billy Cunningham, affectionately known as "The Kangaroo Kid," joined the varsity and became an immediate star in 1962. Averaging 22.7 points and 16 rebounds a game, he helped lead the Tar Heels to a 15-6 record, which included road victories against both Kentucky and Notre Dame. A year later, Cunningham was still awesome, but the Tar Heels' record dipped to 12-12. Help for the future arrived, however, in the form of highly-touted freshman Bob Lewis.

Lewis moved up to the varsity in 1965 and with the All-America Cunningham, the two combined for 46.4 points per game as Carolina went 15-9. Cunningham left Carolina as its all-time leader in rebounds and as one of the most prolific rebounders and scorers in conference history. A two-time All-America and three-time All-ACC selection, he went on to a great professional playing and coaching career, mainly with the Philadelphia 76ers.

For 1966, Cunningham was gone, but Lewis was now joined by soon-to-be superstar Larry Miller. The Tar Heels moved out of Woollen Gymnasium and into 8,800-seat Carmichael Auditorium, which would evolve into one of the most famous arenas in college basketball history. The '66 squad finished only 16-11, but it was obvious greatness was just around the corner.



Charlie Scott is one of five Tar Heels to score more than 2,000 points. Scott averaged 22.1 points per game from 1968-70. Hugh Morton

THREE STRAIGHT ACC TITLES, THREE SUCCESSIVE FINAL FOURS

The 1967 team proved to be Coach Smith's first truly great squad at Carolina. Lewis and Miller were joined on the varsity by sophomores Rusty Clark, Bill Bunting, Dick Grubar and Joe Brown. The season resulted in a 26-6 ledger, and the Tar Heels finished third in the final United Press International poll and fourth in the Associated Press rankings. The '67 campaign marked the beginning of a string of three successive first-place finishes in the ACC regular-season standings, three straight ACC tournament titles and three consecutive NCAA East Regional championships for Smith and his troops. That's a feat unmatched in ACC history. The '67 squad was characterized by an enthusiastic, gambling defense that would become a trademark of Smith-coached teams.

Lewis graduated after '67, but the great Charlie Scott arrived to take his place in the Carolina lineup as the Heels prepared for the 1968 season. Scott was the first black player on the Carolina varsity and he started from the beginning of his sophomore year. The '68 team was an outstanding one and made it all the way to the NCAA finals before losing to UCLA and Lew Alcindor. The Heels' final record that year was 28-4, the best yet under Smith's tutelage. Miller was both an All-America and the ACC Player of the Year for the second straight year.

Heading into 1969, Miller was gone but the remaining core of those great teams returned. Carolina went 27-5, won the ACC championship for the third straight year and was again in the Final Four, the school's fifth such visit since the NCAA Tournament began in 1939. Scott, Bunting, Clark and Grubar led that team as well as junior guard Eddie Fogler.

The 1970 squad entered that season decimated by graduation. The tremendous seniors of the previous year – Bunting, Clark and Grubar – had graduated. Carolina finished 18-9, buoyed by the addition of sophomores Dennis Wuycik, Bill Chamberlain and Steve Previs, all solid players. Scott was named All-ACC for the third successive year and was a first-team All-America for the second time. Carolina accepted the first of its four NIT bids in history and the 18-9 record remarkably resulted in the last time Carolina failed to win 20 games in a season.

The 1971 team was not expected to do much according to the pre-season ratings, but it rolled up a 26-6 record and won the ACC regular-season title and the National Invitation Tournament championship. Sophomore George Karl moved up to the varsity and formed a great backcourt with Previs. Wuycik was a first-team All-ACC choice and Chamberlain the Most Valuable Player of the NIT as Carolina downed Georgia Tech 84-66 in the finals at Madison Square Garden.

Carolina returned to the NCAA Final Four in 1972 with a 26-5 record. Robert McAdoo, a junior college transfer from Vincennes University, was outstanding for the Heels along with returnees Wuycik, Chamberlain, Karl and Previs. Sixth man Bobby Jones, a 6-8 sophomore, showed great promise for the future. Carolina won five different tournament championships during the course of the season, including the ACC Tournament and NCAA East Regional championships. The Tar Heels were eliminated in the NCAA Final Four by Florida State in the semifinals, 79-75. After the season, McAdoo became the first of seven players under Smith to declare himself eligible for the NBA draft prior to the completion of his eligibility. A year later, he was the NBA Rookie of the Year with the Buffalo Braves.

Carolina returned to the NIT in 1973 and reached the semifinals after losing in the first round of the ACC Tournament. The 25-8 squad was led by the play of Karl and, in the first year freshmen were again eligible to play under NCAA rules, Mitch Kupchak showed signs of greatness inside.

A REMARKABLE COMEBACK AGAINST DUKE

The 1974 team was led by All-America and All-ACC player Jones. It compiled a 22-6 record but was relegated to a return trip to the NIT even though it was ranked eighth in the final UPI poll. That team featured a freshmen class of Walter Davis, Tommy LaGarde and John Kuester, a group which would lead Carolina back to the Final Four three years later. That season will also be remembered for the astounding comeback the Tar Heels made against Duke at Carmichael Auditorium in the final game of the regular season. Trailing by eight points with 17 seconds to play, the Heels rallied to tie the contest on a 28-foot shot by Davis as time expired. UNC went on to win in overtime, 96-92. The 1974 season also marked the last time Carolina failed to make the NCAA Tournament field, a streak now numbering an NCAA record 22 years.

In 1975, the wonderous Phil Ford arrived on campus as a freshman and had an immediate impact on Carolina basketball fortunes. He became the first freshman under Smith to start the first game of his career, a feat since matched only by Mike O'Koren, James Worthy, Michael Jordan, Kenny Smith, J.R. Reid, Pete Chilcutt, Rick Fox, Vince Carter and Antawn Jamison. As a frosh, Ford won the Everett Case Award as Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament as Carolina beat defending national champion N.C. State in the finals, 70-66, knocking the Wolfpack out the NCAA Tournament in the process. The Tar Heels had to survive overtime games with Wake Forest and Clemson in the first two rounds of the tournament just to get into the final game. Overall, that Carolina team finished 23-8 and was eliminated in the NCAA East Regional semifinals by Syracuse, which went on to the Final Four.

A year later, in Kupchak's senior season, the Tar Heels had one of their best teams ever under Smith, but it was undone by injuries and bad luck at season's end. First-team All-Americas Kupchak and Ford led the team to a 25-4 mark and a 13-1 ACC slate. But Carolina was upset in the ACC finals by Virginia, giving the Cavaliers their only ACC championship in history, and then UNC lost to Alabama in the first round of the NCAAs with Ford sidelined with a badly sprained ankle. Following the season, Carmichael Auditorium underwent a renovation which increased seating capacity from 8,800 to 10,000. Individual seats were torn out and bleacher seats installed throughout the facility.

The 1977 campaign marked a return to the Final Four for the first time in five years as UNC posted a 28-5 mark. Mid-season knee surgery on LaGarde ended his college career prematurely and then Davis broke his thumb in the ACC Tournament semifinals against N.C. State. Led by Kuester, the Tar Heels persevered and beat Virginia in the tournament finals, 75-69. Carolina used its up-tempo style to perfection in conjunction with the famed four corners offense in scoring NCAA wins over Purdue, Notre Dame, Kentucky and UNLV. All were of the comeback variety save the win over the Wildcats. Ford suffered a hyperextended elbow in the waning moments of the Notre Dame game and played the remainder of the tourney at less than 100 percent. After freshman O'Koren helped the Heels into the finals with 31 points against Vegas, the Tar Heels fell to Marquette, 67-59, in the title game.

Walter Davis led the Tar Heels ta the 1977 Final Faur. Davis ranks amang Carolina's tap 10 in scoring and assists.

The 1978 team had to play minus LaGarde, Davis and Kuester – no easy task. It was Ford's senior year and the Rocky Mount, N.C., native was tapped for National Player-of-the-Year honors by four organizations as UNC finished 23-8. In an emotional Carmichael Auditorium farewell, Ford scored a career-high 34 points as UNC beat Duke 87-83 in one of the most memorable games played in the building, clinching the ACC regular-season championship for the Heels in the process. Ford finished his career as a three-time first-team All-America and as Carolina's all-time leading scorer and assist man. He still holds the scoring record to this day with 2,290 points.

The 1979 squad was not ranked highly in the preseason, but won Smith ACC and National Coach-of-the-Year honors after finishing 23-6. O'Koren, senior defensive wizard Dudley Bradley and sophomore sharpshooter Al Wood led that team. During the regular season, UNC upset eventual national champion Michigan State 70-69 at Carmichael and scored an infamous 70-69 win at N.C. State on Bradley's last-second steal and dunk. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship with Duke and then beat the Blue Devils 71-63 in the ACC Tournament finals as Bradley captured tournament MVP honors. Carolina was upset in the NCAA second round by Penn, which went on to play in the NCAA Final Four.

The 1980 squad was led by a senior class which featured O'Koren, a first-team All-America in 1979 and 1980. The Tar Heels finished 21-8. Other graduating seniors were guards Dave Colescott and John Virgil and centers Rich Yonakor and Jeff Wolf. One of the season's highlights was a 61-57 win at Indiana in the homecoming game for Colescott, a Marion, Ind., native and former Mr. Basketball in the Hoosier State.

The 1981 team would initiate a string of 13 straight Carolina squads which advanced to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament. Led by Al Wood and sophomore power forward James Worthy, UNC finished 29-8 and won the ACC Tournament title with one-point wins over Wake Forest and Maryland in the semifinals and finals, respectively. After winning the NCAA West Regional crown, UNC returned to the Final Four in Philadelphia where it avenged two regular-season losses to conference foe Virginia in the semifinals behind Wood's astounding 39-point performance, an NCAA Tournament semifinal game scoring record to this day. Two days later, on the day President Ronald Reagan survived an assassination attempt, UNC was beaten by Indiana in the national championship game.

WORTHY'S MVP PERFORMANCE KEYS CAROLINA'S THIRD NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

The 1981 team proved to be only a prelude to the greatness of the 1982 squad which won the national championship. Preseason rated No. 1, the Tar Heels finished the regular season that way and went on to win the NCAA championship. The squad's 32-2 record equaled the school record for victories in a season as the Tar Heels swept through the ACC Tournament and the NCAA East Regional. There were many heroes on the '82 team. Worthy was named the co-National Player of the Year and he scored a career-high 28 points in UNC's pulsating 63-62 win over Georgetown in the championship game. Center Sam Perkins was a first-team All-America and he was joined in the lineup by point guard Jimmy Black, small forward Matt Doherty and a freshman guard by the name of Michael Jordan. Jordan hit a 16-foot jump shot with 15 seconds left, providing the winning points in the title game, and Worthy sealed the victory with a steal of a Fred Brown pass with five seconds left.

Worthy opted to make himself available for the NBA draft after his junior year and he was chosen as the first pick by the Los Angeles Lakers. Even without Worthy, the Tar Heels returned a strong cast in 1983 with a nucleus featuring Jordan and Perkins. Both players earned first-team All-America honors that year and Jordan was named National Player of the Year by The Sporting News. The Tar Heels finished 28-8 after starting 0-2, the worst-ever start for a Smith-coached team at Carolina. After splitting its first six games of the season, Carolina recovered from the slow start to be the nation's No. 1-ranked team for several weeks in January and February. After tying for the ACC regular-season championship, the Heels made it to the finals of the NCAA East Regional before being upset by Georgia. The highlight of the year was an improbable 64-63 victory over Virginia on February 10, 1983 as No. 1-ranked Carolina rallied from 16 points down with 8:43 to play to beat second-ranked Virginia at Carmichael Auditorium.

In 1984, Smith had one of his best teams ever before it fell victim to a late-season injury bug. At 28-3 overall, the Tar Heels became only the sixth team in ACC history to go through the conference regular-season round-robin undefeated at 14-0. Jordan was named the consensus National Player of the Year and Perkins was named both first-team All-ACC and first-team All-America for the third straight year. Starting point guard Kenny Smith suffered a broken wrist in the LSU game on January 29 and never fully recovered that season. Center Brad Daugherty also suffered a hand injury during the ACC Tournament that hampered his play the rest of the way. That Tar Heel team did finish No. 1 nationally in both final polls, however.

The 1985 team was another of Smith's overachieving teams. Ignored in the pre-season Top 20 polls for the first time in recent memory, UNC went 27-9 that year after losing Perkins and Jordan from the lineup. Carolina tied for the ACC regular-season championship as Daugherty and Kenny Smith had superb years for the Tar Heels. Carolina was eliminated in the finals of the NCAA Southeast Regional at the hands of eventual national champion Villanova.

THE OPENING OF THE DEAN E. SMITH CENTER

The 1986 unit, led by first-team All-America Daugherty, won its first 21 games en route to a 28-6 mark. The Tar Heels were devastated at season's end by injuries to starters Steve Hale and Joe Wolf and backup center Warren Martin. For the second straight year, UNC was eliminated from the NCAA Tournament by the eventual national champion, Louisville. The season was also highlighted by the opening of the Dean E. Smith Center on the Carolina campus on January 18, 1986. The No. 1-ranked Tar Heels celebrated the move into their new 21,572-seat arena by beating No. 3 Duke, 95-92, that day.

The 1987 squad proved to be another of Coach Smith's best teams. Led by a strong senior nucleus which featured All-ACC players Kenny Smith and Wolf, UNC tied the school record for victories in a season with 32 while completing a 32-4 ledger and a No. 2 ranking in the final AP poll. For the second time in four years, UNC finished the ACC regular-season a perfect 14-0. UNC advanced to the NCAA East Regional finals before falling to eventual NCAA finalist Syracuse. Smith capped a brilliant Tar Heel career by surpassing Ford as the school's all-time assist leader and being named Basketball Times' National Player of the Year.

Going into the 1988 campaign, many experts viewed the Tar Heels as an inexperienced bunch that might struggle more than some of Carolina's previous great squads. Smith again confounded the experts as he took a team with only one senior and molded it into a 27-7 unit that won the ACC regular-season championship outright. The season was highlighted by the play of first-team All-America forward J.R. Reid. Among the 27 wins was a thrilling 96-93 overtime win over pre-season No. 1-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass.

While the 1988 team was inexperienced, the 1989 team was a veteran unit, led by a tremendous starting backcourt of seniors Jeff Lebo and Steve Bucknall. Carolina won its first ACC Tournament championship in seven years as it beat arch-rival Duke 77-74 in the championship game at Atlanta. The Tar Heels went on to the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament before losing to eventual NCAA champion Michigan. UNC's 29-8 record marked the ninth successive season in which Carolina had won as many as 27 games. The Tar Heels finished the season ranked fourth in the final United Press International poll.

After the 1989 campaign, Reid opted to forgo his final year of eligibility to enter the NBA draft and was chosen as the fifth selection of the draft by the Charlotte Hornets. With Reid, Lebo and Bucknall gone, Smith's 1990 unit was his youngest in recent memory. In an "off" year by Carolina standards, UNC still finished a solid 21-13. The 13 losses were the most by a Carolina team since the 1952 squad finished 12-15. Despite the double-digit losses, Carolina tied for third in the ACC standings, won at least 20 games again and was invited to the NCAA Tournament. The Tar Heels made the most of their opportunity there. Carolina pulled off a stunning upset of top-ranked Oklahoma, 79-77, in the second round of the NCAA Midwest Regional at Austin, Texas. Carolina was seeded eighth in the region, while the Sooners were the entire tournament's top seed. Rick Fox hit an off-balance bank shot in the lane as time expired to provide Carolina with the winning points.

A 10TH FINAL FOUR FOR CAROLINA BASKETBALL

Carolina returned to national prominence again in 1991 as Smith led his team to its eighth NCAA Final Four during his tenure and the school's 10th trip overall. Carolina was ranked fourth nationally in the final AP and UPI polls as UNC finished 29-6. The Tar Heels won the 12th ACC Tournament championship in school history, a league record, by embarrassing arch-rival Duke 96-74 in the championship game at the Charlotte Coliseum. It was Smith's 11th tournament title in his 30th season at the helm of the Tar Heels.

A strong senior nucleus of All-ACC forward Rick Fox, center Pete Chilcutt and point guard King Rice led Carolina to its 21st straight 20-win season and its 17th successive bid to the NCAA Tournament. During the course of the season, UNC passed Kentucky as college basketball's alltime winningest team. In NCAA play, Carolina beat Northeastern, Villanova, Eastern Michigan and Temple to win the NCAA East Regional before being edged by Smith's alma mater, Kansas, coached by UNC alumnus Roy Williams, in the NCAA semifinals at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

In 1991-92, the Tar Heels, led by senior guard Hubert Davis, finished 23-10 overall and reached the Final 16 of the NCAA Tournament for an amazing 12th successive season. UNC also finished third in the ACC standings, the 28th successive season in which Carolina had finished at least third in the conference regular-season wars.

WILLIAMS' THREE-POINTERS HELP BRING HOME SMITH'S SECOND NCAA TITLE

The 1993 Tar Heels added yet another trophy to the mantel of one of the sport's greatest coaches when the squad captured Coach Smith's second NCAA title by defeating Michigan 77-71 in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans. The team's 34-4 record broke the school record for victories in a season.

Picked by some sportswriters to finish third in the conference, Carolina won the ACC regular-season title with a 14-2 mark that included a spectacular, come-from-behind victory over Florida State January 27, 1993 in the Smith Center – a game in which UNC rallied from a 21-point second-half deficit. The Heels entered the NCAA Tournament as the top seed in the East Regional, cruised to their 13th straight appearance in the Sweet 16 and survived frenetic battles against Arkansas and Cincinnati to earn Smith's ninth Final Four trip.

Battling Kansas in the NCAA semifinals for the second time in three years, Carolina advanced to the finals behind the outside shooting of sophomore guard Donald Williams, the inside power of senior forward George Lynch and second-team All-America junior center Eric Montross and the quieter, yet equally important, contributions of point guard Derrick Phelps and small forward Brian Reese. In the finals against Michigan, Williams once again provided the spark, pouring in 25 points and making five-of-seven three pointers for the second straight game. As Williams was named the Most Outstanding Player of the Final Four, the celebration erupted simultaneously on Bourbon Street and Franklin Street with Carolina fans relishing the pinnacle of college basketball success once again.

The 1993-94 Carolina squad battled incredible expectations throughout the season and finished the year atop the Associated Press poll with a 28-7 record. A team with an interesting mixture of experience and youth, Carolina won Coach Smith's 12th ACC Tournament title with a 73-66 victory over Virginia in the finals. Seniors Eric Montross, Derrick Phelps, Brian Reese and Kevin Salvadori provided the leadership, while highly-touted freshmen Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace showed glimpses of the future of Carolina basketball. The season ended with a disappointing loss to Boston College in the second round of the NCAA East Regional, but the early tournament exit could not overshadow the contributions of a senior class that won 114 games, two ACC Tournament titles, a national championship, and advanced to two Final Fours.

MORE FINAL FOURS AND A SPECIAL WIN TO REMEMBER

The 1994-95 campaign began as one of uncertainty and ended as a further testament to the genius of Coach Smith and the skill of his players. With the loss of four senior starters from the previous year, the 1994-95 Tar Heels were one of Smith's most inexperienced teams in recent years. Nonetheless, sophomores Jeff McInnis, Jerry Stackhouse and Rasheed Wallace stepped into their new starting roles beside senior guard Donald Williams and junior swingman Dante Calabria and led UNC to a 28-6 record, a tie for the ACC regular-season championship and the 12th NCAA Final Four in school history. Early in the season, Carolina became the first college basketball program in NCAA Division I history to amass 1,600 victories.

Stackhouse, a consensus first-team All-America, became the eighth Tar Heel to be named National Player of the Year when Sports Illustrated honored him as such. Wallace was a second-team All-America choice who finished the year as the ACC's leader in career field goal percentage (63.5 percent), while Williams completed his career as Carolina's alltime leader in three-point shots made (221) and attempted (572).

The 1995-96 Tar Heels were as inexperienced a team as Coach Smith has placed on the court in his tenure. Stackhouse and Wallace both opted for the 1996 NBA Draft after their sophomore seasons and went as the third and fourth picks in the first round, respectively. Three freshmen – Antawn Jamison, Vince Carter and Ademola Okulaja – were among the top seven players on the team which finished 21-11 overall and third in the ACC with a 10-6 mark. Jamison became the first Tar Heel and just the fifth player in league history to be named first-team All-ACC as a freshman. The season was highlighted by an overtime win at Maryland, a 20-rebound performance at Virginia by Jamison and remarkable comeback victories at home over Wake Forest and Duke. Carolina also won at Duke's Cameron Indoor Stadium for the third consecutive year, behind 26 points by Shammond Williams and 25 by Jeff McInnis.

to finish 11-5 in conference play and finish in a tie for second place with preseason favorite, Wake Forest. UNC won all eight of its games in February and earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament after winning the ACC title.

Jamison earned All-America and first-team All-ACC honors as he led the squad with 19.1 points and 9.4 rebounds per game. Freshman point guard Ed Cota was named the ACC's Rookie of the Year as he led the ACC and was eighth in the country in assists with 6.9 per game.

The Tar Heels went into the ACC Tournament as the No. 3 seed, but knocked off Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim the school's 14th title. Shammond Williams averaged 20.0 points and 5.0 assists and was named the Tournament MVP.

The Tar Heels swept through the NCAA East Regional, beating Louisville by 23 points in the regional final at Syracuse. Williams earned MVP honors after he scored a game-high 22 points against the Cardinals. He hit eight three-pointers in the two games in the Carrier Dome.

Coach Smith became the winningest coach in Division I college basketball history with his 877th win. That came in the second round of the 1997 NCAA Tournament, a 73-56 triumph over Colorado.

Just prior to the start of the 1997-98 season, Smith stunned the basketball world when he announced his resignation as head coach on October 9, 1997. Smith, who said at the press conference "I am the luckiest guy in the world - to be in Chapel Hill, to at the University of North Carolina with this faculty, this student body," turned the program over to longtime assistant Bill Guthridge.

CAROLINA'S TOURNAMENT SUCCESS

No Atlantic Coast Conference program has won more NCAA postseason basketball games or captured more ACC Tournament titles than North Carolina. And no coach had near the tournament success that Dean Smith achieved during his 36-year tenure in Chapel Hill.

The memories linger in the minds of every Tar Heel and basketball fan across the country. Whether it's Donald Williams knocking down five three-pointers against Michigan in the 1993 finals or Michael Jordan hitting his historical shot against Georgetown in 1982 or Lennie Rosenbluth leading Carolina to a triple overtime victory over a Wilt Chamberlain-led Kansas in 1957, the NCAA Tournament has been a showcase for many of Carolina's greatest teams and players.

The rewards for Carolina's hardwood success are appropriately displayed in the trophy cases in the memorabilia room of the Dean E. Smith Center.

Carolina's first of four national championships came in 1924 as the Helms Foundation tabbed the Tar Heels as its top team following Carolina's unblemished 26-0 campaign.

It took 33 years before the Tar Heels were again atop the college basketball world, but that time it took a tournament victory to turn the trick.

The NCAA Tournament began in 1939, and Carolina had been a participant just twice. The Tar Heels' inaugural NCAA appearance came in 1941 under head coach Bill Lange, but it was two and out for Carolina, losing by six points to Pittsburgh and one point to Dartmouth in a tournament setup which bears little resemblance to what fans are familiar with today. Then, in 1946, Ben Carnevale's Carolina team disposed of New York University and Ohio State to reach the NCAA championship game, where it was defeated by Oklahoma A&M, 43-40.

Eleven years later, a multi-talented Carolina squad led by Rosenbluth rolled to a 32-0 record and the NCAA title. Carolina's semifinal game against Michigan State and the title matchup against Chamberlain, Dick Harp and the Kansas Jayhawks both were triple overtime affairs.

Carolina won that semifinal showdown with the Spartans, 74-70, and then defeated Kansas, 54-53, on a pair of Joe Quigg free throws with six seconds remaining in the third overtime session.

In 1981-82, with one of the finest collections of college basketball talent ever assembled and a squad which possessed tremendous team chemistry, the Tar Heels went 32-2 en route to their second NCAA Tournament championship. Jordan's jumper with 15 seconds to play, and junior forward James Worthy's steal with five seconds left finished off Georgetown, 63-62. Worthy scored 28 points and was named the Final Four's Most Outstanding Player, while Jordan, who was just a freshman scored 16 points against the Hoyas. The other starters on that NCAA championship team included alltime Carolina rebounding leader Sam Perkins, Matt Doherty, the consummate role player, and point guard Jimmy Black.

That was the first of two NCAA titles for Smith, but the trip to the Final Four certainly was not a new experience for Smith's Tar Heels.

In fact, Smith finished his coaching career second only to legendary UCLA head coach John Wooden in Final Four appearances and is the alltime leader in total tournament victories. Wooden led his dynastic Bruin program to 12 Final Fours and his teams won 47 games in NCAA history.

Smith led 11 different Tar Heel squads to the Final Four and his teams have won 65 tournament games. From 1967-69, Smith's first three ACC Tournament championship teams each went on to the NCAA Final Four. The 1968 Tar Heels beat Ohio State in the semifinals and then lost to UCLA and the great Lew Alcindor in the championship game at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. That game marked the first of five trips to the NCAA championship game by a Smith-led Carolina team. Other championship game appearances have been in 1977, 1981, 1982 and 1993.

After winning the national championship in 1982, Carolina waited nine years before returning to the NCAA Final Four in 1991. Ranked fourth in the final polls, UNC was seeded first in the East Regional, where it beat Northeastern and Villanova at Syracuse's Carrier Dome and Eastern Michigan and Temple at the Brendan Byrne Arena in East Rutherford, N.J., to claim the regional championship. Carolina's hopes for a fourth national championship remained unfulfilled however, as a Kansas team coached by Roy Williams eliminated the Tar Heels in the national semifinals at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

In 1993, the storied Tar Heel basketball program made a return trip to the site of the 1982 NCAA championship win, New Orleans, and it resulted in a deja vu experience for Smith's Tar Heels. In a rematch of the 1991 Final Four semifinal game, the Tar Heels met up with former Carolina assistant coach Williams' Kansas team. Unlike two years earlier, this time the Tar Heels were slated for better things as Williams scored 25 and senior George Lynch added 14 on their way to overcoming the Jayhawks, 78-68.

In the championship game, UNC was matched up against Michigan, which was playing in the title game for a second straight year. The game was marked by constant lead changes as the Carolina starters and bench players made their contributions against Michigan's starting sophomore group. Williams, the Final Four's Most Outstanding Player, had a flurry of 17 second-half points that helped ignite a Carolina celebration when the Tar Heels won the championship, 77-71. It was the third NCAA men's basketball championship for Carolina, more than any other school in history with the exception of UCLA, Kentucky and Indiana.

In the 1994 NCAA Tournament, Carolina had its record-tying string of 13 consecutive Final 16 appearances, dating back to the 1980 season, ended with a 75-72 second-round loss to Boston College. UCLA also appeared in 13 successive Sweet 16s from 1967-79.

However, the following season saw Carolina reach the Final Four once again. When the 1995

men's basketball NCAA Tournament pairings were announced that March, few fans could have imagined the excitement and upsets that would unfold as the Tournament progressed. When the dust had settled, though, just four teams remained to make the trip to the Seattle Kingdome for the Final Four. Fittingly, two of those teams were the winningest in NCAA Tournament history: UCLA and North Carolina. It was Carolina's 12th trip to the Final Four overall and third time in the 1990s. North Carolina entered the Tournament as the second seed in the Southeast Region, behind heavy favorite and number one seed Kentucky.

Both team's advanced to the Southeast Regional finals where Carolina's patented suffocating defense held the Wildcats to just 7-of-36 from three-point range, a dismal 19.4 percent for the game. Southeast Regional MVP Jerry Stackhouse had 18 points in a 74-61 UNC win. In the national semifinals, Arkansas turned the tables on Carolina, forcing 15 UNC turnovers and holding UNC to a 37.5 field goal percentage as the Razorbacks eliminated Carolina, 75-68.

Last season, the Tar Heels advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the 23rd consecutive time dating back to 1975. The second longest streak in tournament history is Georgetown with 14 consecutive appearances from 1979-92. Arizona has the second-longest active streak with 13.

Carolina rebounded from an 0-3 start in ACC play to finish second in the league standings and gained a No. 1 seed in the NCAA East Regional by winning the ACC Tournament. The Tar Heels swept through the East by defeating Fairfield and Colorado in Winston-Salem and California and Louisville in Syracuse.

The first two rounds had added excitement as the college basketball world focused on Coach Smith becoming the alltime winningest coach in Division I history. Smith won his 876th career game in the first round against Fairfield, despite trailing the 16th-seeded Stags by seven at the half. The Tar Heels rallied, behind 22 points from Vince Carter and 19 points and 13 rebounds by Serge Zwikker, for an eight-point win. UNC set a school-record with just two turnovers.

On March 15, 1997, Carolina trailed Colorado, 31-30, at halftime, but routed the Buffaloes in the second half en route to an emotional, 73-56 win. The triumph gave Smith his 877th win, the alltime NCAA record. Antawn Jamison had a game-high 19 points and 16 rebounds, Ademola Okulaja added 12 points and 11 boards and Ed Cota had a season-high 16 points.

Jamison suffered back spasms the morning of the regional semifinal against California, but he led UNC to the win with a seven-point scoring surge late in a 63-57 win. Jamison had 21 points and Shammond Williams knocked in four three-pointers to eliminate the Bears.

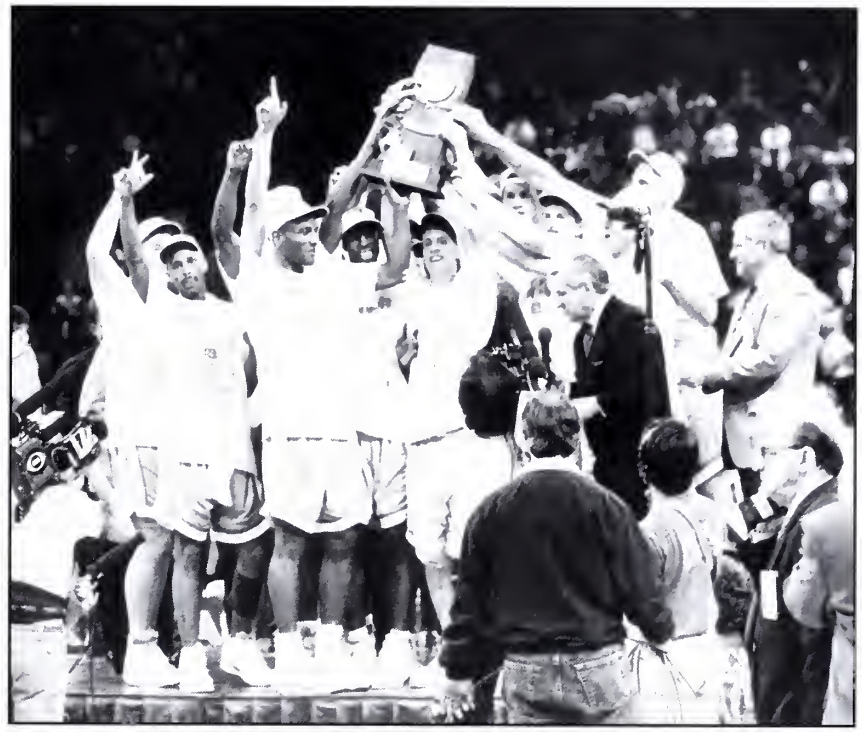
Williams, who earned regional MVP honors, had a game-high 22 points in the regional final against Louisville. Carolina led by 21 points at the half, but the Cardinals pulled within three in the second half. A 22-3 run by the Tar Heels in the final six minutes iced the win.

North Carolina's streak of consecutive appearances could easily be longer. Under NCAA rules, only one team from any conference represented its league in the NCAA Tournament prior to 1975. To qualify for the NCAAs, an ACC team had to fight through America's toughest conference tournament. Carolina was the ACC's representative to the NCAA Tournament six times under those rules from the league's founding in 1953 until tournament expansion became a reality in 1975.

Since the NCAA Tournament expanded that year and the ACC began placing more than just the tournament champion in the big show, North Carolina has been in every single NCAA Tournament — an achievement of which no other program in the nation can boast. As you can clearly see, when one says "March Madness," Carolina is traditionally a part of it.

In its 31 NCAA appearances, Carolina has won a total of 72 games. The 31 appearances are the third most in NCAA history behind Kentucky's 38 and UCLA's 32. Only Kentucky's 75 victories leads North Carolina's and UCLA's 68 wins for the most alltime tournament victories.

Smith's Tar Heel teams qualified for 27 NCAA Tournaments, giving him the most tournament appearances by a coach in college basketball history. Bob Knight and Denny Crum rank tied for second with 21 appearances apiece.



Carolina celebrates after receiving the 1993 national championship trophy. The Tar Heels defeated Michigan, 77-71, in the title game. Hugh Morton

Carolina has not limited its postseason success to the NCAA Tournament as the Tar Heels have participated in four National Invitation Tournaments and won seven NIT games.

Carolina's four NIT appearances came in a span of five years in the early 1970s — the era when only one ACC team represented the conference in NCAA Tournament play. In 1971, Smith led the Tar Heels to the NIT championship by posting wins over Massachusetts, Providence, Duke and Georgia Tech. Interestingly, the semifinal win over Duke in Madison Square Garden in New York City was the first time in that storied rivalry that Carolina had met the Blue Devils outside the state of North Carolina. The Tar Heels won that NIT title with a convincing 84-66 victory over Georgia Tech and forward Bill Chamberlain was selected as the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Carolina's tournament success is not bound by the postseason only. Through the years, Carolina has won 34 regular season tournaments. The Tar Heels were three-time winners of the popular Dixie Classic in Raleigh in the late '50s. In 1971-72, Carolina won five tournament championships in a single season, including the Big Four in Greensboro, the International Christmas in Madrid, Spain, the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, the ACC in Greensboro and the NCAA East Regional in Morgantown, W.Va.

Most recently, the Tar Heels claimed the championship for the fifth straight year at the Harris Teeter Pepsi Challenge in Charlotte.

In short, Carolina's tournament record speaks for itself — three NCAA Tournament, 14 ACC Tournament, eight Southern Conference Tournament, 12 NCAA Regional and 34 regular-season tournament championships—and counting.

The Atlantic Coast Conference Men's Basketball Tournament is annually the preeminent college roundball clash in the country and no team has won as many tournament championships or dominated the history of the event more than the University of North Carolina.

The Tar Heels have won a record 14 ACC Tournament crowns, a record 67 games and been the No. 1 seed on 17 occasions. Coach Dean Smith led Carolina to 13 championships, nine more than Vic Bubas of Duke and Everett Case of N.C. State, who each won four titles, the second-highest number of team titles by one coach.

Carolina won its first ACC Tournament title in 1957 as the Tar Heels would go on to post a perfect record and win the NCAA championship. UNC is the only school in the conference that has won at least one ACC Tournament in the 1950s (one), 1960s (three), 1970s (four), 1980s (three) and 1990s (three). From 1954 to 1974, only the conference tournament champion was invited to the NCAA Tournament and UNC won five tournaments in that era, including three straight from 1967-69.

Caralina wan ACC titles fram 1967-69. Overall, UNC has captured 14 canference crawns.

If remarkable seems like too strong a word to characterize UNC's performance in the ACC Tournament, consider these statistics:

- UNC has entered the tournament as the No. 1 seed 17 times, compiling a 33-9 record in that slot and winning eight titles as the No. 1 seed.
- UNC has never been seeded lower than No. 5 and has been seeded lower than No. 3 only twice since 1966 (No. 4 in '89 and '90). UNC won the tournament as the No. 4 seed in 1989.
- The ACC Tournament has been played in five different cities, and UNC has a winning record in each arena, most prolifically a 16-4 (.800) record in Charlotte.
- A UNC player has won the Everett Case Award as the Most Valuable Player 15 times. Those players read like a who's who list of college basketball talent. They include: Lenny Rosenbluth (1957), Larry Miller (1967, 1968), Charlie Scott (1969), Lee Dedmon (1971), Robert McAdoo (1972), Phil Ford (1975), John Kuester (1977), Dudley Bradley (1979), Sam Perkins (1981), James Worthy (1982), J.R. Reid (1989), Rick Fox (1991), Jerry Stackhouse (1994) and Shammond Williams (1997).

Overall Carolina has a 67-29 record in the ACC Tournament. Coach Smith's teams were 58-23 in the event. No other coach in history has won more than 22 games. Smith's teams played in the championship game in 21 of his 36 years.

THE FIFTIES

North Carolina lost its first two games, both as the No. 5 seed, in 1954 and 1955. Skippy Winstead's 25 points, 70 percent shooting and 40 minutes played did not go unnoticed in the 1954 game against N.C. State, garnering first-team all-tournament honors.

The breakthrough season for the Tar Heels in the ACC Tournament came in 1957. A group of displaced Yankees playing for Frank McGuire ran the table in the conference regular season, 14-0. That year marked the first time that UNC reached the finals of any conference tournament since the 1947 finals of the Southern Conference Tournament. The Tar Heels held off Wake Forest, 61-59, in the semifinal and then defeated South Carolina by 20 points in the final to earn their first ACC championship. In the semifinal, Wake Forest took a one-point lead with less than a minute to play, but National Player of the Year Lenny Rosenbluth hit a hook shot from the circle as well as a free throw for a three-point play and the win.

Rosenbluth made 8 of 11 shots from the floor in the championship en route to 38 points, the team title and MVP honors.

Carolina made the championship game again in 1958 and 1959 but lost to Maryland and N.C. State, respectively.

THE SIXTIES

Carolina won only four of 10 games from 1960-66, but dominated the ACC over the final three years of the decade. In an era when only the ACC Tournament champion would advance to the NCAA Tournament, the pressure to win the conference tournament was greater than ever. The 1967-68-69 Tar Heel teams rank as one of the great eras in conference history. Those teams went a combined 36-6 in regular-season league action and a perfect 9-0 in the ACC Tournament.

The Tournament moved to the Greensboro Coliseum for the first time in 1967 and was the site of Smith's first title. Larry Miller and his fellow Tar Heels defeated N.C. State in the quarterfinal by three points, Wake Forest in the semifinal by 10 and Duke by nine in the title match. Miller was selected the Most Valuable Player (25.7 points, 8.3 rebounds). Joining Miller on the first-team all-tournament squad was Bob Lewis (18.0 points, 5.0 rebounds). Rusty Clark and Dick Grubar were selected to the second team.

The Tournament moved again in 1968 for the first year of a three-year stay in Charlotte. UNC's semifinal game against South Carolina was a fierce battle. A fiery second-half start by North Carolina was extinguished by the Gamecocks, as USC produced an 18-4 burst to tie the score at 74 at the end of regulation. The Tar Heels had to come from behind in overtime and won on baskets by Grubar and Gerald Tuttle.

In the championship game, Carolina led N.C. State by only five at the half, but the final tally was a lopsided 87-50 victory for UNC's second straight title. Miller (25.3 points, 8.7 rebounds) repeated his selection as the MVP, and Grubar (13.3 points, 4.7 rebounds) was also a first-team selection. Charlie Scott and Clark were second-team selections.

North Carolina entered the 1969 ACC Tournament as the No. 1 seed for the third year in a row after posting a 12-2 league record. It was a tale of two "Charlies" in the semifinals as Carolina's Charlie Scott and Wake Forest's Charlie Davis battled. Davis won the first half, as the Deacons led 37-29 at intermission. Scott took over in the second stanza, enabling UNC to win, 80-72. Scott and Grubar scored 23 points each.

Carolina and Duke squared off in the championship game. The Blue Devils led by nine at halftime and the Tar Heels lost Grubar to a first-half knee injury. The second half featured one of the most memorable performances in ACC history as Scott scored 25 of his game-high 40 points on 12 of 13 shooting. Thanks in large part to Scott's efforts, Carolina won its third straight ACC title, 85-74, and Scott earned MVP honors.

THE SEVENTIES

The 1970s brought many changes in the ACC. South Carolina left the conference after its victory in the 1971 ACC championship game. Georgia Tech filled the void in 1980 with its membership. In addition, beginning in 1975, a team no longer had to win the ACC Tournament to receive an NCAA Tournament bid since the NCAA began sending out at-large bids with the '75 tourney.

One constant in the seventies was the success of the Tar Heels, who won four ACC Tournaments.

The first of the four came in 1972. Carolina entered the tournament with three blemishes on its conference ledger, but earning the No. 1 seed. South Carolina's secession from the league left only seven teams in the tournament, and Carolina received a bye into the semifinal against Duke. Four Tar Heels scored in double figures, led by Bobby Jones, who carded a double-double (14 points, 11 rebounds) as the Tar Heels won, 63-48.

Carolina was in the championship game for the fifth time in six years. Maryland was in the finals for the first time since 1958. Carolina posted a large early lead, 21-9, and the two teams ran even for the rest of the first half with UNC leading at intermission, 41-29. Robert McAdoo (15 points, 7.5 rebounds per game) became the fifth Tar Heel in six years to win the MVP award as Carolina held on for a 73-64 win. Dennis Wuycik (17.5 points, 5 rebounds) and George Karl (13 points, 2.5 rebounds, .571 shooting percentage) joined McAdoo on the all-tournament first team.

In 1975 the Tar Heels trailed Wake Forest in the quarterfinals by eight points with 50 seconds left. Freshman point guard Phil Ford (44 seconds to play), Mitch Kupchak (36 seconds), Walter Davis (30 seconds) and Brad Hoffman (two seconds) hit jump shots and the Deacs missed a pair of free throws to force overtime. In the extra session with the game tied at 96 Carolina took possession with 58 seconds to play. UNC went to the "Four Corners" offense, and drew a technical against Wake Forest with 29 seconds to play for not forcing UNC to take action. Ford hit the free throw and another free throw six seconds later as Carolina triumphed, 101-100. UNC's winning effort was led by Davis (31 points, 12 rebounds), Kupchak (16 points, 14 rebounds) and Ford (25 points).

In the 1975 semifinals Clemson came back from 11 down at the half to force overtime. A tip-in basket by Kupchak gave Carolina an overtime lead it would not relinquish. Ford led UNC with 29, including 15 of 18 from the free throw line.

In the championship game against defending NCAA champion N.C. State, Ford excelled running the "Four Corners." Carolina took the lead, 56-55, on a jumper by Davis with nine minutes left and then went into its delay offense. Ford hit two baskets in the next two and one-half minutes, and N.C. State did not score during a 5:18 stretch, paving the way for a 70-66 Tar Heel victory. Ford (26 points per game) was the MVP and was joined on the first-team by Kupchak (13.7 points, 13.7 rebounds). Davis netted 19 points and grabbed 7.7 rebounds over the three games.

No. 1 seed Carolina met No. 7 Virginia in the finals of the 1977 Tournament. Ford scored 19 points in the first half, but the Cavaliers led by one at the break. Virginia led 64-56 with 7:08 remaining, but over the next 5:03 the Tar Heels blitzed the Wahoos, 15-1. Freshman Mike O'Koren and John Kuester led the final charge after Ford fouled out with 5:45 to play and UVa still holding a 64-61 advantage. A layup by Tom Zaliagaris gave the Tar Heels the lead with 4:22 left and a layup by Bruce Buckley with 3:37 to play broke a 67-all tie and gave UNC the lead for good. Kuester's take-charge attitude and perfect free throw shooting earned him the tournament's MVP award. Ford and O'Koren were also first-team selections.

At the end of the 1979 regular season, Carolina and Duke were tied atop the ACC standings. Duke defeated UNC in the final game of the regular season, but the Tar Heels won the draw for the tournament's top seed and first-round bye. Carolina defeated Maryland, 102-79, in the semifinal, as five Tar Heels scored in double figures. Al Wood led with 19 points on 8 of 10 shooting.

The tournament ended just as the regular season had — a contest between the Blue Devils and Carolina. O'Koren led five Tar Heels in double figures with 18 points as the UNC prevailed, 71-63. Dudley Bradley scored 16 points with seven steals and four assists and earned MVP honors. O'Koren had 18 points and eight rebounds and was 10 for 11 from the free throw line. The Tar Heels turned the ball over just seven times and forced 14 Duke miscues. O'Koren and Dave Colescott, averaging 15 and 12.5 points per game in the tournament, respectively, also were first-team selections.

THE EIGHTIES

The Tar Heels struck fast in the '80s, claiming their first title of the decade in 1981. UNC beat Wake Forest, 58-57, in the semifinal as Mike Pepper nailed a 16-foot jumper with eight seconds to play for the victory. Freshman Sam Perkins scored 18 points and pulled down 15 rebounds, James Worthy added 12 points and 11 rebounds and Pepper had 12 points to pace the Tar Heels. The Deacons led 53-46 with 9:40 to play but Pepper and Perkins each hit two baskets. The second basket by Perkins gave UNC a 56-55 lead with 4:12 to play. Alvis Rogers hit an 11-foot jumper to give Wake the lead back with 1:30 to play, but Pepper hit the game-winner with eight seconds to go.

Carolina and Maryland met in the 1981 final in the Capital Centre in Landover, Md. The game was tied seven times in the second half, but the Tar Heels finally went ahead for good with 2:53 to play on a Jimmy Black steal and layup. Wood scored twice in the final 2:00 to help UNC to a 61-60 triumph.

Perkins (17.7 points, 8.3 rebounds) became just the second freshman ever, and first since Ford, to be named the Everett Case Award winner. Worthy (13 points, 7.7 rebounds) joined Perkins as a first-team all-tournament selection.

In 1982 No. 1 Carolina led No. 2 Virginia, 34-31, at halftime behind 16 points by Worthy. Freshman Michael Jordan scored four of the Tar Heels' first five field goals in the second half. His fourth straight field goal, with 8:44 to play, actually was Carolina's last of the game. Leading 44-43 with 7:34 remaining, Carolina spread the floor and held the ball. Virginia fouled six times over the next 7:06, putting Matt Doherty on the foul line for 1-and-1 with 28 seconds left. Doherty hit the first for a two-point edge. Virginia committed a turnover with three seconds to play, Doherty hit two free throws with a second left and Ralph Sampson dunked uncontested with one second to go for the final margin of 47-45, UNC. The field goal by Sampson was the first by the Cavaliers since the 7:34 mark.

Worthy (13.3 points, 8 rebounds), Perkins (9.7 points, 7.3 rebounds) and Jordan (11.7 points, 3 rebounds) were named to the first-team all-tournament team, with Worthy being named the MVP.

Carolina reached the ACC Tournament championship game four more times in the '80s but did not win another team title until 1989. Carolina breezed to the championship game, recording a 15-point rout of Georgia Tech in the quarterfinal and a 30-point romp over eighth-seeded Maryland.

The 1989 ACC championship game was one of the great meetings ever between Carolina and Duke. Earlier in the year, playing without senior point guard Jeff Lebo, UNC toppled undefeated and No. 1-ranked Duke by 20 points in Cameron Indoor Stadium. The Blue Devils ended the regular-season, however, with a two-point win over the Tar Heels in the Smith Center.

The ACC Tournament finale was one of the fiercest, most intense games in conference history. The Tar Heels committed 26 turnovers and forced 18 mistakes by the Blue Devils. Junior center J.R. Reid and senior guard Steve Bucknall led the Tar Heels. Reid had 14 points and nine rebounds; Bucknall had 10 points and five assists. Carolina led 20-8 early but Duke rallied to within four at the half.The game was tied five times in the second half and Duke led just one time, with 5:28 to play. Bucknall hit a driving basket and subsequent free throw with 1:46 remaining to break a 66 tie. Bucknall and King Rice hit Reid (16.0 points, 8.0 rebounds per game) won the Everett Case Award. Lebo (10.7 points, 3.0 assists), Bucknall (10.3 points, 5.3 assists) and Rick Fox (12.0 points, .619 shooting percentage) were also all-tournament selections.

THE NINETIES

Two years after taking out Duke in the 1989 championship game, Carolina again gave the Blue Devils nightmares in 1991. After hard-fought victories over Clemson and Virginia, the Tar Heels met a Duke team that had swept the regular-season series from UNC. Carolina raced out to a 15-4 lead and thrashed Duke, 96-74. Fox made 10 of 16 field goal attempts for 25 points and Hubert Davis netted 17. Rice had 12 points and seven assists and did not commit a single turnover. Fox averaged 17.3 points and 9 rebounds over the three games and was named the MVP. Davis averaged 13.7 points and hit nearly 64 percent from three-point range in the tournament.

The 1994 ACC Tournament marked a record 13th title for the Tar Heels. Carolina faced Wake Forest in the semifinal in what proved to be one of the most exciting games in the history of the ACC Tournament. Wake Forest led, 76-70, with 2:15 to play in regulation, but UNC point guard Derrick Phelps helped cut the lead to three with 11 seconds to play. Phelps made the first of two free throws and then rebounded his own miss. He fed sophomore guard Dante Calabria who drove the lane and hit a twisting bank shot with three seconds left for an 81 tie.

Carolina led 84-81 in overtime until a three-pointer by Rusty LaRue tied the game with 39 seconds left. Freshman Jerry Stackhouse, the Tournament's MVP, hit the game-winner for the Tar Heels on a baseline move with five seconds on the clock. Wake Forest guard Randolph Childress, who scored 31 points, just narrowly missed a long three-pointer as the clock expired. Phelps had 12 points, six assists and three steals.

Stackhouse's 14 points and seven rebounds and Eric Montross' 12 points and nine rebounds led Carolina past Virginia, 73-66, in the 1994 title game. Phelps added nine assists and three steals.

Wake Forest edged Carolina, 82-80, in the 1995 championship game as Childress scored 37 points, including all nine of his team's points in overtime. The teams traded leads in the second half, but the Tar Heels were forced to play without injured All-America center Rasheed Wallace. Wallace had scored 33 points against Joe Smith and Maryland in an overtime win in the semifinals, but sprained an ankle with just over six minutes to play in the final. Stackhouse had 24 points in the final. He drained a three-pointer with 4.5 seconds remaining in regulation to send the game into overtime, but just missed a three at the final buzzer which would have won the game and the title.

Last year, the Tar Heels rallied from an 0-3 start in ACC play to finish in a tie for second place. Carolina then swept past Virginia, Wake Forest and N.C. State to claim its 14th conference crown.

Shammond Williams earned MVP honors averaging 20.0 points and 5.0 assists in the three games. He was a combined 18-32 from the field, 9-18 from three-point range and 15-17 from the free throw line.

Antawn Jamison scored 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and freshman point guard Ed Cota had 11 points and 10 assists in the 78-68 quarterfinal win over Virginia. Williams made eight of 11 shots, including four of seven three-pointers, in an 86-73 triumph over the Demon Deacons in the semifinals.

In the championship game, Williams again led Carolina with 23 points, nine of which came on a trio of three-point baskets in a 2:02 span midway through the second half. Jamison added 17 points and a game-high 11 rebounds. Carolina shot 59.0 percent from the floor, the third-highest ever by the winning team in an ACC final.

CAROLINA'S FANTASTIC FINISHES

If you ask opposing coaches and fans, they will likely tell you that when they line up against the Tar Heels, virtually no lead is a safe one until the final buzzer has sounded. Amazing comebacks and heart-stopping finishes have been a trademark of UNC teams. Many of the most memorable wins in UNC history have occured when the Tar Heels overcame large deficits or hit clutch shots in late-game situations.

That sense of the dramatic may have been initiated in Chapel Hill by the 1957 national champions, but it was perfected by Coach Dean Smith. What Tar Heel follower could ever forget Walter Davis's 28-foot prayer against Duke in 1974; or the 20-point comeback against Wake Forest in 1992; or George Lynch's steal and dunk to overcome a 21-point deficit against Florida State in 1993.

How many Carolina fans remember that in the last four wins of the 1993 NCAA title drive, the Tar Heels trailed by at least double digits in all four contests; or the 1995-96 season in which Carolina rallied to beat Wake Forest and Duke in a span of four days despite a second-half deficit of 18 points to the Deacons and a 17-point, late first-half deficit against the Devils.

As shocking as those comebacks seemed to be at the time, they simply are added chapters to the great comeback story authored for so many years by Coach Smith's Carolina teams. His teams revel in the challenge of a game many observers would be too quick to call lost. The poise, discipline and belief in each other which have been the calling card of UNC teams for the past 36 years, manifest themselves in such situations.

Five seasons ago, just hours before his Seminoles entered the Smith Center to do battle with the Tar Heels on January 27, 1993, Florida State Head Coach Pat Kennedy browsed through the Carolina media guide and read about the great Tar Heel comebacks of the past. Kennedy surely was unaware that his team would soon become another chapter in that storied history.

Florida State jumped out to a 45-28 advantage at the half and extended the lead to as many as 21 points in the second stanza. With under nine minutes to go, Carolina still trailed, 73-54. Spurred by pressure defense and long-range shooting, the Heels ran off 15 straight points to cut the deficit to four. Later, an Eric Montross jump hook with 1:59 left cut the FSU lead to 77-76. Then, in a play reminiscent of a Michael Jordan exploit against Virginia 10 years earlier, George Lynch stole a Charlie Ward crosscourt heave at midcourt and slammed the ball home to give Carolina a 78-77 lead. Clutch foul shooting by Donald Williams sealed the 82-77 victory. The Tar Heels had amazingly outscored the Seminoles 28-4 over the last nine minutes to end the game.

The win, the comeback and the confidence that any game could be won no matter the odds, sparked the 1992-93 Tar Heels on a 18-3 run, capped by the NCAA championship game win over Michigan.

That incredible comeback epitomized the litany of improbable wins Carolina has pulled off through the years. Detailed below in chronological order are some of the classic comebacks, last-second thrillers and fantastic finishes in Tar Heel history.

1957 SEASON – In Carolina's incredible 32-0 national championship season, the Tar Heels had to pull out several thrillers to preserve their perfect record. In the fourth game of the season, South Carolina took the Heels to overtime in Columbia before UNC prevailed, 90-86. The 17th win was a double-overtime contest, this time against Maryland in College Park. The Tar Heels trailed by four with just two minutes left in regulation before emerging as the 65-61 victors. The next game was at home in Woollen Gym against Duke, and the score was tied with a minute to play. Tommy Kearns' free throws provided the winning margin in the 18th consecutive win, 75-73. The 23rd win was one of Carolina's many battles with Wake Forest that season. Trailing by four with just three minutes remaining in Winston-Salem, the Tar Heels pulled out a 69-64 win. Only three games later, the Heels met the Deacons again in the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament semifinals in Raleigh. Carolina trailed with less than a minute left, but squeaked out a 61-59 win for its fourth victory over Wake Forest of the 1956-57 season. In the NCAA Tournament, the close contests continued. In the national semifinals, the Spartans of Michigan State went three overtime periods with Carolina before falling, 74-70. Pete Brennan hit a jump shot with only three seconds left in double overtime to force the third extra frame. The NCAA championship game began with 5-11 Tommy Kearns jumping center against 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain of the Kansas Jayhawks and ended in an epic battle that went three overtimes. Tar Heel star Lennie Rosenbluth fouled out of his last college game in regulation, but the rest of the team picked up the slack. Joe Wolter Dovis copped an eight-point comebock in the final 17 seconds of regulotion with this 28-foot shot os time expired. Corolino went on to defeot Duke, 96-92, in overtime on Morch 2, 1974.

The Tar Heels jump for joy as Charlie Scott sinks the game-winning shot at the buzzer as Carolina defeated Davidson, 87-85, in the 1969 NCAA East Regional finals.

Quigg hit two free throws with only six seconds remaining in the final overtime period to give Carolina a 54-53 win.

JANUARY 4, 1967 – Playing in Winston-Salem, Carolina was engaged in one of its many classic battles with the Wake Forest Demon Deacons. It seemed as though this was the Deacons' game to win, however, when Tom Gauntlett missed a 23-foot jumper with 15 seconds left that would have tied the game for Carolina. But the Tar Heels' Rusty Clark was there for the tip-in and the score stood at 74-74. Wake Forest brought the ball upcourt for its game-winning attempt, but Larry Miller came up with a steal at halfcourt. Miller drove to the basket, made an off-balance layup and just kept on running straight to the Carolina locker room. The Tar Heels ran out of Winston-Salem with another last-second victory, 76-74.

DECEMBER 29, 1967 – In the semifinals of the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore., Carolina faced unbeaten Utah. The Utes sprinted out to a 54-41 halftime lead and, with 14:34 left in the contest, they had extended their lead to 67-50. But, led by Charlie Scott and Larry Miller, the Tar Heels staged a furious comeback. With just two minutes left, Dick Grubar scored his first basket of the game and tied the score at 82-82. Then, with the score tied at 84 apiece, Scott hit the game-winning shot with eight seconds to go. Both Scott and Miller finished with 24 points, and Carolina went on to defeat Oregon State the following day to win the tournament title.

MARCH 8, 1969 – On this day it was Charlie Scott who provided the heroics in Carolina's ACC Tournament championship win over Duke in Charlotte. Dick Grubar missed most of the game with a knee injury and Bill Bunting played only sparingly before fouling out with 9:26 left. The Tar Heels trailed by nine at the half before Scott put on one of the greatest individual performances in Carolina history in the second 20 minutes. He connected on 12 of his 13 second-half field goal attempts, many of which were long jumpers, and scored 28 points in the half. Scott's game-high 40 points led the Tar Heels to a come-from-behind 85-74 win and their third consecutive ACC crown.

MARCH 15, 1969 – A week later, Scott again put on one of his amazing performances, almost single-handedly carrying the Tar Heels to victory. This time the opponent was Davidson and the setting was the NCAA East Regional final in College Park, Md. Scott was dazzling in the second half, connecting on 10 of 14 field goal attempts. Dick Grubar was out of action with a knee injury, but Carolina stayed close. Davidson had the ball with 1:05 remaining, and the score tied, 85-85. Gerald Tuttle drew a charge for the Tar Heels, setting up the final possession of the game. Carolina ran a play for Scott, who took the ball at the top of the key, soared above a defender and launched a 20-footer with three seconds left. The ball sailed through the hoop, the buzzer sounded and the Heels were off to their third-consecutive Final Four.

JANUARY 19, 1974 – In a vintage Carolina-Duke hardcourt battle, the Tar Heels defeated the Blue Devils on another last-second shot at Cameron Indoor Stadium in Durham. After the Tar Heels had rallied to tie the score at 71-71, Duke had the ball at halfcourt with four seconds left. But Bobby Jones stole the inbounds pass and hit a spinning, off-balance layup with one second left to give Carolina a 73-71 win.

MARCH 2, 1974 – In perhaps the most famous comeback in college basketball history, the Tar Heels rallied from eight points down with 17 seconds remaining against Duke to force overtime at Carmichael Auditorium. Trailing 86-78, Bobby Jones connected on both ends of a one-and-one with just 17 ticks left on the clock. John Kuester cut the deficit to four with a layup when Duke threw away the inbounds pass, but there were still just 13 seconds left. Again, the Blue Devils lost the inbounds pass. Jones then cut the Duke lead to two on a put-back of an Ed Stahl miss. Six seconds remained. With four seconds left, the Tar Heels fouled Pete Kramer, who missed the front end of the one-and-one. Stahl grabbed the rebound and called a timeout with but three ticks left. Mitch Kupchak inbounded the ball to Walter Davis, who launched a 28-foot prayer as time expired. The prayer was answered as Davis' shot kissed off the glass to tie the score at 86-86. Carmichael Auditorium erupted and Carolina went on to win 96-92 in overtime.

MARCH 6, 1975 – In the opening round of the ACC Tournament in Greensboro, Carolina trailed Wake Forest 90-82 with only 50 seconds remaining. A 20-footer by Phil Ford cut the deficit to six with 43 ticks left. After the Demon Deacons turned the ball over in their delay offense, Mitch Kupchak scored on a drive to the hoop to pull the Tar Heels within four with 34 seconds to go. Wake Forest's inbounds pass grazed the scoreboard, turning the ball over to Carolina. Walter Davis quickly capitalized on the mistake, making the score 90-88 with 29 seconds left. Two Deacons failed to convert their one-and-one opportunities and Carolina called timeout with nine seconds on the clock. Brad Hoffman drove the baseline and nailed a 12-footer to tie the game with two seconds left. The Tar Heels pulled out the 101-100 win in overtime and went on to capture the ACC title two days later.

JANUARY 17, 1979 – Playing at Reynolds Coliseum on the campus of N.C. State, it looked as though the Tar Heels would finally have the tables turned against them. Carolina charged out to a 40-19 halftime lead and was seemingly in control of the game. With 10:30 to play, the Heels still led by 17, but then the Wolfpack hit a torrid streak. State had cut the Carolina lead to three with 43 seconds to play when Hawkeye Whitney went to the line for the Wolfpack. At the same time, Carolina's Jimmy Black was whistled for a technical foul and Whitney hit two of the three free throws to cut the Wolfpack's deficit to one. After the inbounds play, Kenny Matthews hit a long-range jumper with 32 seconds left that gave State a 69-68 lead. Reynolds erupted. Carolina tried to regain the lead, but Dudley Bradley missed a long jump shot and State grabbed the rebound with 16 seconds left. Reynolds celebrated. But Bradley atoned for his miss when he stole the ball from State's Clyde Austin at midcourt and drove in for the game-winning dunk. A Wolfpack desperation shot bounded off the glass and Carolina escaped with a 70-69 triumph.

NOVEMBER 30, 1982 – Coming off their 1982 national championship, the Tar Heels had opened the season with losses to St. John's and Missouri before returning to Carmichael for the home opener. The opponent was the Green Wave of Tulane, which had taken Carolina to the wire several times over the years. With the score tied at 49-49, Tulane's John Williams hit a layup with 1:29 remaining to put the Wave up by two. With just 36 seconds left, Michael Jordan scored on an offensive rebound to tie the game. But with eight seconds left, Williams made two free throws to give Tulane a 53-51 edge. Jordan was whistled for an offensive foul with four seconds remaining, and it appeared the Heels would start a season with three successive losses for the first time since 1928-29. However, Jordan came up with the Green Wave's inbounds pass and hit a spinning 24-foot prayer at the buzzer to tie the game. Carolina finally prevailed, 70-68, after three thrilling overtime periods.

FEBRUARY 10, 1983 – Carolina trailed Ralph Sampson and second-ranked Virginia by as many as 16 points in the second half and was down 63-53 with just 4:12 left on the clock. Jimmy Braddock hit a long three-pointer from the right side to cut the margin to seven, and Matt Doherty made both ends of a one-and-one to close the gap to five. Sam Perkins also converted his one-and-one to trim the Cavalier lead to 63-60 with 2:54 remaining. Terry Holland then had Virginia stall and Perkins was forced to foul Sampson with 1:20 left. The All-America center missed the front end of his one-and-one and Michael Jordan proceeded to take over the game. Braddock missed a three-pointer, but Jordan was there to put in the rebound. As Rick Carlisle dribbled the ball upcourt for the Cavaliers, Jordan stole it and slammed it home for a 64-63 Tar Heel lead. Carlisle missed a potential game-winning shot and Jordan grabbed the rebound to seal the win as Carmichael exploded in celebration.

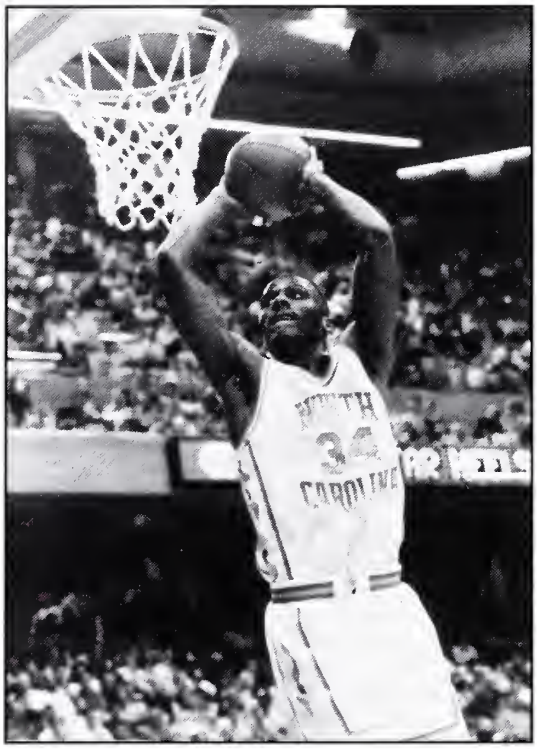
JANUARY 9, 1985 – Late in Lefty Driesell's career at College Park, Maryland seemed poised to knock off Carolina at Carmichael Auditorium. The Terps led 72-69 with only 23 seconds left and star guard Keith Gatlin on the line for a one-and-one opportunity. The 83 percent foul shooter missed the front end and Kenny Smith rushed upcourt and sank a jump shot with 16 seconds left. Steve Hale fouled Adrian Branch, a 78-percent free-throw shooter, on the inbounds pass. Branch also missed. Dave Popson provided the winning points with a high-arcing jumper over Maryland defender Derrick Lewis from 16 feet away. The swish at 0:09 gave the Tar Heels a 73-72 lead. Curtis Hunter's steal and free throws secured the win as Carolina prevailed, 75-74.

MARCH 16, 1985 – In the second round of the NCAA Tournament, the higher-seeded Tar Heels played Notre Dame at South Bend. The score was tied 58-58 with 1:38 to go when the Irish's Donald Royal went to the foul stripe. Royal missed, but Jim Dolan grabbed the rebound and the Irish decided to hold for the last shot. As the clock wound down, point guard David Rivers lost control of the ball, enabling Carolina's Curtis Hunter to scoop it up and make a lead pass to Kenny Smith. Smith slammed it home for the game-winning shot and then stole the inbounds pass to seal the win.

NOVEMBER 21, 1987 – Carolina was pitted against top-ranked Syracuse in the Hall of Fame Tip-Off Classic at Springfield, Mass. Playing without standouts J.R. Reid and Steve Bucknall, the Tar Heels seemingly were undermanned against the powerful Orangemen, who a season earlier were NCAA finalists. Indeed, with 15:39 left in the game, Syracuse had built a 14-point lead. But Carolina stormed back, and Syracuse led only 85-83 when the Tar Heels had the last possession of regulation. Freshman Pete Chilcutt hit a rim-rattling, turnaround jumper at the horn to send the game to overtime. Carolina prevailed, 96-93, in the extra session to complete the upset of the Orangemen.



On January 27, 1993, Florida State led the Tar Heels by 19 points with less than nine minutes to play. Carolina ran off 15 straight points and went ahead for the first time when senior George Lynch stole a cross court pass and dunked for a 78-77 lead. The Tar Heels won 82-77, outscoring the Seminoles 28-4 over the last nine minutes.

NOVEMBER 24, 1989 – In Carolina's season opener against James Madison at the Maui Classic, the Tar Heels trailed, 79-70, with less than a minute to play. Rick Fox started the Carolina surge with a rebound basket with 51 seconds remaining. Hubert Davis stole the ball three seconds later and canned a three-pointer to cut the margin to 79-75. The Dukes' Billy Coles missed the front end of a one-and-one with 18 seconds left and Pete Chilcutt drilled a trey to cut the deficit to one with 10 ticks remaining. Steve Hood also missed a one-and-one attempt for James Madison, but Jeff Denny's pass upcourt was stolen by the Dukes' William Davis. However, Davis stepped out of bounds, giving Carolina one last shot. King Rice threw up an off-balance runner from the top of the key and the ball banked high off the glass and in as the buzzer sounded. Final score, 80-79 Carolina. It was not the first time James Madison coach Lefty Driesell had been the victim of a Tar Heel miracle.

MARCH 17, 1990 – Facing the top-ranked team in the country in the NCAA Tournament second round, Carolina was in jeopardy of not advancing to the Sweet 16 for the first time since 1980. The Tar Heels trailed the Oklahoma Sooners, 74-73, with 55 seconds to play when Rick Fox nailed a three-pointer from 25 feet away with the shot clock winding down. The Sooners countered with a conventional three-point play and led, 77-76, when King Rice was fouled with 10 seconds left. Rice hit the first shot, but missed the second. The rebound hit off the Sooners out-of-bounds and Carolina had the ball with eight seconds to go and a 77-77 score. Fox took a pass from Hubert Davis and drove the right baseline. His kiss off the glass as the buzzer sounded gave the Tar Heels a 79-77 win and a 10th consecutive Final 16 berth.

JANUARY 12, 1991 – Carolina engaged the Cavaliers of Virginia in a classic battle in Charlottesville, but the game became a one-on-one contest between point guards King Rice and John Crotty at crunch time. Trailing 69-64 with 2:10 left in regulation, the Heels came back and tied the score at 71 on Rice's drive with 31 seconds left. Virginia trailed, 78-75, in the first overtime when Crotty hit a three-pointer with 12 seconds left to play to force a second extra session. With Carolina leading 86-84 in the second overtime, Crotty evened the score with a pair of free throws at 0:26. But Rice came back and rattled in a shot over Crotty with one second left, capping another UNC last-second win.

FEBRUARY 8, 1992 – Just three days after knocking off top-ranked Duke, Carolina rallied from 22 points behind to defeat Wake Forest, 80-78, on Brian Reese's jumper at the buzzer in Chapel Hill. The comeback was the biggest in terms of point deficit (22) in Tar Heel history. Despite making several mini-runs to cut that 22-point first-half deficit, UNC was behind by 20 with 14:49 to play and still trailed by 11 with 6:17 to go. The Tar Heels then went on a 10-0 run to cut the Demon Deacon lead to 75-74. Then, with 38 seconds remaining, Pat Sullivan tied the game at 78 with a pair of free throws – his only shots of the game. Reese came up with a steal that set up one final possession for Carolina with 16 seconds to go. After a timeout, Reese drove the lane and misfired off the front rim. But he followed his shot, grabbed his own rebound and launched a swish at the buzzer from 12 feet away to give the Heels an improbable 80-78 win. The final score was Carolina's first lead since Reese had nailed a three-pointer to put UNC up 3-2.

1993 NCAA TOURNAMENT – In the run to Carolina's fourth national championship, the Tar Heels had to overcome double-digit deficits on three different occasions against tough tournament competition. In the East Regional semifinal at the Meadowlands, Carolina trailed a quick and deep Arkansas team, 25-14, more than 10 minutes into the first half. Sparked by George Lynch and Donald Williams, however, the Heels went on a 14-3 run to tie the game at 28. Carolina again fell behind 38-31 before knotting the score at 45 at halftime and eventually prevailing 80-74. Two days later in the regional final, the Tar Heels trailed Cincinnati 29-14 with under seven minutes remaining in the first half. The Bearcats' Nick Van Exel hit his sixth three-pointer of the half with 4:50 remaining to chalk up his 21st point and a 33-20 lead. But led by Derrick Phelps' suffocating defense on Van Exel, Carolina cut the deficit to one by halftime, held Van Exel to only two more points in the final 20 minutes and pulled out a 75-68 overtime win. After defeating Kansas in the Final Four in New Orleans, the Tar Heels fell behind Michigan 23-13 in the national championship game. Carolina then went on a 12-2 run to tie the game, capped off by a 22-foot three-pointer by Donald Williams. Carolina took a 42-36 halftime lead and went on to win the title, 77-71.

MARCH 12, 1994 – In the semifinals of the 1994 ACC Tournament, the Tar Heels overcame 31 points and 10 assists from Wake Forest junior guard Randolph Childress and erased a five-point deficit in the final 1:15 of regulation to down the Demon Deacons, 86-84 in overtime. With an 81-78 lead, Wake coach Dave Odom called a time out and instructed guard Charlie Harrison to foul Carolina's Derrick Phelps with 11.8 seconds left. Phelps made the first free throw and missed the second, but he grabbed the rebound and dribbled to the left side of the court. He found Dante Calabria on the opposite side of the lane and Calabria's baseline drive and basket with 3.8 ticks left on the clock in regulation tied the score at 81, forcing the extra stanza. After a low-scoring overtime, Tar Heel freshman Jerry Stackhouse, who was later named the tournament MVP, took a pass from Phelps and sunk a driving shot in traffic to win the game, 86-84. Carolina went on to win its 13th ACC title the next day with a hard-fought 73-66 victory over Virginia.

JANUARY 28, 1995 – UNC again victimized Wake Forest in what would be the first of two comeback road wins over in-state rivals in the span of five days. Winston-Salem was the stage for an epic battle between centers Tim Duncan and Rasheed Wallace. The Demon Deacons' Duncan, who finished the game with 18 points, 17 rebounds and seven blocked shots, and Carolina's Wallace, with totals of 17 points, 10 rebounds and three blocks, each showed the stuff that made them first-team All-ACC honorees at the close of the season. Carolina did not score during a five-minute stretch of the second half and trailed Wake Forest by 10, 53-43 with 6:39 left. Strong inside play from Wallace and the timely three-point shooting of Jeff McInnis and Donald Williams brought the Heels back within one at 61-60. Williams then hit a running one-hander from the right of the lane with 5.5 seconds remaining to seal a 62-61 win.

FEBRUARY 2, 1995 – Five days later, Carolina and Duke waged one of the finest battles in the history of the greatest rivalry in college basketball. It was a game of surges that seemed at times as if it would never end. The Tar Heels jumped out to an early, 26-9 lead on a reverse dunk by Jerry Stackhouse over two Blue Devil players and the ensuing free throw. Duke's three-point shooting pulled the Blue Devils within five at halftime and gave them the lead by as many as 12 midway through the second half. UNC then mounted a comeback of its own, battling back from a nine-point deficit with 6:18 to play to force overtime. The Tar Heels raced out to a nine-point lead in the first extra stanza, but four Duke three-pointers, including a running 30-footer from Blue Devil sophomore Jeff Capel at the buzzer, knotted the score at 95 and forced a second overtime. The clutch shooting of Donald Williams and a steal and basket by Jeff McInnis with under a minute to play sealed Carolina's 102-100, double-overtime win. The 202 points between the two teams were the most points ever scored in a UNC-Duke game.

JANUARY 27, 1996 – UNC actually committed more turnovers than field goals in the first half and trailed Wake Forest by 14 at halftime, 42-28. The Deacons stretched the lead to 18 (41-23) with 17:23 left in the game before freshman Antawn Jamison ignited the UNC comeback. Jamison had a three-point play at 16:17 to cut the lead to 13, at 15:41 to cut it to 11 and then he followed an Ademola Okulaja three-pointer with yet another put-back basket at 12:00 to get the deficit to single digits at 43-35.

Ricky Peral and Tim Duncan scored successive baskets to build the Wake lead back to 12 with 10:56 to play, but from that point on the Tar Heels outscored the Deacons, 30-12. Jeff McInnis scored in the lane, Dante Calabria banked one high off the glass and a layup by Jamison made it six. Wake led by seven with 7:09 to play after a dunk by Duncan, but Carolina then went on a 12-3 tear to take the lead. Okulaja pulled down an offensive board to keep a possession alive which ended with a three from the right corner by Calabria to close within four points. Vince Carter hit a baseline jumper to cut it to one and with 2:24 to play Okulaja buried a three from the left wing for a 56-54 UNC lead.

Tony Rutland dropped in a three late in the shot clock with 1:49 to play for the Deacons' final lead of the game at 57-56. McInnis stole the ball after a UNC miss and hit a runner in the lane over Duncan to give Carolina the lead for good at 58-57 with 1:09 to play. McInnis and Shammond Williams each made a pair of free throws, with 38 and 15 seconds left, respectively, and Carter capped the scoring with a reverse, alley-oop dunk from McInnis.

JANUARY 31, 1996 – Duke led UNC, 37-20, with 4:32 to play in the opening half and by 12, 42-30, at the half. Carolina pulled within two at 44-42 with 14:14 to play, but the Blue Devils extended the lead to 11 points at 63-52 with 8:44 remaining. A jumper in the lane by Vince Carter, a tip-in by Antawn Jamison and a three-pointer by Shammond Williams trimmed Duke's lead to 63-59 and free throws by Ademola Okulaja and Jeff McInnis narrowed the gap to one. Ricky Price, who scored 20 for Duke, hit a three-pointer with 4:54 to play for a 67-63 advantage. The Blue Devils' lead was three when Okulaja grabbed an offensive rebound and scored to make it 69-68 Duke with 1:55 to go. Steve Wojciechowski hit a three-pointer at the top of the circle for a 72-68 Duke lead with 1:13 to play, but Williams countered with a three of his own with 58 seconds left. Duke turned the ball over right in front of the Blue Devil bench, and the Tar Heels nearly returned the favor but a hustling Williams forced a jump ball after a wild scramble near midcourt. Possession favored the Tar Heels and Carolina had one last chance.

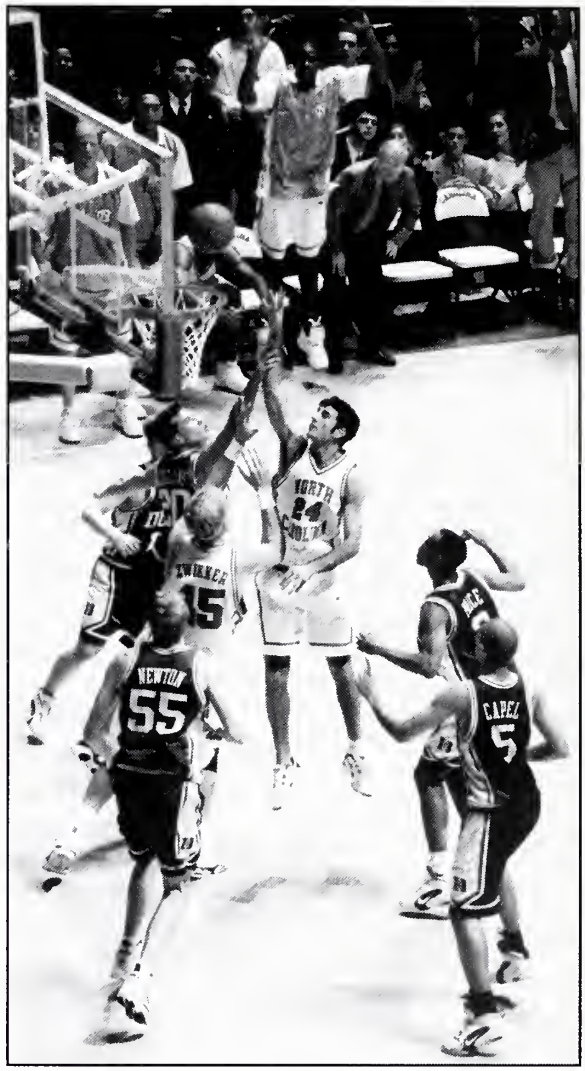
McInnis drove into the lane and fed Zwikker on the low block. Zwikker's shot was deflected by Greg Newton, but Calabria tipped the ball in for a 73-72 lead. Duke had one final chance to win, but Price's baseline jumper at the buzzer hit the front of the rim and bounced away.

JANUARY 15, 1997 – The Tar Heels began ACC play with three straight losses for the first time in history and a fourth consecutive loss seemed imminent. Carolina led 36-28 at halftime, but did not score a field goal in the second half until the 8:09 mark and had just two baskets in the first 18 minutes of the second stanza. The Wolfpack led 56-47 with 2:00 to play, but that's when the Tar Heels went on a 12-0 run to finish the game. Antawn Jamison began the rally by forcing a steal in the backcourt and Shammond Williams hit a layup to pull within seven. Williams hit a three-pointer and Jamison added a layup to pull within two points with 50 seconds to play. Trailing by one with 28 seconds left, Carolina fouled and the strategy worked as State missed the front end of a one-and-one. The Tar Heels went ahead for good with 12 seconds to play as Ademola Okulaja fed Jamison on the low block for a layup. Vince Carter stole the inbounds pass after the go-ahead score to secure the win.

FEBRUARY 12, 1997 – This 45-44 UNC win is the lowest scoring victory in Dean Smith's 36 years as head coach. The Tar Heels trailed 28-19 at the half and fell behind by 11 moments after halftime. Carolina chipped away at the Pack's lead and pulled within 42-41 with 7:25 to play on a dunk by Antawn Jamison. Neither team scored for the next 5:22 until a Damon Thornton basket gave State a 44-41 advantage. Serge Zwikker scored for UNC to make it 44-43 and, with just two team fouls, Carolina began to foul to send the Pack to the line. With 12.3 seconds to play, however, Jamison forced a turnover right in front of the bench and Carolina got the ball back for one last play. Freshman point guard Ed Cota drove to the left baseline and lofted a soft lob shot which found the net with 4.5 seconds remaining. State's last-gasp shot, a three-pointer from the right wing by Danny Strong, was blocked by Vince Carter.

FEBRUARY 15, 1997 – Georgia Tech led 37-30 at the half and built its lead to 59-44 with 7:42 to play in front of a boisterous crowd in Atlanta. Carolina had to play the entire second half without senior center Serge Zwikker, who suffered a concussion in the first half. Shammond Williams and Ademola Okulaja hit three-pointers and UNC pulled within nine points with 6:37 to play. More than three minutes later, the Yellow Jackets lead remained at nine points, 67-58. From that point on, however, the Tar Heels outscored Tech, 14-1. Antawn Jamison hit three free throws, Ed Cota set up Vince Carter and Jamison for layups and the Yellow Jackets lead was down to 67-65. Cota then set up Williams for a go-ahead three from the left corner with 1:12 to play. Tech sank one free throw to tie the game, but Cota calmy sank two free throws with 33 seconds left for the win.



On January 31, 1996, Dante Calabria made this tip in for a 73-72 victory over Duke. Carolina trailed by 17 points in the first half and four points with 1:13 to play. Karl DeBaker

The above is not even an all-encompassing list of great Carolina finishes. It is truly remarkable how the Tar Heels always seem to pull out the close games, and Carolina basketball has thus earned the title, "The Boys of Poise." Chubby Wells, a former Clemson player, expressed the frustration felt by countless teams over the years:

"When the games are close at the end, the North Carolina players know they're going to win. They know they're going to win because they're supposed to win. They're North Carolina. The bad thing is the players on the other team know it, too. That gives Carolina a great psychological edge."

CAROLINA'S INTERNATIONAL CONNECTION

The exceptional talent and teamwork of Tar Heel players have earned them an international reputation and allowed the Carolina style of basketball to dominate the imaginations of fans worldwide.

Nearly every summer, current Tar Heels dot the rosters of international traveling squads. Whether it be the Olympic Games, World University Games, Pan American Games or countless international all-star squads, 32 different Tar Heels have tasted the flavor of international competiton since 1965.

The summer of 1997 was no different as senior Makhtar Ndiaye helped lead the Senegal National Team to the African championship and junior Ademola Okulaja played on the German National Team.

During summer of 1996, seniors Serge Zwikker and Charlie McNairy took their basketball ambitions abroad. Zwikker, a native of Maassluis, The Netherlands, spent his second consecutive summer with the People to People All-Star team. McNairy played for Athletes in Action.

In 1995, Zwikker and fellow teammate Dante Calabria spent the summer touring The Netherlands with the People to People All-Star team. Zwikker led the team in rebounding and was a commanding presence on the baseline. He averaged 10.4 points and 9.6 rebounds per game, posting the squad's top rebounds on three of five occasions.

During the summer of 1995, Zwikker served as center for the Dutch National team. The Dutch dropped a series against Finland, losing two of three games that summer, and they also played in the NIT European tournament against the United States, Israel and Portugal, finishing second in a strong field.

In 1995, Shammond Williams took on a whole different continent in his search to polish his defensive skills. He joined several other American college players in the Australian Shootout League. Williams averaged 18 points and six assists per game and split time playing point guard and big guard.

As a true freshman Vince Carter joined the 1995 U.S. Junior World Championship team in Greece on their quest for a gold medal, playing alongside Georgia Tech's Mike Maddox and Duke's Trajan Langdon and Steve Wojociechowski. Carter averaged six points and four rebounds per contest, as the U.S. finished seventh overall, defeating France, 92-55, in the final round.

Perhaps Carolina's most enduring basketball contribution on the international scence has been the presence of at least one player or former player on an Olympic Team roster in eight of the last nine Olympic Games. All totaled Carolina players and coaches have accounted for 11 gold medals, one silver medal and one bronze medal in the Olympic Games since 1964.

Most recently during the 1992 Barcelona Games, two-time National College Player of the Year and four-time NBA Most Valuable Player Michael Jordan led the inaugural Dream Team to the gold medal. Playing for the first time with professional athletes, the U.S. Olympic Team routed its opposition as Jordan led the team in scoring.

As the worldwide epitome of basketball, Jordan also led the 1984 U.S. squad to gold, averaging 17.1 points per game. Fellow 1984 Olympian Sam Perkins also found a niche for himself in worldwide competition. Perkins added 12 points and seven rebounds to the gold medal tally, and won the unequivocal respect of U.S. coach Bob Knight.

"Give me players like Perkins," Knight said, "and I'll coach forever."

The auspicious pairing of Perkins and Jordan was not untested before the 1984 Games, as the two led the U.S. during the 1983 Pan American Games. Played in Caracas, Venezuela, the Games allowed Perkins to emerge as a consistent example of Carolina style, while Jordan donated his tenacious attitude to the victorious team.

Dean Smith and Mitch Kupchak (18) were amang a handful af Tar Heels wha led the United States Olympic Team ta the gald medal in the 1976 Summer Games in Mantreal. Ken Cooke

The 1992 Barcelona Olympics allowed Tar Heel standout Henrik Rodl to represent his home nation as the starting point guard for the German Olympic Team. Rodl, from Heusenstamm, Germany, saw his team fall to the USA Dream Team. In the previous game, however, Rodl put in a clutch shot which gave the Germans a one-point victory over Angola.

Power forward J.R. Reid carved out a supporting role during a U.S. bronze medal performance at the 1988 Olympics in Seoul. Against a talented Brazilian team, Reid saw Danny Manning and David Robinson accumulate early foul problems. Coming off the bench, Reid scored eight of 10 points during an American run and finished with 16 points. The Americans went on to top the Brazilians, 102-87.

Dean Smith, assisted by Bill Guthridge, coached the 1976 American Olympic team, including four Tar Heels — Mitch Kupchak, Walter Davis, Tommy LaGarde and Phil Ford. Six games and a gold medal later, Team USA had seen Kupchak contribute 19 points toward the 106-86 decision over Canada. In beating Italy, Puerto Rico, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, Smith's players amassed an 83 percent free throw average, an Olympic record.

Several other Tar Heels have represented the U.S. in Olympic competiton. Larry Brown lent his talents to the U.S. squad in the the 1964 Tokyo Games. Charlie Scott did the same in 1968 in Mexico City and Bobby Jones took the Carolina Blue to the 1972 Munich Games. Al Wood was a member of the 1980 team which was to have participated in Moscow save the American boycott of the Games that year.

The Pan American Games teams have also featured Carolina stars, including Robert McAdoo in 1971 and LaGarde in 1975. The 1979 San Juan, Puerto Rico Games ended in yet another American gold medal, a team co-captained by Tar Heel Mike O'Koren, while Jeff Lebo graced the '87 Indianapolis roster, which claimed the silver and center Eric Montross played on the 1991 team.

Prior to the 1993-94 season, Montross demonstrated Carolina's spirited style of play while serving as a member of Team USA and traveling through five European countries. He joined nine other top-ranked collegians from around the United States facing off against Belgium, Italy, Spain, the Netherlands and Germany. Although the team lost to Germany and Spain, it was beaten by only three points combined in the two setbacks. The Indiana native was also honored as one of eight top collegians to compose the USA Basketball Development Team the prior summer.

As well as the Pan American forum, the World University Games have also showcased past and present Tar Heel greatness — Billy Cunningham at Budapest in 1965, Larry Miller at Tokyo in 1967, Kupchak at Moscow in 1973, Davis and Lynch in Sheffield, England in 1991, and Donald Williams at Buffalo, N.Y. in 1993.

Williams represented his school with outstanding play as he joined the ranks of other World University Games players to take on collegians from around the world during the summer of 1993. Playing in Buffalo, N.Y., the World University Games squad swept all seven games and captured the gold medal. Williams' three-point contributions were critical to the success of the team.

Christmas tournaments have seen Carolina greats put on top-notch performances as well. In 1971, Carolina won the International Christmas Tournament in Madrid, Spain, defeating the prominent Real Madrid club team in the finals. In 1974, Walter Davis' half-court buzzer-beater lifted the Tar Heels over the powerful Cuban National team again in Madrid in the semifinals of the tournament.

London was the location for 1979 and 1987 international tournaments. In December of '87, Carolina beat the English National team in the finals. Reid, with 24 points, led Smith's squad, which featured London native Steve Bucknall, who scored 18 points in the 87-79 victory.

Prior to the 1983-84 season, the Tar Heels traveled to Greece and faced off against four European basketball powers. Perkins, Jordan, and Buzz Peterson attained all-tournament honors.

Professional teams in Europe, South America and Australia have been eager to sign Carolina players and, as a result, many former players have taken their unique brand of basketball to the global level. Doug Moe was three-time European Player of the Year. Other Carolina players with careers abroad include Dave Chadwick, Kim Huband, Craig Corson, Donn Johnston, John O'Donnell, Donald Washington, Bruce Buckley, Tom Zaliagiris, Geff Crompton, Randy Wiel, Jeff Wolf, Steve Krafcisin, Rich Yonakor, Pete Budko, Mike Pepper, Tommy LaGarde, Jim Braddock, John Virgil, Chris Brust, Cecil Exum, Curtis Hunter, Jeb Barlow, Steve Hale, Warren Martin, Robert McAdoo, Dave Popson, Al Wood, Buzz Peterson, John Brownlee, Ranzino Smith, Joe Wolf, Scott Cherry, Henrik Rodl, Steve Bucknall, King Rice, Kevin Madden, Ed Geth, Donald Williams, Brian Reese and Dante Calabria.

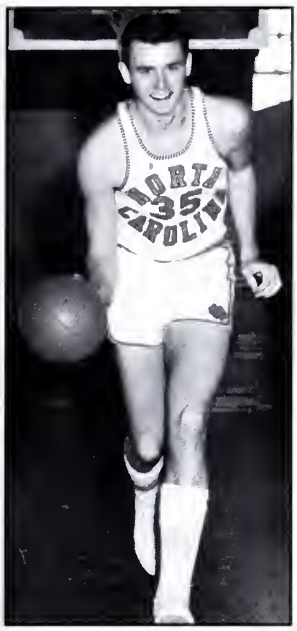
CAROLINA'S GREATEST PLAYERS



PETE BRENNAN

Pete Brennan had a great career as a Tar Heel, averaging 16.4 points and 10.5 rebounds per game for his career as a forward, but he is best remembered for a single play, a play that saved an NCAA title. The undefeated 1957 Carolina team was trailing Michigan State, 64-62, in the NCAA semifinals. There were only 11 seconds remaining in the first overtime period when the Spartans' Johnny Green missed a free throw and Brennan snared the rebound. Instead of making the outlet pass out to a guard as he ordinarily would have done, Brennan raced down court with the ball. Two Michigan State defenders got back to defend, so Brennan pulled up for a jump shot from the foul line. The jumper floated through the net with four seconds remaining, forcing another overtime period. UNC survived, downing the Spartans in triple overtime before subsequently defeating Kansas in triple overtime the next day in the title game of one of the most storied Final Fours in NCAA history. Brennan is still ninth in the Tar Heel record books in career rebounds. As a senior in 1958, he led the squad in scoring at a 21.3 clip, earning first-team All-America and ACC Player-of-the-Year honors.

LARRY BROWN

Larry Brown, an outstanding guard in the early 1960s, was the first Carolina player to compete in the Olympic Games. He was a member of the 1964 U.S. team that won the gold medal in Tokyo, Japan. Brown came off the bench in the gold medal game versus the Soviet Union and helped to spark a comeback win. He was known as a fine passer and ball-handler who could score when needed. As a junior in 1962, Dean Smith's first year as Carolina head coach, Brown led the squad in scoring with a 16.5 average. The following year marked the arrival of Billy Cunningham on the varsity team and Brown willingly sacrificed his own scoring numbers to distribute the ball to the future Hall-of-Famer. Brown's scoring average fell slightly that year, but he was named All-ACC nonetheless. Brown later served as an assistant coach under Smith before becoming a player and three-time all-star in the ABA. He won an NCAA championship in 1988 as the head coach at the University of Kansas and is now one of the most successful head coaches in the NBA.

CARTWRIGHT CARMICHAEL

Cartwright Carmichael earned first-team All-America honors in 1923, becoming the first UNC athlete to attain the honor in any sport. Regarded as an excellent shooter in his day and respected as a graceful player overall, Carmichael was tabbed as an All-America again in 1924 and garnered All-Southern Conference honors for three straight years from 1922-24. He was also named to the All-Southern Conference Tournament Team in 1924. During his three varsity seasons at Carolina, the Tar Heels were 56-7, and he led UNC teams to two Southern Conference regular-season championships and two Southern Conference tournament titles. Carmichael, who lettered on the 1922, 1923 and 1924 teams, led the Tar Heels to an undefeated season his senior year and to Carolina's first national championship as voted by the Helms Foundation. In 1922, Carmichael and his brother, Billy, became the first brothers to ever play together on the same Carolina basketball team. That feat was equaled in 1994-95 by Pat and Ryan Sullivan. A versatile athlete, Carmichael also lettered as an outfielder in baseball.

BILL CHAMBERLAIN

Bill Chamberlain was one of a string of players from the New York City area to play basketball at UNC and the second black player in Carolina history, following fellow New Yorker Charlie Scott. Chamberlain was the Tar Heel hero as a junior when Carolina won the 1971 NIT title. When All-ACC forward Dennis Wuycik went down with a knee injury in the tournament opener against Massachusetts, Chamberlain picked up the slack. He hit 10 of 15 shots and scored 24 points versus the Minutemen, while holding the great Julius Erving to just 13 points. Chamberlain had 19 points in the next game against Providence, 10 versus Duke in the semifinal and a career-high 34 in the title game as Carolina routed Georgia Tech, 84-66. He hit 13 of 18 shots from the field in the championship game while also grabbing 10 rebounds and the tournament MVP award. A 6-6 forward known for his quickness and all-around game, Chamberlain finished his career among the Tar Heel leaders in career field goal percentage at 54.0 percent. He was named a second-team All-America after his senior season.

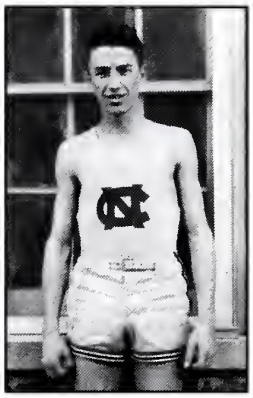
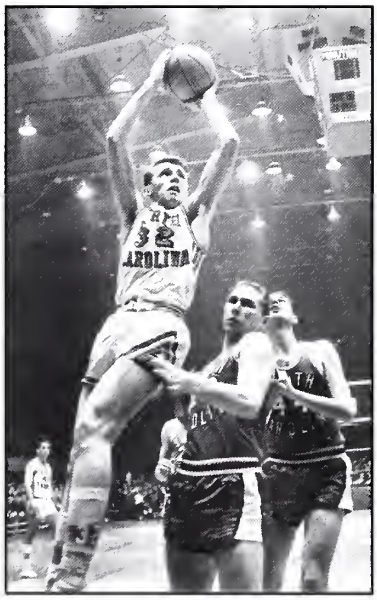
JACK COBB



UNC's first three-time All-America, Jack Cobb teamed with Cartwright Carmichael in 1924 to lead the Tar Heels to their first national championship. He captained the 1925 squad during his junior year and in 1926 garnered National Player-of-the-Year honors from the Helms Foundation. During his three varsity seasons, Cobb averaged 15 points per game in an era when the entire Tar Heel team averaged only about 35 points per contest. Known as "Mr. Basketball," Cobb was a 6-2 forward who could do it all. He was a slick passer and a great rebounder in addition to being a deadly scoring threat. Cobb was named to the All-Southern Conference Team in 1924, 1925 and 1926 and was first-team All-Southern Conference Tournament the latter two years. The three teams he played on went 66-10 and won three straight Southern Conference tournament and regular-season championships.

Shortly after he graduated from UNC, Cobb was involved in an automobile accident in which he lost part of his left leg. Nevertheless, he devoted most of his spare time to coaching Little League baseball teams. He died in 1966 at the age of 62. Cobb is a member of the Helms Hall of Fame and the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.



BILLY CUNNINGHAM

His exceptional leaping ability not only earned him the nickname "The Kangaroo Kid," it also enabled Billy Cunningham to win three Atlantic Coast Conference rebounding titles in a row. Cunningham still holds eight of 10 UNC rebounding records and is the third-leading rebounder in Tar Heel history. He was named ACC Player of the Year in 1965 and first-team All-ACC three years in a row. In 1963 and 1964, he was named first-team All-ACC Tournament despite the fact the Tar Heels didn't reach the finals either year. He was on the U.S. Basketball Writers Association All-America team in 1964 and 1965 and on the Helms Foundation team his senior year. He led the ACC in scoring two years in a row with 26.0 points per game in 1964 and 25.4 in 1965. For his 69-game Carolina career, he averaged 24.8 points and 15.4 rebounds per game.

Cunningham was tabbed as Carolina's Most Valuable Player three straight years and he was an All-Academic ACC pick as a senior. In 1965, the College Sports Information Directors of America also named him to their Academic All-America team. Cunningham was picked in the first round of the NBA draft in 1965 by the Philadelphia 76ers. He played 11 years of professional basketball, including two years in the ABA and nine years in the NBA. He was the NBA Rookie of the Year with Philadelphia, the ABA Player of the Year with the Carolina Cougars and the NBA Coach of the Year with the 76ers. He played on a world championship team with the 76ers in 1967 and then coached Philadelphia to the NBA title in 1983. He was inducted into the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., in 1985. He was named one of the NBA's 50 greatest players in 1997.

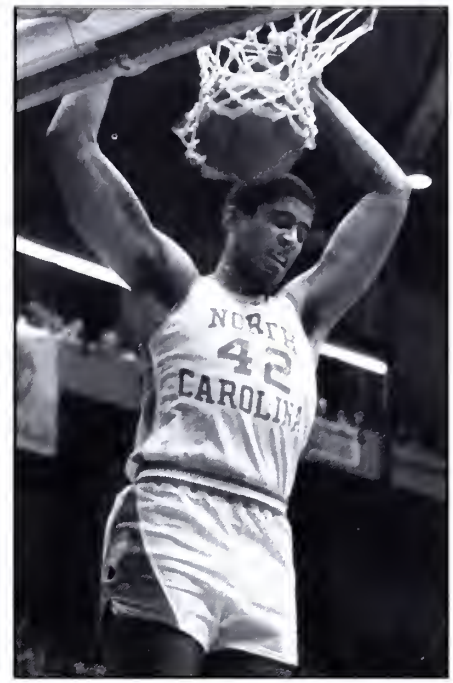
BRAD DAUGHERTY



Jim Hawkins

Brad Daugherty came to Carolina as a 16-year-old freshman with a big body and soft shooting touch and left four years later as one of the best players in Tar Heel history. He finished his career as UNC's alltime leader in career field goal percentage at .620, a record since broken by Rasheed Wallace. Daugherty is the seventh-leading scorer and fifth-leading rebounder in Carolina annals and was known for his solid post moves and tremendous work ethic. He entered Carolina as a freshman in the fall of 1982 and was a starter for the defending national champion Tar Heels by late December. He also was a member of the 1984 squad that posted a perfect 14-0 ACC mark. UNC went 111-26 overall during his four years in Chapel Hill. Daugherty scored in double figures in 32 of his 34 games and led the conference in both scoring and rebounding as a senior in 1986. For his efforts, he was named All-ACC for the second consecutive year, selected to several first- and second-team All-America squads and was a finalist for the Wooden Award as national player of the year. Daugherty capped his senior year by winning the Patterson Medal, the highest athletic award given annually at UNC to a Tar Heel senior who has demonstrated general excellence, sportsmanship, leadership and general conduct during his collegiate career. After the conclusion of his tenure in Carolina Blue, Daugherty was the first pick overall in the 1986 NBA draft, selected by the Cleveland Cavaliers. In 1997, the Cavaliers retired his jersey.

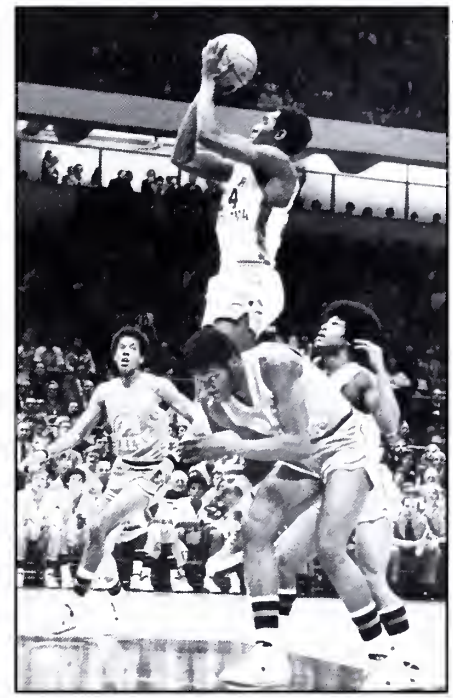
WALTER DAVIS



Hugh Morton

A tremendous all-around player, Walter Davis played on ACC championship teams in 1975 and 1977. "Sweet D" played brilliantly in the 1975 ACC Tournament, hitting 22 of his 33 shots from the floor in the three-game affair. He scored 31 points against Wake Forest in the quarterfinals and held National Player of the Year David Thompson of N.C. State to a seven-for-21 shooting performance in the title game. Davis ensured his spot in the annals of the greatest plays in Tar Heel history as a freshman in 1974. He banked in a 35-foot shot at the buzzer against Duke in Carmichael Auditorium, tying the score and helping Carolina rally from an eight-point deficit in the game's final 17 seconds. Led by Davis' 31 points, UNC went on to win the game in overtime in one of the most famous installments in college basketball's most storied rivalries. Along with Mitch Kupchak, Tommy LaGarde and Phil Ford, Davis was one of four Tar Heels to play on the gold medal-winning 1976 Olympic squad for UNC head coach Dean Smith and assistant Bill Guthridge. Davis was a great shooter, tremendous passer, brilliant defender and solid rebounder. He still stands eighth in Tar Heel history in scoring and ninth in assists. He went on to be named the NBA Rookie of the Year in 1978 and was a five-time all-star as a professional.

JOHN "HOOK" DILLON

John Dillon gained national fame early in 1946 against New York University in Madison Square Garden by scoring 21 points, many on his deadly hook shot. The media at the game declared Dillon's patented shot to be among the best ever seen in the Garden and he since has been known as "Hook" Dillon. He earned All-America honors in both 1946 and 1947 and was the leading scorer on the 1946 squad, the first Carolina team to reach the NCAA Final Four. The '46 Tar Heels reached the national finals before losing to Oklahoma A&M. During that march to the NCAA title game, Dillon again turned in great performances in Madison Square Garden, scoring 16 points against NYU, 15 versus Ohio State and 16 in the finals against Oklahoma A&M and its powerful center, Bob Kurland. Dillon played for the Tar Heels from 1945 through 1948 after playing three years in the Savannah (Ga.) Ice Delivery city league and a time at the Benedictine Military Academy. Dillon was Carolina's second-leading scorer as a freshman behind All-America Jim Jordan.

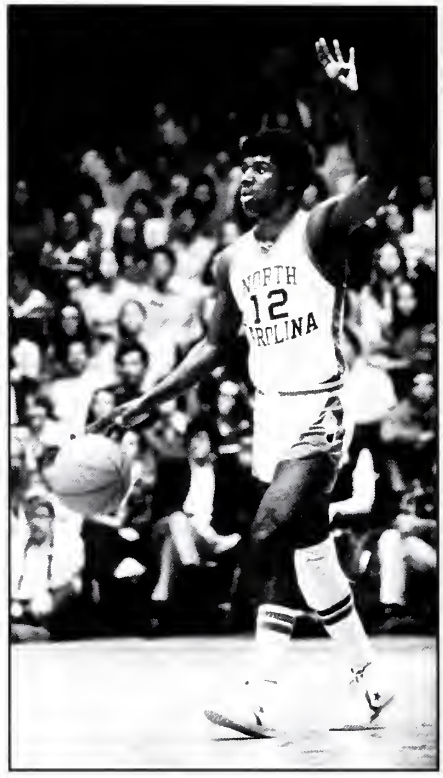
PHIL FORD



Sally Sather

Phil Ford is a player sure to be included with college basketball's alltime greatest guards. The surgeon-like precision with which Ford captained Coach Dean Smith's famed "Four Corners Offense" is perhaps the talent for which he is best remembered. He is UNC's all-time leading scorer with 2,290 points and ranks second in assists with 753. In his 123 career games, Ford averaged 18.6 points and 6.1 assists per contest. A three-time first-team All-America in 1976, 1977 and 1978, Ford directed Carolina to three straight first-place ACC regular-season finishes as well as ACC Tournament titles in 1975 and 1977 and the NCAA championship game in 1977. Ford, who started at the point guard position four successive seasons, was named the National Player of the Year in 1978 by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the National Association of Basketball Coaches and The Sporting News. That year, he also won the John Wooden Award. Ford played on the 1976 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Team under the leadership of Coach Smith and was named to the All-Tournament team by UPI.

Ford, who won the Everett Case Award his freshman year for leading UNC to the ACC tournament title over defending national champion N.C. State, was named first-team All-ACC his final three years as a Tar Heel. He also was named first-team All-ACC Tournament three times. The ACC Athlete of the Year in 1977 and 1978 and the ACC Men's Basketball Player of the Year the latter season, Ford scored a career-high 34 points in a 1978 victory over Duke in his last regular-season game at Carmichael Auditorium, boosting Carolina to the ACC regular-season title in the process.

Ford's teams went 99-24 in his four seasons at UNC, while he compiled impressive shooting statistics of .527 from the field and .808 from the line. Ford played seven seasons in the NBA and was the league's Rookie of the Year in 1979 with the Kansas City Kings. Ford is currently serving his 10th year as a Tar Heel assistant coach.

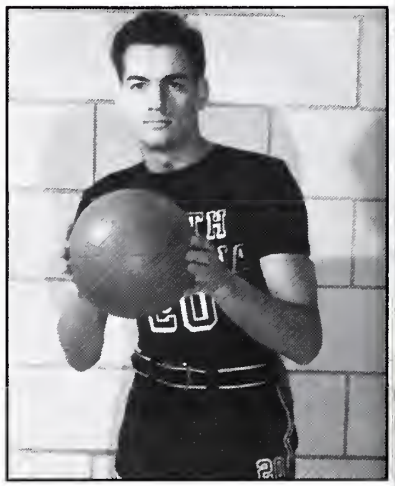
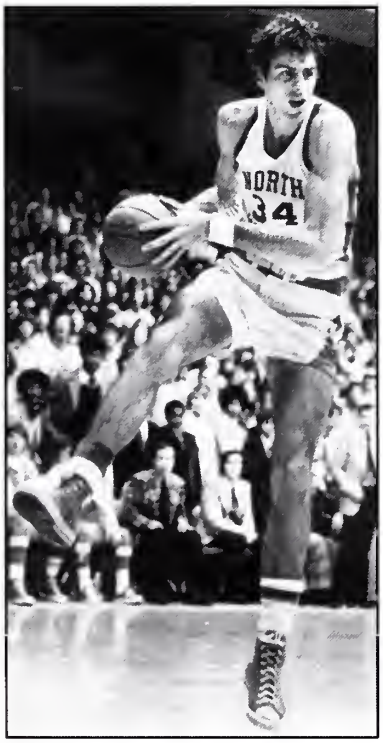
GEORGE GLAMACK



Although his poor eyesight kept him from focusing on the rim of the basket, George Glamack overcame those odds and put together a remarkable college career. He shot the ball according to the lines painted on the court, earning the nickname "The Blind Bomber." In 1940 and 1941, he was named All-Southern Conference, All-America and National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation.

A master at maneuvering in the paint, Glamack had a deadly hook shot with either hand. In 1940, he was named first-team All-Southern Conference Tournament as he helped lead Carolina to the Southern Conference championship. As captain of the 1941 squad, he averaged 20.6 points per game, an incredible mark for the time. He led the 1941 team to the Southern Conference regular-season title and to UNC's first appearance in the NCAA Tournament. He played five seasons in the professional ranks in the 1940s with teams in Akron, Rochester, N.Y., Indianapolis and Hammond, Ind. Glamack always hoped his career would be an inspiration to other handicapped people who dreamed of participating in organized sports.



BOBBY JONES

One of the most complete players in ACC history, Bobby Jones excelled at all areas of the game. As a sophomore, he rotated in and out of the lineup with Dennis Wuycik and Bill Chamberlain, averaging 10.2 points per game and hitting 66.8 of his field goals, still the ACC single-season record. Jones posted one of the best all-around seasons in Carolina history as a junior, averaging 15.0 points, 10.5 rebounds and 4.0 assists per game. He led the ACC in field goal percentage three times and stands fourth in UNC history in career field goal percentage at 60.8 percent. As a senior in 1974, Jones provided two of the most famous moments in Tar Heel lore. In a game at Duke, he stole a Blue Devil inbounds pass and dribbled the length of the floor for a layup at the buzzer to give Carolina a 73-71 victory. In the rematch at Carmichael Auditorium, Jones scored four points in an amazing Tar Heel rally from eight points down with 17 seconds left in regulation. He scored 24 points for the game and UNC won in overtime, 96-92. Jones earned a position on the 1972 Olympic Team after just his sophomore season, and he later earned All-America honors as a senior. He went on to be named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team eight consecutive years, won the NBA Sixth Man Award in 1983 and was a member of the world champion Philadelphia 76ers in 1983.

JIM JORDAN

Jim Jordan was a star player who came to Carolina during World War II. He played at Mount St. Mary's College for one year and was the team's captain and leading scorer. The Navy transferred him to the ROTC unit at UNC and he became an immediate star for the Tar Heels, lifting Carolina to a 22-6 record. Jordan was the only unanimous selection to the All-Southern Conference team in 1945. A good shooter, Jordan also was a solid rebounder, ball-handler and the team's steadiest leader. When Coach Ben Carnevale would put in his second-stringers, he often would leave Jordan in the game to help calm them down. He was a star for the 1946 team that posted a 30-5 record and reached the NCAA finals before losing to Oklahoma A&M. The 1946 season marked Carolina's first NCAA Final Four appearance. Jordan was a second-team All-America choice in 1945 and a first-team selection in '46.

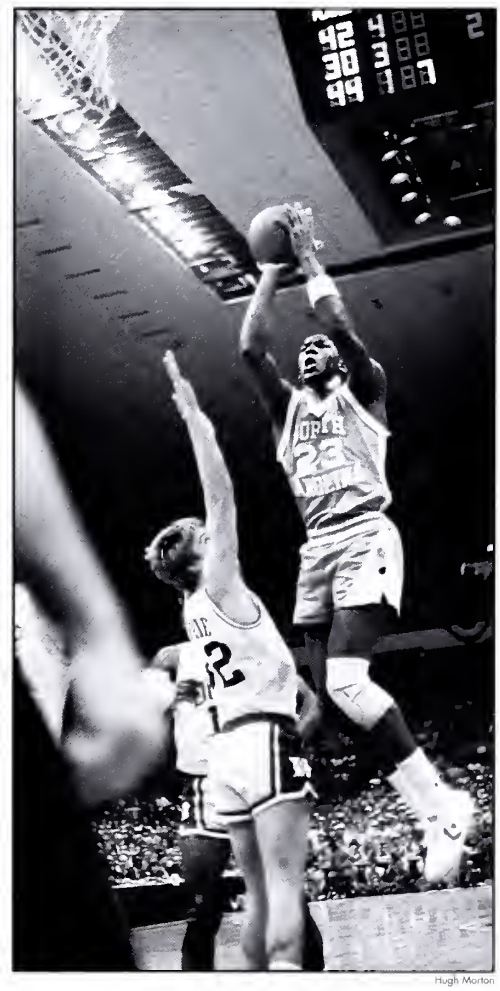
MICHAEL JORDAN

The name Michael Jordan and the phrase "greatest basketball player in the world" today seem inseparable. "Air" Jordan could not elude the spotlight in his freshman year at Carolina as he hit the winning jump shot from the left wing with 15 seconds left in the 1982 national championship game, garnering UNC its third national title. He was named the ACC Rookie of the Year that season and is one of only 10 freshmen under coach Dean Smith to have started the first game of his career.

Jordan's career averages at Carolina were 17.7 points per game and 5.0 rebounds per contest from his big guard position. A consensus All-America in both 1983 and 1984, Jordan was first-team All-ACC both of those seasons. Jordan was famous at Carolina for providing late-game heroics that engineered Tar Heel victories. Besides the aforementioned NCAA title game, he led a momentous comeback against Virginia in 1983, clinching the game with a last-minute steal and dunk. That same season, he sent a game versus Tulane into overtime with a steal and a long jumper at the end of regulation as UNC went on to win in triple overtime.



Hugh Morton

In 1984, Jordan led the ACC in scoring with 19.4 points per game and was subsequently named ACC Player and Athlete of the Year. After being named National Player of the Year by the Sporting News in 1983, he was the unanimous choice for the award a year later. He was the leading scorer on both the 1983 U.S. Pan American Games team and the 1984 U.S. Olympic team, both of which won gold medals. Jordan passed up his final year of eligibility after consulting with Coach Smith and entered the NBA draft, where he was chosen third by the Chicago Bulls.

He went on to become a bona fide superstar in the pro ranks, being named the league's Rookie of the Year in 1985 and its Most Valuable Player in 1988, 1991, 1992 and 1996. He led the Bulls to their first-ever championship in 1991 over the Los Angeles Lakers and then helped them successfully defend that title in 1992 by beating the Portland Trail Blazers. In the summer of 1992, Jordan was a member of the Olympic "Dream Team," a group of NBA all-stars who captured the gold medal in Barcelona. Jordan was named the Most Valuable Player of the NBA Finals three years in a row and led the Bulls to their third consecutive world championship in 1993 over the Phoenix Suns. No team since the Boston Celtics of 1959-66 had won as many championships in a row.

His sudden retirement from the professional ranks in the fall of 1993, subsequent career in professional baseball and return to the NBA caused almost as much of a sensation as his on-court heroics. He returned to the Bulls late in the 1994-95 season. Last year he led Chicago to its fifth NBA title while capturing the NBA Finals MVP Award for the fifth time.

MITCH KUPCHAK

Thomas Maguire

Mitch Kupchak was the first freshman to play basketball at Carolina after the freshman eligibility rule went into effect prior to the 1972-73 season. He was a top reserve that year, an alternate starter as a sophomore and one of the top players in the ACC as a junior and senior. Kupchak averaged double figures in both points and rebounds in both 1975 and '76. No Tar Heel player has posted a double-figure rebounding average since. He is fourth in UNC history in career rebounds with 1,006. Kupchak was an All-ACC selection as both a junior and senior and an All-America choice as a senior in 1976. He was also the ACC Player of the Year in 1976 as he sparked Carolina to a 25-4 record. A fearless competitor, Kupchak played the game as hard as anyone. He dove for loose balls with abandon despite persistent back pain. He underwent surgery between his junior and senior seasons, forcing him to miss the 1975 Pan Am Games. Nonetheless, he battled back from his surgery to be the starting center on the gold-medal-winning 1976 U.S. Olympic Team and gain recognition on UPI's All-Olympic Team as one of the five best players in the entire Games. He joined fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Tommy LaGarde on the '76 Olympic squad coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and assistant Bill Guthridge. Kupchak went on to a successful professional career, playing on three NBA championship teams with the Washington Bullets and Los Angeles Lakers. He has worked in the Lakers' front office since the 1986-87 season, helping to put together Laker teams that won world titles in 1987 and '88.

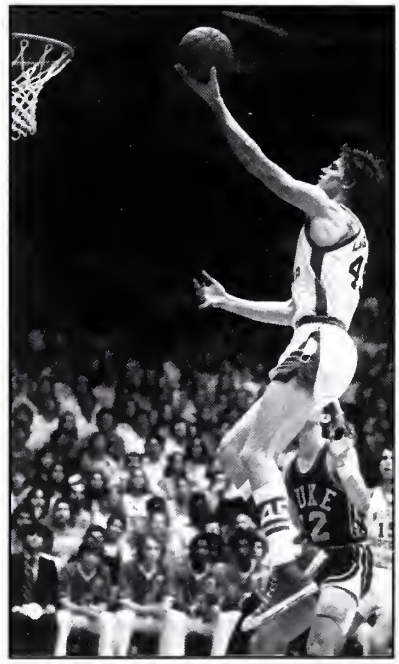
TOMMY LaGARDE



One of the biggest "what ifs" in Carolina basketball history surrounds Tommy LaGarde. The Tar Heels were perhaps the hottest team in the nation midway through the 1976-77 season when LaGarde tore ligaments in his knee against Maryland and missed the remainder of the season. Carolina still reached the NCAA finals, but without LaGarde and with Phil Ford and Walter Davis hampered by injuries, the Tar Heels could not defeat Marquette in the championship game. Despite missing over a third of the season, LaGarde was still named second-team All-ACC and second-team All-America after averaging 15.1 points and 7.4 rebounds and hitting 59.3 percent of his field goals before the injury. He also used his quickness and 6-10 size to form an imposing presence in the Tar Heel defense. As a junior he led the ACC in field goal percentage at 61.2 percent and was second in free throw percentage with an 80.9 mark. He is 10th in Carolina history in career field goal percentage at 58.3 percent. LaGarde joined fellow Tar Heels Walter Davis, Phil Ford and Mitch Kupchak on the gold-medal-winning 1976 U.S. Olympic team coached by UNC head coach Dean Smith and Carolina assistant Bill Guthridge. An excellent student, LaGarde was a two-time Academic All-America. He played six seasons in the NBA and was a member of the 1978-79 world champion Seattle SuperSonics.

YORK LARESE

York Larese was one of the few players to be named All-ACC every year he was eligible, sweeping those honors in 1959, 1960 and 1961 in the final three years of the legendary Frank McGuire's coaching tenure at Carolina. He was also named second-team All-America as a senior. A 6-4 guard from New York City, Larese was a great shooter capable of scoring from anywhere on the court. He was especially deadly from the free throw line, leading the ACC in foul shooting in 1960 with a percentage of 86.8. That stood as the Carolina record for 25 years until it was broken by Steve Hale in 1985. Larese had an unusual free throw form, simply shooting the ball as quickly as an official handed it to him. Sometimes, the official couldn't even step back before the ball was in the air. In talking about Larese, former Duke coach Vic Bubas said, "I can't ever remember a better shooter in the league." York teamed with Doug Moe to give Carolina a solid one-two punch for three years. And for two of those seasons, the Tar Heels had All-America Lee Shaffer on the front line, forming a dangerous inside-outside combination. As a junior, Larese put on an incredible show against Duke, hitting 21 of 21 free-throw attempts, which still stands as a Tar Heel record for single-game free throws made.

BOB LEWIS

The sharpshooting Bob Lewis played a number of roles during his Tar Heel career and played them all well. As a sophomore and junior, he was called upon to be a major scorer, and despite his 6-3 frame, to play in the frontcourt. He responded by averaging 21.0 points and 8.0 rebounds per game in 1965 and 27.4 points and 5.3 rebounds per contest in 1966. The 27.4 points per game he scored as a junior marks the second-highest single-season scoring average in Tar Heel history behind only the legendary Lennie Rosenbluth in the 1957 national championship season. As a senior, Lewis moved to his natural guard position. His scoring fell off, but he was surrounded by better talent and the team had a stellar season. Lewis' senior year, 1966-67, was the beginning of the golden era of Carolina basketball. The Tar Heels made the first of three consecutive NCAA Final Four trips and the first of three straight appearances in the top five of the final national polls that year. Since that season, UNC has won more games than any other college basketball program. Lewis was the MVP of the 1967 East Regional after scoring 31 points against Boston College in the regional championship game. An All-America in both 1966 and '67, Lewis scored 49 points versus Florida State on Dec. 16, 1965, the most points ever scored by a UNC player in a single game. He was no gunner, however, hitting 52.0 percent of his shots that season. Lewis' total of 1,836 points ranks ninth in UNC history. He was a two-time All-ACC selection.

GEORGE LYNCH

The heart and soul of the 1993 NCAA champion Tar Heels, George Lynch was the consummate team player who was deft at grabbing the clutch rebound or making the last-second steal to swipe a victory. Lynch's leadership and all-around game led his teammates to vote him the squad's most valuable player after the championship season. He finished his career as one of only two players in ACC history to compile at least 1,500 points, 1,000 rebounds, 200 steals and 200 assists in his career. He ranks second in Carolina history in both rebounds and steals. One of the finest single games in Lynch's career came in the comeback win over Florida State in the Smith Center on January 27, 1993. He hit a three-pointer to ignite a comeback from a 19-point deficit with under nine minutes to play. Lynch then stole a cross-court pass and dunked for a 78-77 advantage with 1:41 left, UNC's first lead since the opening moments of the game. He finished the game with 14 points, 10 rebounds and seven steals. Lynch capped his career with a spectacular 1993 NCAA Tournament performance. He recorded double figures in both points and rebounds in each of Carolina's last four games during the title run, averaging 17.5 points and 11.0 rebounds in the wins over Arkansas, Cincinnati, Kansas and Michigan. He was named the Most Outstanding Player of the 1993 NCAA East Regional and a member of the Final Four All-Tournament team. He also was named first-team All-ACC in 1993. Lynch was a first-round pick of the Los Angeles Lakers in the 1993 NBA draft and now plays with the Vancouver Grizzlies.

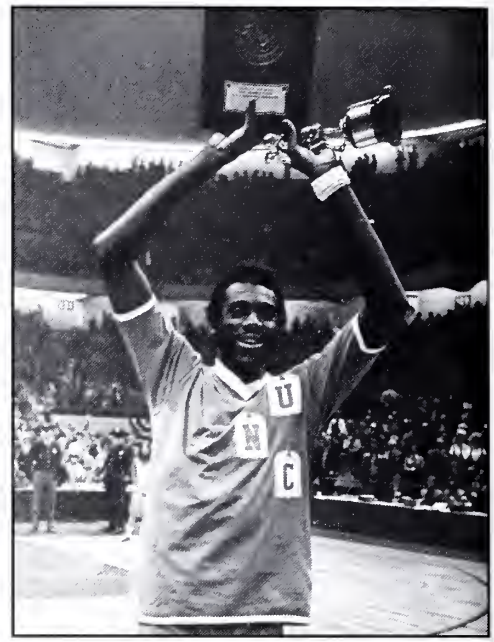
ROBERT McADOO



Robert McAdoo was the first and only junior college transfer ever awarded a scholarship by Dean Smith. He only played at Carolina one season, but he was a key performer on one of the best teams in school history. A Greensboro, N. C. native, McAdoo came to UNC from Vincennes Junior College and immediately stepped into the pivot and helped Carolina to a 26-5 record in 1971-72. The Tar Heels won the ACC regular-season and tournament titles and advanced to the NCAA Final Four. McAdoo was the leading scorer (19.5 points per game) and rebounder (10.1 boards per contest) on a well-balanced squad that featured five players who scored in double figures. He was an All-ACC selection and an all-tournament choice at the ACC Tournament, the NCAA East Regional and the Final Four. He was also the MVP of the ACC Tournament. For a big man, he was an excellent shooter and his long-range scoring ability cleared out the lane for forwards Dennis Wuycik, Bill Chamberlain and Bobby Jones. McAdoo had such a tremendous season that Smith suggested he make himself eligible for the NBA draft, the first UNC player to enter the draft with college eligibility remaining. The move paid off as McAdoo was the NBA Rookie of the Year for the Buffalo Braves in 1973 and the league's MVP in 1975. A five-time all-star as a professional, McAdoo was a member of the Los Angeles Lakers during the world championship seasons of 1982 and 1985 and is now an assistant coach with the Miami Heat.

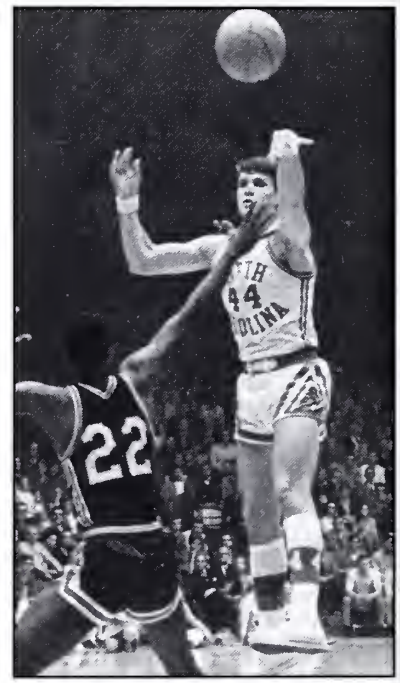
LARRY MILLER



Carolina reclaimed its basketball excellence in the late 1960s with the help of the talent and leadership of Larry Miller. A first-team All-America and ACC Player of the Year in 1967 and 1968, Miller was a key player on Carolina teams which won the ACC championship and went to the Final Four in both of those seasons. The McKevlin Award winner as the ACC Athlete of the Year in 1968, Miller is one of only two players to ever be named Most Valuable Player of the ACC Tournament on two occasions. He once scored in double figures a school-record 64 consecutive games and is still UNC's sixth-leading scorer and 10th-leading rebounder of all time. His rebounding statistics are even more impressive considering his 6-4 size.

Miller, who played on the U.S. team at the 1967 World University Games, was named to the NCAA All-East Regional team in both 1967 and 1968, and he was also on the all-tournament team at the 1968 Final Four. The Most Valuable Player of the 1967 Far West Classic, Miller was named second-team All-ACC in 1966 and first team in 1967 and 1968. He was first-team All-ACC Tournament twice as well. In his Carolina career, he scored 21.8 points and pulled down 9.2 rebounds per outing. He played one of the greatest games in ACC Tournament history in the 1967 finals, hitting 13 of 14 field goals and scoring 32 points in an 82-73 victory over Duke. Miller, a left-handed shooter, displayed his deadly outside shooting touch in the professional ranks, playing for seven seasons in the ABA. In the 1971-72 season, he averaged 18.4 points per game for the Carolina Cougars, including one game in which he scored an ABA-record 67 points.

DOUG MOE

Doug Moe was a two-time All-ACC selection and a first-team All-America as a senior in 1961 in the last three years of the Frank McGuire era at Carolina. Moe averaged 20.4 points and 14.0 rebounds in his final season, and his career rebounding average was 10.6 per contest. Billy Cunningham is the only Tar Heel to have better season or career rebounding averages. The 6-5 Moe wasn't a tremendous leaper, but he had excellent timing around the backboard and boxed out taller opponents very well. He teamed with York Larese to give Carolina a potent, one-two scoring punch for three seasons. Moe may actually have been more valuable as a defensive player, however. In the Dixie Classic his senior year, Duke's Art Heyman exploded for 11 points in the first seven minutes of action. Moe was shifted to guard him and the Blue Devil star had just one basket and two free throws in the remainder of the game. Moe was named tourney MVP as Carolina won, 76-71. Moe had scored 22 points and snared 18 rebounds in the semifinal versus Villanova. In speaking of Moe, former N.C. State head coach Everett Case said, "He's the best ... at anything ... that's all there is to it." After leaving UNC, Moe played in Italy for two years and twice was European Player of the Year. He also was a three-time all-star in the ABA and a member of the 1968-69 ABA champion Oakland Oaks. Moe was a head coach in the professional ranks for 15 seasons with the San Antonio Spurs, Denver Nuggets and Philadelphia 76ers and was named NBA Coach of the Year while with the Nuggets in 1988.

ERIC MONTROSS

A two-time second-team All-America selection and member of the 1994 John Wooden All-America team, Eric Montross was the starting center for the 1993 Tar Heel squad that won the NCAA championship. He averaged 15.8 points and 7.6 rebounds per game that year and was named first-team All-ACC. He teamed with George Lynch to give Carolina a powerful inside combination to complement the outside shooting of Donald Williams on the way to the national title. Montross was named to the all-tournament teams at the ACC Tournament, NCAA East Regional and NCAA Final Four in 1993. His mammoth size and solid basketball fundamentals made him a force in the pivot for Carolina for four seasons. One of the most memorable moments from Montross' career came in 1992 in the Smith Center versus defending national champion Duke, which won its second consecutive NCAA title later that spring. He matured as a player in the win over the previously undefeated Blue Devils, scoring 12 points, grabbing nine rebounds, blocking three shots and stealing two balls, all while bleeding from two different wounds on his head. After sustaining the injuries in the first half, Montross left the game to have the cuts treated. He returned to a standing ovation and led the Tar Heels to a 75-73 win. As a senior in 1994, Montross was a finalist for several national player of the year awards, a second-team All-ACC choice and a second-team All-America. He finished his stellar career with 1,627 points, the 16th-highest total in Carolina history. He is sixth alltime at UNC in rebounds and fourth in career blocked shots. His career field goal percentage of 58.5 percent is ninth-best in Tar Heel annals. He was a first-round pick of the Boston Celtics in the 1994 NBA draft and is now with the Philadelphia 76ers.

MIKE O'KOREN

Mike O'Koren seemed to be able to do everything, as affirmed by his ranking among school leaders in scoring (11th), rebounding (12th), assists (14th), field goal shooting (13th) and steals (sixth). He won first-team All-America honors in 1978, 1979 and 1980. A multi-faceted forward, O'Koren's 64.3 percent field goal shooting as a sophomore led the ACC and ranked second nationally. The Jersey City, N.J., native was named first-team All-ACC in 1978 and 1980 and second-team in 1979.

A four-year starter, he scored 21 points in the 1977 ACC Tournament final against Virginia to lead the Tar Heels to a 75-69 victory, and he poured in a career-high 31 points against UNLV in the semifinals of the 1977 NCAA Final Four as the Tar Heels edged the Running Rebels by a single point. A 1977 and 1979 All-ACC Tournament selection, O'Koren had a sensational game against Duke on January 13, 1979 at Carmichael Auditorium. His totals in that game included 17 points, 20 rebounds, seven assists and four steals and he held Blue Devil star Gene Banks scoreless in the second half of the 74-68 UNC victory. O'Koren co-captained the 1979 U.S. Pan American Games team which captured the gold medal in San Juan, Puerto Rico. He finished his UNC career with averages of 15.1 points and 7.0 rebounds per contest. O'Koren played eight seasons in the NBA with the New Jersey Nets and the Washington Bullets.

SAM PERKINS

Sam Perkins excelled as a 6-9 center/forward who played like a 7-footer with the help of his incredibly long arms and accompanying mind-boggling reach. His silky smooth touch around the basket and innate radar for the ball enabled Perkins to become Carolina's alltime leading rebounder and its second-leading scorer. He is one of only four Tar Heels to be a first-team All-America three times, the others being Jack Cobb, Phil Ford and Mike O'Koren. Perkins was also a three-time first-team All-ACC selection from 1982-84 and was ACC Rookie of the Year and MVP of the ACC Tournament in 1981.

Perkins started on Tar Heel teams which won three ACC regular-season championships, two ACC Tournament crowns and went to the Final Four in both 1981 and 1982, winning the NCAA title the latter season. He was named to All-Tournament teams at the 1981 NCAA West Regional, the 1982 NCAA East Regional and the 1982 NCAA Final Four. Twice named first-team All-ACC Tournament, he was the MVP at the Stanford Invitational and the ECAC Holiday Festival his senior year. He concluded his Carolina career by averaging 15.9 points per game and 8.6 rebounds an outing.

Two of the four Carolina teams he played on finished No. 1 in the AP and UPI polls. He played with Tar Heel teammate Michael Jordan on the 1983 U.S. Pan American Games team and the 1984 Olympic Team, both of which won gold medals. Perkins played his first six NBA seasons with the Dallas Mavericks before joining former Tar Heel teammate James Worthy with the Los Angeles Lakers in 1990. Perkins' addition to the roster was a great spark as the Lakers returned to the NBA Finals in 1991 after losing in the conference semifinals the previous season. Perkins has moved on to be a solid member of the Seattle SuperSonics, which reached the NBA Finals in 1996. The move to the Sonics has allowed Perkins to join forces with another fellow North Carolina Tar Heel, head coach George Karl.

J.R. REID

J.R. Reid came to Carolina as one of the most heralded high school stars in the nation and lived up to his advance billing. He was the 1987 ACC Rookie of the Year, scoring 528 points and snaring 268 rebounds. Sam Perkins is the only freshman in Tar Heel history to top both those figures. He twice scored 31 points in a game that season, hitting 13 of 14 field goals against N.C. State and going 15 of 18 from the floor in the NCAA Tournament versus Notre Dame. During one stretch of the year, he hit 35 of 40 field goal attempts. The best was yet to come, however, as Reid was a consensus All-America in 1988, only the fifth UNC sophomore to be so honored, joining Jack Cobb, Phil Ford, Michael Jordan and Perkins. He averaged 18.0 points and 8.9 rebounds, while shooting 60.7 percent from the field. Following that season, he was selected to the U.S. Olympic Team for the 1988 Games in Seoul, South Korea. Reid missed the first nine games of his junior campaign with a foot injury, but he fought back valiantly. His numbers weren't as high as his sophomore season, but he was a better player. He was the MVP of the 1989 ACC Tournament, scoring 48 points and playing sensational defense over the three games as Carolina won its first conference title since 1982. Reid's defense was absolutely essential to the Tar Heel effort in an epic win over Duke in the final. He was an all-regional choice in the NCAA Tournament for three consecutive years. Reid finished his career with a field goal percentage of 60.1, the fifth-best mark in school history. He is in the top 20 in UNC's career scoring and rebounding charts. In 1989, Reid became the fourth Carolina player to enter the NBA draft with college eligibility remaining. He was the fifth pick overall by the Charlotte Hornets and earned NBA All-Rookie Team honors in 1990. In 1997, Reid played professionally in France, but he is currently a member of the Charlotte Hornets.

LENNIE ROSENBLUTH

Lennie Rosenbluth set and still holds Carolina's records for single-season and career scoring average. The Helms Foundation's 1957 National Player of the Year averaged 28.0 points per game in 1957 and 26.9 points per game in his esteemed career. A member of UNC's undefeated 1957 squad, he led the Tar Heels to the national championship in a triple-overtime victory over the Kansas Jayhawks and their star, Wilt Chamberlain. He currently holds nine school records, and his 2,045 career points — third in Carolina history — was tops in the Tar Heel record books for 21 years. Among the other Carolina records still held by Rosenbluth are points in a season, field goals made and attempted in a season and free throws made and attempted in both a season and a career.

Rosenbluth was a three-time All-ACC selection and was tabbed ACC Player and Athlete of the Year in 1957. He was twice All-ACC Tournament, the MVP of the 1957 ACC tourney and a member of the All-Tournament team at the Final Four in 1957 and at three Dixie Classics. As a junior, Rosenbluth made several second and third team All-America squads, but he was a consensus first-team pick as a senior, being chosen by AP, UPI, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the Helms Foundation, Converse, Collier's Magazine and the National Education Association. Born in the Bronx in 1933, Rosenbluth chose to attend UNC in large measure because Carolina head coach Frank McGuire was also from New York City. After his career as a Tar Heel, he played for a brief time in the NBA before becoming a high school teacher and basketball coach in Florida.

CHARLIE SCOTT

Charlie Scott was a pioneer among black athletes nationally when, in 1966, he became one of the first black athletes to earn an athletic scholarship at a Southern school. A native of New York City, Scott guided UNC to its second and third straight Final Fours in 1968 and 1969. In each of those years, Carolina won the ACC regular-season and tournament championships. He was a first-team All-America in 1969 and 1970 and a three-time All-ACC selection. He was also selected UNC's team MVP his junior and senior years, MVP of the NCAA East Regional in 1969 and co-ACC Athlete of the Year in 1970. Scott is UNC's fifth-leading career scorer, and he is 15th in assists and 37th in free throw percentage. For his career at Carolina, Scott played in 91 games and averaged 22.1 points per game and 7.1 rebounds.

In one of Carolina's greatest comebacks ever, Scott scored 40 points in the 1969 ACC Tournament finals against Duke, rallying Carolina from a nine-point halftime deficit to an 11-point victory. For that effort, he was given the Everett Case Award as the tournament's MVP. A week later, his long jump shot at the buzzer gave Carolina a heartstopping 87-85 triumph over Davidson in the championship game of the East Regional as the Tar Heels advanced to their third straight Final Four. In 1970, he led the ACC in scoring with 27.1 points per game and was named to the College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-America Team. Scott, who played for the 1968 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic Team at Mexico City, spent 10 seasons in the professional ranks. He was the ABA Rookie of the Year with the Virginia Squires in 1971 and he won an NBA world championship with the Boston Celtics in 1976.

LEE SHAFFER

Lee Shaffer averaged in double figures in scoring for three consecutive seasons at Carolina, including a team- and ACC-high mark of 18.2 points per game in his senior year of 1960. Not only did he top the Tar Heel scoring attack that season, but he also pulled down 11.2 rebounds per game, including 20 versus Notre Dame on Jan. 2, 1960. Shaffer was named ACC Player of the Year in 1960. He also won first-team All-ACC and All-America honors his final season. He had been a second-team all-conference choice in 1959. He was an All-ACC Tournament choice as both a junior and senior, scoring 21, 23, 11, 29 and 21 points in five conference tournament games over those two seasons. He was twice named to the All-Dixie Classic Team and an all-tournament selection at the Kentucky Invitational during his senior year. Throughout his career, Shaffer was effective around the boards tipping in missed shots, but also possessed a soft touch on jump shots from the corner and baseline. His son, Lee Jr., was a star linebacker on Tar Heel football teams which went to three bowl games from 1979 to 1981.

KENNY SMITH

Known for his exceptional quickness, blazing speed and dead-eye pull-up jumper, Kenny Smith was named the Basketball Times' National Player of the Year in 1987. That same year, Smith was a consensus All-America and first-team All-ACC choice, leading the Tar Heels in scoring with 16.9 points per game as well as in assists with 209. He had been named second-team All-ACC as a sophomore and a junior. One of only 10 freshmen under coach Dean Smith to start the first game of his career, he had 86 assists in NCAA Tournament play, which at the time was the most in that storied event's history. In 127 games as a collegian, he averaged 12.9 points per game and 6.0 assists per contest while running Carolina's offense to masterful perfection from his point guard spot. Smith led UNC to undefeated ACC marks in both 1984 and 1987, and he poured in a career-high 41 points during that 1987 season in a 108-99 comeback win at Clemson. Smith finished his career as Carolina's alltime assist leader with 768, breaking the record of current Tar Heel assistant coach Phil Ford.

Smith's total of 195 steals was a Carolina record at the end of his college career and is still good enough to rank fourth. His game-high 23 points against the Soviet Union in the championship game of the FIBA World Championships propelled the U.S. team to a gold medal-clinching victory in 1986. Smith won the Patterson Medal, the highest athletic award at Carolina, as the top senior athlete in 1987. After playing his first three years with the Sacramento Kings and Atlanta Hawks, Smith played four seasons with the Houston Rockets and was the starting point guard for the Rockets' 1994 and 1995 world championship teams.

JERRY STACKHOUSE

Jerry Stackhouse entered Carolina with high expectations from his prep career in Kinston. He did not disappoint, demonstrating fantastic athleticism and steady play throughout his career. The 6-6 forward had a solid freshman campaign, averaging 12.2 points and five rebounds per game. He scored a season-high 23 points against LSU in the Superdome. In the postseason, Stackhouse showed flashes of brilliance, leading Carolina to the ACC Tournament Championship. Following a 14-point, seven-rebound effort in the final against Virginia, Stackhouse was named the ACC Tournament's Most Valuable Player. Stackhouse, a natural wing player, was called on to play power forward his sophomore year, but he never looked out of place. He led the team in scoring average at 19.2 points and in steals with 50. Stackhouse shot 51.7 percent from the field and 41.1 percent from the three-point line. In postseason tournament play, Stackhouse continued to shine. He had another successful ACC Tournament and was named to the All-ACC Tournament team. In the NCAA Tournament, Stackhouse was an essential key to Carolina's march to the Final Four. He posted a double-double against Kentucky in the Southeast Regional Final, finishing with 18 points and 12 rebounds. In 1995, Stackhouse was Sports Illustrated's National College Player of the Year and earned first-team All-America and All-ACC honors. Stackhouse chose to forego his final two years of eligibility at Carolina. He was the third player chosen overall in the 1995 NBA draft by the Philadelphia 76ers and was named to the 1996 NBA All-Rookie team.

RASHEED WALLACE

One of Carolina's most agile and dominating big men, Rasheed Wallace showcased amazing abilities to run the court and control a game. The 6-10 native of Philadelphia averaged 9.5 points per game as a freshman. He pulled down 6.6 rebounds per game and led the team with 63 blocks. Wallace worked even harder in the post-season, garnering 17 points and 16 boards in the ACC Tournament quarterfinals against Florida State. He was named to the ACC's All-Freshman Team and the All-ACC Tournament Team. As a sophomore, Wallace continued to play brilliantly, averaging 16.6 points and 8.2 rebounds per game. Wallace led the ACC in field goal percentage (65.4 percent), improving his career field goal percentage to an ACC career record—64.9 percent. His deft touch, coupled with tremendous dunks, made Wallace a favorite of the fans and the scouts. He was named first team All-ACC and second team AP All-America. Wallace also was a finalist for the Naismith award. He opted to enter the draft following his second year at Carolina and was drafted by the Washington Bullets in the first round of the 1995 NBA draft. He is now with the Portland Trailblazers.

AL WOOD

Al Wood possessed one of the sweetest jump shots in ACC history and led Carolina in scoring in each of his final three years as a Tar Heel with averages of 17.8, 19.0 and 18.1 points per game in 1979-81. Wood was named first-team All-America in 1981 after he led UNC to the NCAA finals versus Indiana. He played brilliantly throughout the '81 postseason, earning MVP honors at the West Regional. He capped off his senior campaign with 39 points, an NCAA semifinal record, and 10 rebounds in a 78-65 win over Virginia in the Final Four. Wood is fourth in Tar Heel history in scoring with 2,015 points, one of only five Carolina players to compile at least 2,000 points. Dramatic highlights filled his career. Always a clutch performer, as a sophomore he hit a dramatic, long jumper with three seconds to play that gave the Tar Heels a 54-53 win at Maryland. As a senior, he totaled 25 points and 17 rebounds in a victory over previously undefeated Wake Forest and had 33 points and six steals against top-ranked Virginia. Wood never missed a game in his UNC career, playing in 126. He was a member of the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team.

JAMES WORTHY

As Carolina conquered Georgetown to win the national championship in 1982, James Worthy led the way, scoring 28 points in the 63-62 victory over the Hoyas. That season, he was named MVP of the ACC Tournament, the NCAA East Regional and the NCAA Final Four. A first-team All-America choice in both 1981 and 1982, and a consensus selection the latter year, Worthy was named co-National Player of the Year by the Helms Foundation in 1982.

A starter from the beginning of his freshman year, he averaged 14.5 points per game and 7.4 rebounds per contest in an 84-game Tar Heel career. Worthy missed the second half of his freshman year with a broken ankle, but he came back to average 14.2 points per game and finish third in the ACC in rebounding as a sophomore. He helped Carolina reach the national championship game that season with his outstanding play as the Tar Heels won the ACC Tournament and NCAA West Regional crowns. That merely set the stage for his magnificent junior year when the Tar Heels won it all. Worthy won the McKevlin Award as the ACC Athlete of the Year in 1982 and was named second-team All-ACC in 1981 and first team in 1982. After consulting with Coach Smith, Worthy passed up his final year of eligibility to become the first player selected in the 1982 NBA draft, chosen by the Los Angeles Lakers. He went on to become a seven-time All-Star in the NBA, playing on world championship teams with the Lakers in 1985, 1987 and 1988. He was named the Most Valuable Player of the 1988 NBA Finals against Detroit. He retired from professional basketball in the fall of 1994. He is currently a basketball analyst for Fox Sports.

DENNIS WUYCIK

One of the finest shooters ever to play at Carolina, Dennis Wuycik was a rugged forward with a great outside touch and powerful moves around the basket. Although a bit undersized at 6-6 to play inside, his strength allowed him to muscle in shots against taller opponents. Wuycik led the ACC in field goal percentage in 1971 with a mark of 60.7 percent and then shot a conference-best 85.4 percent from the free throw line in 1972 as a senior. He led Carolina in scoring both years with averages of 18.4 and 18.0 points per game, twice winning All-ACC honors. He was named All-America as a senior by both the Helms Foundation and Basketball Weekly. He was also an Academic All-America that year. Wuycik was tremendous in the 1972 ACC Touranment final, scoring 24 points versus Maryland as the Tar Heels won the championship. He was the MVP of the NCAA East Regional that year and scored 47 points in two games at the Final Four. In fact, Wuycik scored in double figures in 28 of 31 games as a senior. His career scoring high came as a junior when he poured in 39 against Creighton, making 10 of 13 field goal attempts and 19 of 22 free throw tries. He ranks third in Carolina history in free throw percentage at 83.4 percent and seventh in career field goal percentage with a 59.0 clip.

TAR HEEL SPORTS MARKETING

If you are tuned in to a Carolina game on the radio, listening to the head coaches on "Mack Brown Live" or "Carolina Blueline with Bill Guthridge", watching them on their weekly TV shows, "Inside Carolina Football with Mack Brown" or "The Bill Guthridge Carolina Basketball Show", logging on to the famous "goheels.com" internet site, listening to the "Lockerroom Report", "ACC Hotline" and "March Monday Madness", reading a Tar Heel game program or Carolina Court magazine, or hanging a Carolina football or basketball poster on your wall, you are in contact with Tar Heel Sports Marketing.

Bob Donnan

The winning combination of color analyst and producer Mick Mixon (l) and play-by-play announcer Woody Durham make coverage of Carolina basketball on the Tar Heel Sports Network a memorable experience.

A division of the Village Companies of Chapel Hill, Tar Heel Sports Marketing is a full-service marketing agency overseeing the production and sales of all University of North Carolina football and basketball media entities, including radio, television, internet, print and retail products. The Village Companies, producers of the Tar Heel Sports Network play-by-play for the past 21 years, began producing the Carolina game programs five ago and became the true multimedia rights holder in 1993.

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is also involved in other UNC campus initiatives, such as the initiation of a current responsible drinking campaign dubbed, "Don't Get Wasted". This campaign is a multi-media effort designed to curb the detrimental impact of binge drinking on UNC's campus.

TAR HEEL SPORTS NETWORK

Even when Carolina fans can see the Tar Heels play with their own eyes, they insist on looking with their ears at the action by tuning in Woody Durham and Mick Mixon on the Tar Heel Sports Network.

One of the most respected and acclaimed radio networks of its kind in the country, the Tar Heel Sports Network will again bring the excitement of Carolina basketball to life on an outstanding network of stations.

Woody Durham, in his 27th year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels". A native of Mebane, N.C., Durham grew up in Albemarle, N.C., and began his broadcasting career with WZKY Radio at age 16. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with a degree in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures.

In 1981, Durham was named vice president and executive sports director at the Village Companies. Since taking over play-by-play duties in September, 1971, he has become a permanent fixture behind the microphone during Tar Heel football and basketball games. Durham has been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year 10 times.

Durham and his wife of 34 years, Jean, are parents to two sons, Wes and Taylor. Wes took over play-by-play duties for Georgia Tech in June 1995 after handling the same duties for three years at Vanderbilt University. Taylor is a recent graduate of Elon College and works as an account executive for WSTP Radio in Salisbury, N.C.

Mick Mixon, a Vice President of the Village Companies, wears many hats. He is in his ninth year as host of the pre-game, half time and post game programming, expert color commentary during games and producer of all Tar Heel Sports Network radio broadcasts. He is also the producer, writer and narrator of the Inside Carolina Football with Mack Brown television show, seen every Sunday on a statewide television network.

A Chapel Hill native, Mixon graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in Broadcast Journalism. He came to Tar Heel Sports Marketing in 1989 from Columbia, S.C., where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He also served as baseball play-by-play voice of the professional Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League. He had previously served as sports director of WCGC Radio in Belmont, N.C.

GOHEELS.COM

The sounds of Carolina can also be heard across the state and the world on the "goheels.com" internet site. With just the click of the mouse Carolina fans can listen to play-by-play action and "Carolina Blueline with Bill Guthridge".

"Goheels.com" is updated daily by Woody Durham, Mick Mixon, Art Chansky, Lee Pace and Jim Wilson. It offers news and commentary on the Carolina football and men's basketball programs.

COVERING THE TAR HEELS

BILL COLE
Winston-Salem Journal

Bill Cole, a 1973 Carolina graduate with an English degree, has spent 24 years at the Winston-Salem Journal covering Tar Heel basketball. During his journalism career, which also included a stint at the Greensboro News & Record, Cole has covered college football, professional football and basketball, high school football and basketball, minor league baseball and lacrosse. A bachelor, Cole enjoys listening to jazz and visiting old battleships in his spare time. He anxiously awaits Dec. 31, 1997, the date on which he will have run three miles every day for nine consecutive years (3,287 days). Cole's most memorable moment covering the Tar Heels came in 1979, when Dudley Bradley stole the ball from N.C. State's Clyde Austin at half court and dunked at the buzzer for a 70-69 Carolina victory.

ROB DANIELS
Greensboro News & Record

Rob Daniels joined the News & Record in January 1997 after spending eight and one-half years covering the University of Virginia for the Daily Progress (Charlottesville). A 1988 Virginia graduate with a government degree, Daniels wrote Arena Ball, a book about the Virginia soccer program, in 1994. He is a Baltimore native and an ardent Orioles fan. Daniels is 31, single and enjoys computers, reading and listening to music. His favorite moment covering Carolina is Dean Smith's record-breaking 877th win.

FRANK DASCENZO
The Herald-Sun

Having spent 28 years at The Herald-Sun (Durham, N.C.), Frank Dascenzo is a veritable expert on Tar Heel basketball. He has covered basketball, football and tennis during his career, which began at the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette. A bachelor who attended Point Park College, Dascenzo collects 1950s baseball cards. He boasts that he once beat Carolina head coach Dean Smith in tennis at the Chapel Hill Country Club. Dascenzo fondly remembers when the Tar Heels beat Michigan State and Magic Johnson in a non-televised game at Carmichael in 1978. Tickets were impossible to get, and a fan offered Dascenzo $200 for his press pass.

DAVE DROSCHAK
The Associated Press

A member of the 1982 Atlantic Coast Conference champion baseball team at Carolina, Dave Droschak graduated from UNC with a journalism degree in 1983. He has spent the last 14 years covering college basketball and football, professional golf, professional hockey and NASCAR for the Associated Press. He enjoys traveling, playing golf and following all sports. He was once a pitcher in the St. Louis Cardinals organization. Droschak has a 5-year-old son, Preston. He remembers watching games against Virginia when Ralph Simpson played there.

DAVID ECKOFF
Inside Carolina

David Eckoff is entering his fourth year covering Tar Heel basketball for Inside Carolina, an independent, monthly newsmagazine out of Raleigh. Eckoff started the publication, which can also be found on the Internet at www.northcarolina.com, in 1993. Eckoff received his M.B.A. from Carolina and his undergraduate degree from the University of Massachusetts. He is engaged to Christy Butler, a graduate of the Carolina Law School. He cites a comeback win over FSU in 1993 as his favorite Tar Heel memory.

STEVE ELLING
The News & Observer

Steve Elling enters his third season covering Carolina basketball for The News & Observer. A native Californian, Elling moved to the area after 10 years at the Los Angeles Times. Errors in his copy can be attributed to residual culture shock. He is 35, single and is starting to figure out why everyone makes such a big deal over ACC basketball. Elling's favorite Carolina basketball memory is Antawn Jamison's game-winning tip-in off a Dante Calabria pass at Maryland in overtime in 1995.

PAUL ENSSLIN
The Chapel Hill News

Paul Ensslin has been with The Chapel Hill News for the past 12 years. A former Tar Heel, he graduated from Carolina in 1984. Ensslin's claim to fame is that he robbed Wade Boggs of a home run during a little league game in Tampa, Fla. He and his wife of five years, Leanne, have a son, Harper, who turned one in July. Ensslin's most memorable moment covering Carolina came when Rick Fox made a bank shot to beat Oklahoma in Austin, Texas in 1990.

BOBBY ESTILL
WNCN-TV

Bobby Estill has been broadcasting for the past 20 years and in and out of the Triangle since 1982. His claim to fame is that he has worked for every local television station except WRAL. A 1980 graduate of Texas Christian University, Estill played football for the Horned Frogs. He and his wife, Cynthia, have a 10-year-old daughter, Caroline, and a 6-year-old son, Mason. His favorite memory of UNC basketball is winning the national championship in New Orleans in 1982.

BRETT FRIEDLANDER
Fayetteville Observer-Times

Brett Friedlander has worked at the Observer-Times for the past four years. He has also worked at The Annapolis (Md.) Capital and the Beaufort (S.C.) Gazette. Friedlander graduated from the University of South Carolina with a journalism degree in 1980. His brothers, Andy and David, are also sportswriters. JEFF GRAVLEY
WRAL-TV

Jeff Gravley has worked at WRAL-TV for the past 12 years. He began working there immediately after graduating from N.C. State in 1985. He and his wife, Mary, have a 3-year-old daughter, Megan. Gravley's most memorable experience covering UNC came when the Tar Heels beat Michigan in 1993 in New Orleans to win the national championship.

RON GREEN SR.
The Charlotte Observer

Ron Green Sr. has covered Tar Heel basketball for 44 years, the last 12 for The Charlotte Observer. Green began his career at The Charlotte News and has covered nearly every sport imaginable. He even interviewed Dean Smith after Smith's first game as Carolina's head coach during the 1961-62 season. Green enjoys reading and playing golf. He and his wife, Beth, have three children: Ron Jr. (42), David (39) and Edie (36). His favorite Tar Heel memory is beating Georgetown to win the national championship in 1982.

TOM HARRIS
Heel Prints

Tom Harris enters his second year as editor of Heel Prints, a new, independent magazine covering Tar Heel athletics, but he's been around Carolina for quite a bit longer. He graduated from UNC in 1968 and has covered the Tar Heels as sports editor of the Washington (N.C.) Daily News and the Martinsville (Va.) Bulletin. During his 18 and one-half years with The (Raleigh, N.C.) News & Observer, he covered Carolina as the beat writer for eight years. When not writing about the Tar Heels, Harris coaches youth soccer and spends time with his family. He and his wife, Rosemary, have a son, Charles (15) and a daughter, Caroline (22).

JOHN KILGO
Carolina Blue

The editor of Carolina Blue for the past 19 years, John Kilgo has covered UNC basketball for a total of 37 years. He has also worked at The Charlotte News, WAYS Radio, WBTV-TV (Charlotte, N.C.). Kilgo graduated from Carolina in 1957 with a journalism degree. He enjoys playing golf, hiking and reading and is proud that he survived having four children attend Carolina at the same time. Kilgo and his wife, Patsy Hartsell Kilgo, have two sons, John Jr. (38) and Mickey (37), and two daughters, Robin (35) and Kathy (34).

JACSON LOWE
Carolina Blue

Jacson Lowe is entering his second year covering Tar Heel basketball for Carolina Blue. Lowe worked at the Watauga Democrat for a year after graduating from UNC in 1995 with a journalism degree. While in school, Lowe covered sports for The Daily Tar Heel. He has also served as a stringer for The Washington Post and Winston-Salem Journal. Cursed with the silent "c" in his name, Lowe is often erroneously referred to as "Jackson." He holds to his argument that Tucson, Ariz., has the same silent letter and is not pronounced "Tuckson." Lowe is married to the former Jill Hiatt. His favorite part of Tar Heel basketball is the buffet at the ACC's Operation Basketball.

ALEC MORRISON
Daily Tar Heel

Alec Morrison is the sports editor of The Daily Tar Heel, Carolina's campus newspaper. He has been working for the newspaper since August 1994 and has covered a variety of sports. TIM PEELER
The Herald-Sun

Tim Peeler is covering his fourth season of Tar Heel basketball for The Herald-Sun. A 1987 graduate of N.C. State, Peeler has covered football, basketball, baseball and golf at both the professional and college level. In 1996, he covered the Olympic Games and the U.S. Olympic Festival. Peeler is married to the former Elizabeth Davis; they reside in Cary. Peeler's favorite memory is covering the final game at Carmichael Auditorium, which was the first game he covered.

STEVE PHILLIPS
High Point Enterprise

Steve Phillips is in his first year covering Tar Heel basketball for the High Point Enterprise. He spent the last 14 years covering the Tar Heels for the Salisbury Post and also worked at The Nashville Graphic for two years. Phillips has also covered football, baseball and golf during his tenure as a sportswriter. He is a 1980 Carolina graduate with an English degree who enjoys following politics and collecting Baltimore Orioles memorabilia. An avid runner, Phillips lost 27 pounds in four months when he first began running 11 years ago. Unfortunately, he has since gained 15 of those pounds back. Phillips is married to the former Michelle Caffee. His favorite Tar Heel memory is Rick Fox's shot at the buzzer to beat Oklahoma in 1990.

LENOX RAWLINGS
Winston-Salem Journal

Lenox Rawlings has been writing for the Winston-Salem Journal for the past 21 years, a columnist for the past 19. He has also worked at the Greensboro Daily News and the Atlanta Journal & Constitution. A 1972 Carolina graduate with a journalism degree, Rawlings worked for The Daily Tar Heel while in school. His most memorable Tar Heel game was a 20-21 loss to Duke in 1966 in the ACC Tournament at Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh, N.C.

DREW SMITH
WTVD-TV

Having worked at two other television stations and two radio stations in the past, Drew Smith is entering his sixth year covering Carolina basketball at WTVD-TV in the Triangle. Smith has also covered football, baseball, soccer, tennis, golf, hockey, auto racing, horse racing, volleyball and swimming in his career. A 1980 graduate of Illinois State University with a degree in broadcast journalism, Smith enjoys golf, reading, movies and spending time at the beach. Actor Michael J. Fox once videotaped Smith, with Smith's camcorder, during a broadcast on KSD-FM in St. Louis. Smith and his wife, Kimberly, have four children: Stephanie (16), Blake (13), Kristen (10) and Brian (4). Smith's most memorable moment in UNC basketball is the NCAA win over Michigan in 1993.

TOM SUITER
WRAL-TV

With 26 years at WRAL-TV in Raleigh, N.C., under his belt, Tom Suiter has covered just about every sport in North Carolina, including Tar Heel basketball. A 1971 graduate of Erskine College with a history degree, Suiter is an enthusiastic reader of politics and history. He and his wife, Julie, also enjoy exercise. Suiter's list of greatest Tar Heel moments includes the 1977 team which fought back from numerous injuries and Michael Jordan's famous shot in the 1982 national championship game.

RICK SULLIVAN
WLFL-TV

Rick Sullivan is in his third year as the sports director at WLFL-TV, the Triangle area's Fox affiliate in Raleigh, N.C., after spending 10 years covering Carolina athletics at WRAL-TV in Raleigh. Sullivan is a 1979 broadcast journalism graduate of Nebraska who enjoys playing basketball, golf and tennis as well as running and lifting weights. He also coaches youth soccer and baseball. Sullivan has a 15-year-old daughter, Erin, and a 7-year-old son, Ryan.

CAULTON TUDOR
The News & Observer

Caulton Tudor has been on the Tar Heel basketball beat for 27 years for The (Raleigh, N.C.) News & Observer. A columnist for the paper, Tudor has also covered football, golf, tennis and baseball. He graduated from East Carolina University in 1969 with a history degree and enjoys playing golf, gardening and reading. Tudor's wife, Diz, is an ardent Carolina sports fan. Tudor has a daughter, Tori (20), and a stepson, John Houston (26). While playing for Angier (N.C.) High School in 1964, Tudor played in a 13-overtime basketball game against Boone Trail High School for the championship of the Harnett County 1-A Conference. Tudor's Angier squad lost 58-56, but he is proud that neither team made any substitutions in the game. His favorite Tar Heel memory is the 1976-77 team, which overcame adversity to produce a great team effort.
